Rebels Give In To Ky; Riots Bother Saigon

Hue Still Defiant; Anti-Red Action Increase Reported

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — The last rebel headquarters in Da Nang surrendered today, giving Premier Nguyen Cao Ky virtually unchallenged control of South Viet Nam's second largest city after eight days of bloodshed.

Some 400 antigovernment soldiers poured out of Da Nang's Tinh Hoi pagoda and gave up their large store of arms without firing a shot. An overwhelming force of marines and 13 armored cars ringed the Buddhist stronghold.

The capitulation came less than 12 hours before expiration of an ultimatum by the junta to declare the rebel soldiers deserters unless they ended the revolt by 6 p.m. About 400 rebels gave up yesterday.

BOOST FOR KY

Ky's success, despite sharp initial U.S. disapproval of his surprise troop movement north, gave the 35-year-old premier a considerable boost in his campaign to retain power and retain control of the Army's First Corps area.

With the tide turned in his favor in Da Nang, Ky also moved his troops against anti-American rioters who set two U.S. military vehicles on fire outside the main Buddhist Institute in Saigon. The troops threw rows of barbed wire around the institute to contain further disorders.

One influential monk, Thien Minh, announced a mass Buddist "march of peace" in Saigon Wednesday. He disassociated the Buddhist leadership from involvement in the rioting. Minh is a lieutenant of Tri Quang, the principal Buddhist leader in the north and reputed architect of the antigovernment campaign.

CURFEW EXTENDED

As a precaution, the U. S. Command extended the nightly curfew for American troops in Saigon from 8:30 p.m. to 6 a.m. Previously the curfew ran from midnight to 5 a.m. American billets near the Buddhist Institute also were evacuated.

The fast-breaking political developments came against a backdrop of increased U.S. and Vietnamese activity against the Viet Cong.

The U.S. First Cavalry, Airmobile, Division reported killing 47 more Viet Cong yesterday in Operation Crazy Horse, bringing the reported enemy toll in seven days of fighting in the central highlands 250 miles northeast of Saigon to 207 Communists.

With somewhat improved weather, U.S. Air Force and Navy planes flew 49 missions against North Viet Nam yesterday.

The Viet Cong struck back by sinking a U.S. Navy "swift" boat with recoilless rifle fire on the Dinh Ba River 20 miles southeast of Saigon. It was the first loss of one of the 50-foot, aluminum-hulled boats. Moderate casualties were reported among the six crew members.

Vietnamese headquarters said government troops killed 59 Communists out of an estimated force of 200 in an operation 33 miles southeast of Saigon, and killed 35 in another sweep in

Youth, 17, Arrested As Marijuana Seller

Drug Found In Girl's Purse

Corte Madera police today arrested a 17-year-old senior at Redwood High School whom they have suspected all year of selling marijuana to students at the school.

The youth was booked into Marin County Juvenile Hall on charges of sales and possession of marijuana after a 15-year-old Corte Madera girl, whose parents found marijuana in her purse Saturday, identified him as source of the drug.

The youth, a resident of Tiburon, was arrested at the high school by police officer Charles E. Newman. The officer said the youth had probably sold more marijuana cigarettes this morning before police arrested him.

IN ROOM

Newman said they placed the boy in an interrogation room in the Corte Madera public safety building, then watched through a one-way window as he took a matchbox from his coat pocket and stuffed it into his right boot.

Officers then rushed into the room and confiscated the matchbox. They found residue of marijuana in the box and in the boy's coat pocket, Newman said. Police said the matchbox is commonly called a "transportation box" and is used for carrying marijuana cigarettes.

Newman said Corte Madera police have heard rumors at the high school all year that the youth was a source of marijuana, but they had no evidence until parents of the Corte Madera girl brought in a cigarette package containing three marijuana reefers Saturday night.

GIRL BOOKED

The parents told officers they found the package while looking through their daughter's purse. The girl was booked in Juvenile Hall on a charge of possession of marijuana.

Interrogated there yesterday by police, she finally admitted buying the marijuana from the youth at the high school Friday. She said she purchased four of the cigarettes for $5, Newman said.

Officer Newman declined to estimate the number of students at the high school who have been using marijuana. The boy has refused to talk, he said, but the investigation will continue.

Newman said the youth would admit only that he has smoked the narcotic. "We believe he is selling it for someone else," Newman said.

Petition Lacking 316 Valid Names

A referndum effort to block a portion of development of Marincello has apparently failed because of lack of sufficient qualified signature on the petition.

County Clerk George H. Gnoss said a check completed Saturday by his elections department disclosed the petitions to force a referendum on the issue contained only 5,774 qualified signatures. This fell 316 short of the needed 6,090.

The petitions bore 6,647 names. Gnoss said many were improperly signed, and many of the signers were not registered voters in Marin County.

However, Maggi Gnau, spokesman for the Golden Gate Headlands Committee which conducted the petition drive, declared today the committee will ask for an extension of the past May 11 deadline to obtain more signatures.

She said the committee also will demand a name-by-name accounting by the elections department of reason for disqualification.

"We will use every legal and technical means at our disposal to determine why we are told there are insufficient names," she declared. "We had hundreds of dedicated people out getting names, and they have a right to know what happened."

Both the headlands group and Gnoss said today they were checking for proper procedure for the deadline extension request.

The petition protests the board of supervisors' approval April 12 of the first road development plan for Marincello, a 2,100-acre tract rezoned to planned community.

If successful, it would block only that single ordinance.

County Counsel Douglas J. Maloney has said there is a serious legal question whether the passing of the road ordinance under attack is even subject to a referendum. He said under law, legislative actions are subject to a referendum, but administration actions are not. He said he tentatively has concluded the ordinance fell in the latter category.

Look Magazine Newsman Dies In Viet Nam

DA NANG, South Viet Nam (AP) — One newsman was killed covering the war against the Communists in Viet Nam during the weekend. Three others were wounded covering the political strife.

Sam Castan, an award-winning editor of Look magazine, was killed by mortar fire Saturday while covering the U.S. 1st Cavalry, Airmobile, Division's Operation Crazy Horse in the central highlands near An Khe.

BEST REPORTING

Castan, 30, of Brooklyn, N.Y., had covered Viet Nam off and on since 1963. Sigma Delta Chi, the professional journalistic fraternity, awarded him its medal for the best magazine reporting of 1964 for articles on Viet Nam.

Castan, who carried the title senior editor, also had covered fighting in Cyprus and the Dominican Republic. He lived in Hong Kong with his wife, Frances, and an infant daughter.

He was the fifth correspondent to be killed in the Viet Nam war.

THREE WOUNDED

Associated Press correspondent Bob Poos and two other newsmen were wounded yesterday in Da Nang by a grenade thrown by one of the Buddhist-led rebels opposing Premier Nguyen Cao Ky.

Poos, 34, from St. Louis, Mo., said he and other newsmen had gone to the rebel headquarters in a Buddhist pagoda after being summoned to a news conference. "But the conference never materialized, and we sus-

Governor Signs Bill On State Plan Director

SACRAMENTO (AP) — Gov. Brown has signed into law a bill giving the Senate final say over selection of a state planning officer, the governor's office said today.

The bill by Assemblyman James R. Mills, D-San Diego, takes total power for appointment of the planning officer out of the hands of the administration. Previously, the planner was named by the director of finance.

Brown also signed:

A bill allowing state colleges to invest students fees collected for student body centers by Assemblyman Hale Ashcraft, R-Newport Beach.

A bill permitting county sanitation districts to annex lands within water districts by Assemblyman Joe Gonsalves, D-Artesia.

Cranston Asks School Tax Cut

LOS ANGELES (AP) — State Controller Alan Cranston today advocated denying school districts the right to levy property taxes.

Cranston said elimination of the districts' right to tax property, combined with a consolidation of California's 5,700 special districts, could result in cutting property taxes in half.

In a campaign address at Valley State College, Cranston said: "Taking the schools off our property tax bills won't be easy. We will have to replace those revenues by other and more equitable taxes . . ."

He suggested as an alternative a graduated sales tax.

Pope Decries Trouble Tormenting Viet Nam

VATICAN CITY (UPI) — Pope Paul VI, speaking out on Viet Nam for the first time in months, said yesterday "new ruptures must not torment and lacerate still further that devastated country."

The Pontiff spoke while offering his regular Sunday blessing to some 20,000 persons gathered in St. Peter's Square. He had just ended a special audience for workers in St. Peter's Basilica on the 75th anniversary of Pope Leo XIII's encyclical, "Rerum Novarum," on social matters.

LBJ Asks $4 Billion Debt Ceiling Increase

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Treasury asked Congress today to raise the temporary debt ceiling to $332 billion, estimating that this year's budget would go almost $4 billion into the red.

But the staff of the joint committee on internal revenue taxation came up with its own tax revenue estimates that would cut the budget deficit to $2.5 billion and point to a possible budget surplus in the year beginning July 1.

The House Ways and Means Committee heard Secretary of the Treasury Henry H. Fowler and Budget Director Charles L. Schultze behind closed doors.

The committee is expected to report, possibly tomorrow, a bill setting a new debt limit ceiling to replace the $228 billion figure expiring June 30.

Fowler said the treasury is basing its planning on estimates tax collections will total $102.5 billion this year although it is possible collections might be one half billion dollars higher. He estimated spending of $106.4 billion, and a deficit of $3.9 billion.

For next year, Fowler predicted a $1.8 billion deficit. But the joint committee staff projected tax collections to $116.2 billion and said "a budget surplus is suggested in the fiscal year 1967."

It noted, however, that such a surplus would be cut if Congress voted larger expenditures.

The ceiling—which was raised by Congress last year to a temporary $328 billion would drop to the permanent level of $285 billion if Congress fails to act. In the past, Congress has always lifted the ceiling although it sometimes declined to give the administration as much leeway as it requested.

In testimony prepared for a closed-door meeting of the House Ways and Means Committee, Charles L. Schultze, director of the Budget Bureau, said the deficit for the current fiscal year which ends June 30 should total $3.9 billion instead of the $6.4 billion estimated in January.

Wolden Accused Of Running Office As Private Business

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — The prosecutor in Assessor Russell L. Wolden's bribery trial declared today that Wolden treated the assessor's office "as if he were in a private business — running it for his own profit."

Starting closing arguments, Francis Mayer, chief assistant district attorney, said Wolden used his former aide, Max Newstat, as "a general manager, a collection agent."

Newstat was a key prosecution witness in Wolden's trial on charges that he accepted payments for reducing assessments.

Mayer said Wolden collected $200,000 over and above his salary from 1960 through 1965. He said Newstat collected $60,000 "some of which he gave to Mr. Wolden."

He declared personal property taxes were selected as the vehicle for collecting bribes because these records are secret. Real property assessments are public record.

"This was best demonstrated when this investigation first broke," Mayer said. "Mr. Wolden fought tooth and nail to keep those records secret because without them you couldn't prove a case."

McNamara Reveals His Idealism

By FRED S. HOFFMAN

WASHINGTON (AP) — Since he became secretary of defense, many have viewed Robert S. McNamara as a kind of superefficient man-machine with a computer brain and a soul to match. But in two speeches within five days McNamara displayed a side rarely seen in public.

Before the American Society of Newspaper Editors in Montreal Wednesday, he spoke in an idealistic and philosophic vein as he expounded the thesis that military hardware alone cannot assure security.

Yesterday, before his daughter's graduating class in Pittsburgh, the defense secretary appeared as a defender of "freedom of dissent" — standing up for the right of campus protesters to demonstrate against the Viet Nam war even though, McNamara said, it is clear these actions give comfort to the enemy.

That Chatham College commencement speech — salted with historical and literary quotations and references — demonstrated a sympathy with the concern of some youths that man is becoming dominated by technology. He sought to dispell that fear.

"For many students," McNamara said at one point, "the computer has become the primordial symbol of mass impersonalization.

"It is ironical that this should be so," he continued, "considering the immense quantum of human drudgery — both menial and manual — that the computer has eliminated."

In most of his public appearances, such as the recent televised hearings of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, McNamara appears in the role of defender of his military policies and of U.S. prosecution of the war in Viet Nam.

The country has read and heard his repeated claims that the United States has enough atomic weapons power to blast the Soviet Union and Red China together.

ROBERT S. McNAMARA
Not all machine

It knows McNamara as the management expert — the one-time Ford Motor Co. president who tamed the Pentagon and the quarreling armed services as no other secretary of defense before him could.

Testifying before congressional committees, speaking at news conferences and in other public forums McNamara often gives the impression of being harsh, impersonal, sometimes truculent and even autocratic. His critics call him "Supermac." One House committee has likened him to a Caesar.

He is very much aware of what is written about him, and of the way he comes across on television.

Is he trying to soften his public image?

Perhaps. But his associates insist his Montreal and Pittsburgh speeches were built around themes he long has pondered and that he felt these were proper platforms from which to air them.

In Montreal, the defense secretary told the editors he proposed asking every young person in the United States to give two years of service, either in the military, the Peace Corps, or some volunteer program to better mankind.

This was interpreted by some as a trial balloon looking toward a legislation-based program that would result in a form of universal service.

Later, it became known that McNamara merely was attempting to point up a moral obligation to serve, not any legal obligation, and to stimulate public discussion of this.

At the commencement ceremony, the man whose name has become synominous with the computer told the graduates, "It seems a little premature to worry that the computer is on the verge of replacing the human brain."

But as he extolled the brain as "an utterly incredible computer itself," McNamara betrayed his fascination for statistics.

"Though it weighs only about three pounds," the defense secretary said, "it contains some 10 billion nerve cells, each of which has some 25,000 possible interconnections with other nerve cells."

Bakersfield Quells Negro Area Riot

BAKERSFIELD (AP)—Police called in sheriff's deputies and the California Highway Patrol last night to quell what they termed a major disturbance in a Bakersfield Negro district.

Lt. James Deem of the Bakersfield police said a total of 125 policemen, patrolmen and Kern County sheriff's deputies barricaded the business section of the southeastern Bakerfield district.

Small, disorganized groups of youths, he said, threw bottles and rocks and set fires in trash barrels.

The disturbance followed an argument among Negroes about an automobile accident at Lakeview Avenue and Gorrill Street.

A youth, 17, was shot in the leg by a patrolman at whom he was about to throw a bottle, police said. The wound was superficial, police said, and neither the youth nor the patrolman was named.

Lt. Deem said one deputy was injured when hit by a piece of concrete and one taxi driver was hurt when a bottle was thrown through the window of his vehicle.

The largest fire was at Lakeview Inn, a tavern, where a flammable liquid was ignited in a doorway. It was quickly put out.

Kennedy Lashes Ike Nuclear Idea

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Robert F. Kennedy declared today it "would be a terrible mistake" for the United States to heed former President Dwight D. Eisenhower's suggestion for the possible U.S. transfer of nuclear weapons to European allies.

In an interview, the New York Democrat said "it would be a betrayal of our responsibility, which is greater than any other nation's since we created nuclear weapons, to spread them to other countries."

In separate interviews, Sen. Bourke B. Hickenlooper, R-Iowa, former chairman of the Senate-House Atomic Energy Committee, and Sen. Stuart Symington, D-Mo., former secretary of the Air Force, also voiced objections to the Eisenhower suggestion.

Eisenhower, in a letter made public Saturday by Sen. Henry M. Jackson, D-Wash., and Rep. Ednam F. Kelly. D-N.Y., called for a "drastic" revision of the Atomic Energy Act that banned the transfer of nuclear weapons to other nations.

The former commander of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization wrote that he feels "we should seek authority to sell appropriate nuclear weapons to other governments, under special conditions and arrangements — to be approved by the NATO organization — that could operate effectively in the defense of Europe."

But Hickenlooper said he is "against selling or delivery of nuclear weapons to any other nation" and added: "Just as a bald proposition I would be against it."

Symington said he thinks the Soviet Union would respond to any U.S. transfer of nuclear weapons by pulling out of negotiations for a proposed nonproliferation treaty.

Hickenlooper called for amplification of Eisenhower's proposal. Jackson said a Senate Government Operations subcommittee he heads will go deeper into the matter in pursuing its current inquiry into NATO policies.

"This nuclear problem is one that we are deeply concerned about," Jackson said, "because rightly or wrongly much of the (NATO) trouble involves it. My own view is that we should be very slow to make any changes in the basic system under which we are operating."

Kennedy said he doubts that the NATO allies, including West Germany, would want the kind of nuclear proliferation inherent in Eisenhower's suggestion.

Eisenhower did not mention Germany in connection with nuclear weapons. But he said that to make up for the French withdrawal of forces from NATO, "other nations, more specially the Federal Republic of Germany, should be encouraged to develop more military power."

Kennedy noted that any transfer of nuclear weapons to European countries "would tend to complicate our relations with India and Pakistan and with Israel and Egypt."

"This suggestion does not go to the heart of the problem of what we and our allies will be facing in the 1970 — what the next generation of Americans will be facing," he said.

"Our efforts in the long-term vital interests of peace for mankind should be to restrict the spread of nuclear weapons, not encourage it."

SNCC Defers Integration For Politics

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — Negroes should forget about integration and instead work to improve their lot by organizing political parties, said the new national chairman of the Student Nonviolent Coordinating Committee.

"We feel that integration is irrelevant," said SNCC's Stokely Carmichael in an interview his Atlanta office.

"We have got to go after political power."

Carmichael, 24, said Negroes must organize their own parties because they have been denied real participation in both major political parties.

Failure of third-party efforts, he said, would "be like the last straw in terms of doing things peacefully."

Negroes, Carmichael said, will achieve nothing unless they can build a political power base —at the local level, whether in a rural Southern county or in a Northern ghetto.

The trouble with integration efforts, he said, is that the Negro is going around begging for something.

"And all we've got is scars," he said.

"SNCC has to give the Negroes across the country something that they don't have to beg for," he said.

Creed Revision Before Presbyterian Leaders

BOSTON (AP) — Determination to resist an asserted modern breakdown in sexual standards is voiced in a proposed new creed being considered today by the United Presbyterian Church.

The church must "lead men and women into the full meaning of life together" and offer "the compassion of Christ" to "those caught in the moral confusion of our time," says the new declaration of convictions.

Up for action at the 3.3-million-member denomination's governing General Assembly, it is the first creedal revision for the United Presbyterian Church in the U.S.A. in 317 years. The revision seeks to apply Christ's reconciling message to current issues.

Threatening relationships between nations, between races and between rich and poor are cited, in addition to the section about sex.

"Anarchy in sexual relationships is a symptom of man's alienation from God, his neighbor and himself," the document says.

"Man's perennial confusion about the meaning of sex has been aggravated in our day by the availability of new means for birth control and the treatment of infection, by the pressures of urbanization, by the exploitation of sexual symbols in mass communications and by world overpopulation.

"The Church, as the household of God, is called to lead men out of this alienation into the responsible freedom of the new life in Christ."

A leading British churchman told about 2,200 Christians of various denominations at the gathering last night that the ecumenical movement is neglecting "one of the most extraordinary features" of modern religious life—the Pentecostal groups.

Pentecostals, who emphasize the work of the Holy Spirit, sometimes manifested by "speaking in tongues," number about 6 million in this country.

Sterilization Ordered After Dope Conviction

SANTA BARBARA, Calif. (UPI) —A 21-year-old mother of two goes to jail today because she refused to submit to sterilization as a condition of probation on a misdemeanor offense.

Mrs. Nancy Hernandez, a shy brunette of Mexican-American descent who pleaded guilty to a charge of being in a room where marijuana was present, was offered probation if she would agree to sterilization. When she refused, she was ordered to serve a six-month term in county jail.

Municipal Judge Frank P. Kearney, who stiuplated the terms for probation, gave no reason for his decision. His only comment was "nothing novel—legally, medically, or sociologically."

Mrs. Hernandez attorney, Louis Renga saw it differently.

"The order is unreasonable, capricious, illegal and unconstitutional," Renga declared. He said he would file for a writ of habeas corpus immediately if Mrs. Hernandez were jailed.

At first, Mrs. Hernandez agreed verbally to be sterilized but she later balked at signing the authorization papers and the jail sentence was imposed.

Last year in Santa Barbara the unmarried parents of nine children both agreed to be sterilized after they had been brought to court on charges of defrauding the Welfare Department of $2,315.

Mrs. Hernandez was arrested April 14, in the apartment she shared with her common-law husband, Joe Sanchez, 22, who was booked on felony charges of possessing marijuana.

Mrs. Hernandez, whose daughters are three months and two years, said she planned to marry Sanchez as soon as her divorce from her present husband was final.

According to her attorney, the probation department recommended she be given probation.

Airman Stab Suspect Tells Of Drunkenness

A/1c James O. Young, testifying today at his court martial for stabbing to death a fellow airman at Hamilton Air Force Base, described his condition at a drinking party the time of the killing as "to the point of being blowed out of my mind."

Young is charged with the first degree murder of A/1c Robert M. Jennings during an argument at a Christmas Eve party at the base.

To a question from trial officer Lt. Col. Arnold C. Castle, Young admitted the murder knife entered the chest of Jennings while it was still in Young's hand.

Immediately on this admission, Castle ordered the withdrawal of a confession to voluntary manslaughter which Young had entered the first day of the trial and which had been allowed to stay in abeyance.

Young, who took the stand at 11 a.m., described his drunken condition during the party and said he could not remember leaving to get the knife or the gun and confronting Jennings with them.

Recalling his early life, Young said when he was 15, his father died and he had to take over running the family household.

At this point, Young's mother, Mrs. Cecil Smejkal, broke down and sobbed for the first time since the trial began.

Dr. John H. Manwaring, a San Rafael pathologist, estimated that the alcohol content of Young's blood at the time of the killing was .25 of on per cent. Some hours later, when a sample was taken, the blood content was .15, he said.

northernmost Quang Tri Province.

Among the government's opponents captured in Da Nang was the city's mayor, Dr. Nguyen Van Man, who was considered a prime mover in the revolt. Ky threatened to execute Man as a Communist plotter last month but later backed away from the threat.

The commander of Ky's Da Nang task force, Brig. Gen. Du Quoc Dong, said the physician-mayor had been taken when he tried to flee the pagoda. He was flown to Saigon.

Ky still faced major opposition in Hue, the other Buddhist power center 50 miles northwest of Da Nang, and in Saigon itself.

Twenty civilian and military leaders in Hue issued a proclamation charging the junta with using "terrorism, bombing and slaughter" to repress the people of the northern provinces and establish dictatorial rule over them. They also said they would boycott a national congress in Saigon tomorrow called by the government to discuss the country's deep political divisions.

Ky gave no indication whether he would move against Hue, where the Buddhist-controlled radio has been predicting a government invasion since the premier sent 2,500 loyal marines and paratroops to Da Nang eight days ago.

Two hours of anti-American rioting erupted in Saigon outside the main Buddhist Institute after a mysterious shot killed a Vietnamese private as a U.S. military convoy passed by. Egged on by shouts that the Americans had killed the soldier, a mob of youths burned a U.S. military truck and a Jeep.

The riot was the first big display of anti-Americanism since Buddhist monks led their youthful supporters on nightly rampages through Saigon for a week last month in support of Buddhist demands for a civilian government.

Perjury Charge Against Novatan

Neal Andrew Clayton, 29, of 5410 Redwood Highway, Novato, was scheduled to be arraigned in Marin Municipal Court this afternoon on a charge of perjury arising from his drunken driving trial last month.

Clayton was booked at Marin County jail Saturday and released by Municipal Court Judge Alvin H. Goldstein Jr.

The charge, filed by the district attorney's office, alleges that Clayton denied under oath in municipal court that he was the driver of a car which struck a tree at Green Way and Belle Avenue in San Rafael last Dec. 17. Clayton ways convicted of drunken driving by a jury April 22 and sentenced last Thursday.

Marin City Washington Trip Dropped

County Supervisor Peter H. Behr was unable to get an appointment with Robert Weaver, secretary of Housing and Urban Development, and postponed a trip to Washington planned for today.

The supervisor's business trip to New York was also cancelled.

Supervisors two weeks ago authorized Behr to take a side trip from New York to Washington to see if Weaver would authorize a low-interest, federal housing authority loan for a shopping center in Marin City.

The Department of Housing and Urban Development withdrew authorization early this month. Behr said today he would probably be unable to take the trip until after June 7.

Bruce Concludes McKee Complying On Race Clause

County Administrator Alan Bruce has concluded that Robert E. McKee General Contractor, Inc., is in compliance with the minority hire clause in the Hall of Justice contract.

In a letter to the board of supervisors, to be discussed tomorrow, Bruce also concludes that the project is not a major source of employment and does not have sufficient base in various job and skill classifications to provide long-term on-the-job apprenticeships.

His report says that at the end of last week, three of a work force of 24 were Negroes. These are members of the Laborers' Union.

Group Lacks Quorum

There was no meeting yesterday of the Marin City Community Action Committee because of lack of a quorum, Chairman Rogers Jones reported today. Jones said a meeting is expected to be held later this week.

Bicycle Missing

Ernest M. Perry of 179 Golden Hinde Passage, Corte Madera, told police Saturday that someone stole a girl's 20-inch, green and white bicycle from his front porch the night before.

pected that something was wrong," he said.

"We left the pagoda with its military and civilian defenders around it. We crossed the line of Buddhist dissidents who were dug in and manning machine-gun positions. They stared at us grimly as we went by, shouting our call, "Bao chi, bao chi" (press).

"We turned around and saw the rebel rifles and machine guns aimed straight at our backs. We walked on with chill in our spines. Then someone shouted a command and firing burst out. We ran for cover into adjacent courtyards.

"Just then a grenade fired by a rebel launcher burst out against a tree. British free lance photographer Tim Page and myself were hit."

DIFFICULT TO HIDE

Water storage tanks have been coming in for criticism lately, with residents calling them unsightly. Marin Municipal Water District makes every attempt to beautify them, planting pine and fir trees around, but it is practically impossible to completely conceal the tanks. Some tanks are painted an olive green, and others a sandy brown, evidently on the theory that they'll blend in with surrounding hills for at least half the year. This tank is located in Greenbrae.

Struck Rails Get Break From Court

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court ruled today a struck railroad may make "reasonably necessary" changes in work conditions to keep operating, provided the changes are strictly limited and under court supervision.

The 7-1 decision, announced by Justice William O. Douglas, affirmed the ruling by the U.S. Circuit Court in New Orleans last July that the Florida East Coast Railway may, under the eye of a federal court in Jacksonville, make "reasonably necessary" changes to keep operating.

The decision covers one part of the dispute in the longest strike in the history of the American railroad industry. The walkout started Jan. 23, 1963.

Eleven nonoperating unions struck the railroad over two principal issues, a pay increase and the giving of notices for layoffs and elimination of certain job categories.

Most train employees refused to cross picket lines and the road was shut down for 11 days. Florida East Coast then resumed freight operations with supervisory personnel and nonstriking workers. It restored passenger service last August.

Tiburon Traffic Law

The Tiburon City Council will meet tonight at 8 o'clock in Del Mar School to consider adoption of a uniform traffic ordinance. It will also discuss summer employment of an administrative assistant intern for the city staff and extension of thei nterim zoning ordinance.

Slayer Sought After Family 'Torture Trip'

MARION, Ind. (AP) — A murder charge was filed today against a missing Marion man after the dismembered body of Larry Lee Schmidt, 50, was found in the basement of the Schmidt home. In Tennessee, Schmidt's widow said the killer held her and two children captive on a 16-day "trip of torture" through four states.

Police Chief Ted Null filed the murder charge against Glenn Stewart, 30, in the death of Schmidt.

Stewart formerly lived in Arkadelphia, Ark., and is believed to have gone to that area.

Mrs. Louise Schmidt, 25, told Sheriff Joe Cummings at Sparta, Tenn., that the killer stabbed her husband fatally April 30, then dismembered his body and tossed it into the basement.

Mrs. Schmidt said the man held her in the home for two days, then forced her and her two children to travel with him through Illinois and Missouri to Arkansas, where they stayed two weeks in a swampy woods near Arkadelphia.

Police found Schmidt's body in the basement Sunday.

Mrs. Schmidt, a dark-haired woman, talked to newsmen today at her parents' frame home in a farming area of White County. She said the ordeal ended last Thursday when she and her children escaped, one by one, as the captor slept. She refused to say if she was raped.

"I waited (until Sunday) to talk to the sheriff because I was scared," she said. "I should have done something before now, but I couldn't take a chance on hurting those children."

She said she and the children — Nancy, 8, and Jimmy, 6 — caught a bus in Arkadelphia and traveled to her parents' home.

During the stay in Arkansas, Mrs. Schmidt said she and her children survived on potatoes bought by her captor. "We drank swamp water," she said.

He was Mrs. Schmidt's second husband, and the children were from another marriage.

Greyhound Bus Strike Goes Into Ninth Day

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)— The Western Greyhound strike went into its ninth day today with little prospect of an early settlement in sight.

Federal mediators met with Greyhound management and representatives of the Amalgamated Transit Union in Washington, D.C., yesterday, but reported that "no further progress" had been made. Another session was scheduled for today.

The Federal Mediation and Conciliation Service has held separate and joint sessions with the two sides daily since Wednesday.

The strike has idled about 5,000 bus drivers and ticket clerks in 11 western states. The walkout has hit San Francisco Bay Area bus commuters particularly hard, forcing about 16,000 persons to find other means of transportation to work.

Controversy Discussions, Book Complaint Talk Set

The San Rafael Board of Education, meeting tomorrow at Terra Linda High School, will be asked to adopt two significant policy statements.

Board members will convene at 7:30 p.m. in room 52 of the high school, home of a new reading laboratory, but will move soon after to the library and conduct most of their business there.

One of the proposed policy statements, which was submitted jointly two weeks ago by two committees, would encourage free discussion of controversial issues, but set up guidelines for handling them. The other would set up a new system for handling complaints on books or other teaching materials.

The board declined to pass the first one then, because it was the members' first look at it. They sent the second back for a preamble saying it does not bar parents from talking to teachers before filing a formal complaint.

A third policy statement, on complaints about teachers or administrators, will be discussed also, but its adoption will not be called for until some later meeting.

Board members are expected to award a contract to add four classrooms to Santa Venetia School, and to consider urging the San Rafael City Council to pass an ordinance requiring developers to sell land for school sites to the city at cost. Such ordinances are permitted under a new state law.

They also will consider a request from the city that the schools pay an extra $1,636—to be split between the high school and elementary districts—toward the city recreation program.

Two teachers are scheduled to be hired. Resignations of two others will be submitted.

To be hired are Marcia Arevalo, to teach high school girls physical education, and Mrs. Valentine Sweger, to supervise a high school reading laboratory, both at $6,410 yearly.

Mrs. Alberta Baker and Mrs. Caryl North are to be hired as home high school teachers, at $6 per hour.

Resignations are those of Santa Venetia School languages teacher Cecil Shelley and San Rafael High School art teacher Farhad Moezzi. Moezzi has taken a job with College of Marin at a lesser salary than he now makes.

Lung Wash Technique Described To Doctors

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — A technique of washing out lungs of persons suffering from a disease that interferes with breathing was described today at a medical convention.

Successful use of the treatment was reported by Dr. Jose Ramirez-R., of the research staff of the Veterans Administration Hospital, Baltimore, Md.

Dr. Ramirez-R. addressed the National Tuberculosis Association and its medical section, the American Thoracic Society.

Dr. Ramirez-R. told of the successful treatment of five cases of the disease in which protein material, rich in fats as well as protein, clogs the air sacs of the lung.

The lung washing is done by flushing out one lung with a special solution while the patient breathes pure oxygen with the other.

The patients were given a light general anaesthesia. A lung catheter with two tubes—one for each lung—was inserted through the mouth. Both lungs were ventilated with pure oxygen to replace nitrogen in the air sacs.

The tube supplying the lung to be washed then was clamped. The oxygen was absorbed into the lung capillaries, leaving the lung almost empty of gas. The clamp was removed and the patient inhaled and exhaled a fluid which washed the debris out of the air sacs with each breath while the other lung was supplied with oxygen.

Any fluid remaining in the lung was drained out by gravity or removed by bronchial suction.

School Site Dedication Talk Slated

The Novato Planning Commission tonight will discuss a proposed city ordinance amendment to require dedication of school sites within large subdivisions.

The commission meets at 8 p.m. at the community hall.

The ordinance would implement a section of state law known as the "Kirk Law" because it was proposed by former Novato Unified School District Trustee William H. Kirk.

The commission will also consider Marin Master Builders' tentative map of Hidden Horse Canyon subdivision of 79 lots on 24 acres at Carnoustie Drive and Fairway Drive in Marin Country Club, and changes in the Loma Verde master plan to delete an elementary school site, permit townhouse development, and change the street pattern slightly.

Other items on the agenda include division of 43 acres in San Marin into three plots for Sunset International Petroleum Corp., a lot split by William Napier on the east side of Simmons Lane, south of Novato Creek, a use permit for a convalescent hospital planned by William Napier at Hill Road and Indian Valley Road.

Berkeley Has Top Graduate School Rating

WASHINGTON (UPI)—In a move that is sure to infuriate some old grads throughout the nation, the American Council of Education has graded U.S. graduate schools.

The council found that the University of California at Berkeley now has the best graduate school in the nation, edging Harvard (the old No. 1) on the basis of the quality of its engineering school.

The study, made public during the weekend, gave California a "distinguished" rating in five general categories—humanities, social sciences, biological sciences, physical sciences and engineering. Harvard and Stanford were rated distinguished in four categories; Yale, Michigan, Columbia, Princeton, Illinois and California Institute of Technology in three; and Chicago M.I.T. and Wisconsin in two.

Pike Tells Plan To Think, Teach

PRINCETON, N.J. (AP) — Bishop James A. Pike, the controversial bishop of the Episcopal Diocese of California who recently announced he would resign, described his post yesterday as "largely like that of a corporation president."

The bishop, who plans to join the Center for the Study of Democratic Institutions in Santa Barbara, Calif., in September, told a Princeton University audience his resignation meant he could now "do what bishops are supposed to do . . . think and teach the faith."

The bishop, who has been accused of heresy on several occasions, reiterated his views on the nonsupernatural nature of God and said he did not believe that Christ was God incarnate—a belief basic to Christianity.

Turnout Light In Second Draft Deferment Test

WASHINGTON (AP) —Some school officials say the light turnout for the second session of the draft deferment quiz may be a result of draft director Lewis B. Hershey's statement that few collegians actually will be drafted.

About 250,000 students had been expected to take Saturday's exam but exhaled a fluid which washed the debris out of the air sacs with each breath while the other lung was supplied with oxygen.

Any fluid remaining in the lung was drained out by gravity or removed by bronchial suction.

CAB Believes Air Fare Cuts Due

NEW YORK (AP)—The Civil Aeronautics Board indicated today it would insist that the airlines reduce fares early next year if they do not do so voluntarily.

The CAB chairman, Charles S. Murphy, said the fare reduction should apply both in the domestic and in the international areas.

In a talk before the Federation of Financial Analysts, Murphy said he hoped it would be possible to bring about lower air fares on an informal basis, so that a general investigation of fares could be avoided.

"The formal procedures available to the board for bringing about changes in airline fares are rather cumbersome and ineffective," Murphy said.

"This industry is too dynamic and moves too fast for procedures and proceedings—the duration if which is measured in terms of years—to be the best way to keep its fares in a line with changing conditions and requirements."

Murphy said that during the past year the CAB and the airlines have been re-examining their policies regarding fares in the light of increases in traffic and the resulting improved earnings—an 11.5 per cent rate of return on investment for 1965, after eliminating the investment tax credit.

He noted that this re-examination has resulted in some substantial reductions in fares, most of them in the form of promotional fares designed to generate new traffic. He said that in the domestic market, the promotional fares will provide savings to the traveling public of many millions of dollars.

Murphy identified as the major promotional fares cut-rate and round trip excursion fares at a discount from the jet coach fare.

The youth fares, the excursion fares and the surcharges or extra fares on jet aircraft, put into effect last August, all are due to end next Dec. 31.

Little Floor Action On Tap For Congress

By WILLIAM F. ARBOGAST

WASHINGTON (AP) — Little floor action is expected this week in Congress but its committees will continue to grind away at legislation that may keep senators and House members in Washington until early fall.

Leaders now are hoping for adjournment by October, a month before the congressional elections.

Major committee activity this week centers on the Senate and House Foreign Affairs committees. The Senate committee gets a closed briefing today from State and Defense Department officials. Both committees resume consideration Tuesday of the annual foreign aid bill.

Legislation to regulate traffic in cats and dogs used for experimental purposes will come before the Senate Commerce Committee tomorrow.

Two Senate committees, Judiciary and Government Operations, have scheduled hearings on use of the hallucinatory drug LSD.

The House Government Operations Committee will delve into such matters as drug safety, personality testing of government employes and creation of a department of transportation.

The House Judiciary Committee resumes hearings tomorrow on new civil rights legislation, while the Ways and Means Committee starts hearings today on the administration's request for an increase in the national debt limit.

Seaman Strike Brings Emergency In Britain

LONDON (AP)—A state of emergency was proclaimed in Britain today, giving the government sweeping powers to keep essential supplies flowing during the national maritime strike.

The proclamation was signed at Buckingham Palace by Queen Elizabeth II and read shortly afterward in the House of Commons.

Prime Minister Harold Wilson told the House the first move by the government was to assume powers to put ceiling prices on food.

So far there has been no sense of emergency in the nation as a result of the week-old strike of the 65,000-member National Union of Seamen. Food prices are only a few pennies higher. But the port of London now is almost choked with strike-bound shipping, and the government moved before the situation could degenerate into widespread shortage.

The emergency proclamation gives ministers power to commandeer private transport, put the armed forces to work unloading and moving ships, and almost any other measure the government feels necessary to prevent the strike from crippling the economy. The last time the government made such a proclamation was in the 1955 dock strike.

Santa Rosa Election

Carol Sinclair of Belvedere was elected head song leader for Santa Rosa Junior College for the 1966-67 fall semester Friday at the college.

Viet War End Asked By Man From UNCLE

Television star Robert Vaughn, the "Man from UNCLE," whose chief enemies are usually THRUSH agents, came out with all guns blazing Saturday against American involvement in Viet Nam.

It happened during a pause in autograph signing at a garden party at which he was guest of honor at the Kentfield home of William M. Bennett, seeker of the Democratic nomination for state attorney general.

Vaughn said he had been campaigning for Bennett since he met him at a conference in February and learned he was "a candidate advocating cessation of the Viet Nam war."

He said, "I feel strongly that what is happening in Viet Nam right now is just another indication President Johnson and Defense Secretary McNamara have never had the backing of the people over there.

"There will never be free elections in that war-torn country until we can be assured they go the way we want them," he said in an interview with the Independent-Journal. "Everyone has been brought in on the peace moves except the Viet Cong. No one has yet approached the Viet Cong people."

The New York-born actor was wearing a PT 109 tiepin presented him by Sen. Robert Kennedy.

Contrary to rumors earlier this year that he might enter politics and challenge state controller Alan Cranston, Vaughn said he had no aspirations for public office.

"When the 'Man from UNCLE' is finished I would be quite happy to make movies for the rest of my life," he said.

"Although," he laughed as he was surrounded again by a group of young fans, "the Democrats could use a few actor-politicians too."

Clam Eater Gets Resuscitation

Bolinas volunteer firemen were called to the Jess Teixeira Ranch on Bolinas Mesa at 5:45 p.m. yesterday to give resuscitation to a San Leandro man who had been eating clams, became ill and reportedly had no pulse beat.

Dr. Leslie R. Webber of Point Reyes Station was also called, and shortly afterwards, Manuel Faria, 63, rallied.

Marin County Health Department said today that, although mussels are quarantined, clams are not, but the dark meat of clams can cause illness.

Man Found Dead In Car In Belvedere

Ralph K. Forsyth, a 52-year-old retired naval commander who lived alone in an apartment at 530 Canal Street, San Rafael, apparently shot himself to death today in his car parked in Belvedere, Asst. Coroner William C. Bradley reported.

His body was found by Police Officer William Brust of Belvedere in the car parked on Bella Vista Road at 1:50 a.m.

According to Bradley, Forsyth had placed the barrel of a rifle in his mouth and triggered it with his right hand.

Forsyth left no note either in the car or at his apartment. He had been under psychiatric care for two years, said Bradley.

He had sold an insurance brokerage firm in San Francisco about two years ago and spent most of his time working on his boat, tied up near his apartment.

Bradley was today trying to locate relatives, including two sisters reported to live in the Bay Area. Forsyth was divorced.

Nurses Stay Out Of Work In New York

NEW YORK (UPI) —Some 350 public health nurses failed to report to work today as a demonstration of their determination to obtain the same 20 per cent pay boost obtained last week by senior city hospital nurses.

A check od eight city health centers shortly after the 9 a.m. EDT hour for reporting to duty, showed that only one nurse and two supervisors had appeared for work. The situation at other centers was similar.

About 75 per cent of the city's 482 public health nurses had submitted their resignations effective at 12:01 a.m. EDT. Their action threatened a shutdown of New York's 191 public health facilities which provide thousands of New Yorkers with free medical aid daily.

No negotiations have been held since contract talks were broken off Saturday with nurses charging that the city had "double-crossed" them.

Mayor John V. Lindsay indicated yesterday he would stand firm on a city offer of a $350 hike—only one-third of the $1,050 the public health nurses demand to remain equal in pay with hospital head nurses.

Coleman School Building YMCA Office Suggested

A plan to put an office of the YMCA in the old Coleman School building at 1711 Grand Avenue will be before the San Rafael Planning Commission when it meets at 7:30 p.m. tomorrow at city hall.

It will be the fourth plan for the property in two years and the second this year. Previous ones have met with stiff opposition from residents of the area and have been turned down by the city.

Unlike the others, however, this proposal calls for no change in zoning of the property, which was used for several years by the county after it ceased to be a school. A use permit is all that is asked..

Commissioners also will consider a permit for the latest would-be home of the San Rafael Cooperative Nursery School. The school must vacate its present rent-free quarters on the campus of San Rafael High School, and its officers hope to end a year of searching by locating at 2152 Fifth Avenue.

Item one on the agenda will be a continuation of the second hearing on a proposed amendment to the city zoning ordinance which would create a "planned unit development" district.

After that, commissioners will review the tentative maps of the 24-lot Dollar View Estates between Coleman and Graceland drives on the side of San Rafael Hill, and of the seven-lot Loch Lomond Unit Nine. The commission will later consider a permit and plans for two medical buildings in the Loch Lomond Marina, at 221 and 225 Loch Lomond Drive.

SACRAMENTO (CNS) — Unless written protest is filed, the contratcors state license board announced today it will issue a license June 6 to Kenneth S. Coder, 2050 Fourth St., San Rafael, for general contracting.

Grandmother Blamed For Battered Child

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—A 13-year-old girl, underweight, shrunken and suffering from an incredible collection of broken bones, told police today she had been kept prisoner in her grandmother's Bakersfield home "for a very long time."

The child, Marion Delores Green, is in San Francisco General Hospital. She is about the size of an 8-year-old, weighs about 60 pounds and has broken ribs, fingers and possibly a fractured spine, police authorities said.

Marion told police she had been kept in solitary confinement in the attic of her grandmother's house, wasn't allowed to go to school, had only a blanket on which to sleep and was not allowed to use toilet facilities.

She was brought here over the weekend by her mother, Mrs. Martha Green. Mrs. Green took the child to a doctor, who ordered hospitalization and called holice.

Mrs. Green said she had been unable to take care of the child and had sent her to live with her grandmother, Mrs. Martha Robinson. She returned for Marion when a stepdaughter warned her that Marion "was in bad shape and might die," Mrs. Green said. She said her daughter appeared to be in good health eight months ago when she visited the child.

San Francisco police asked the Bakersfield sheriff's office to investigate. Marion told officers that her "grandma" took care of other children, but she didn't t hink they were maltreated.

Officers said it was apparent the girl had been starved and beaten, probably with a fire stoker.

Lester L. Garrett, 44, of Orangevale, Sacramento County, suffered a back injury when he was thrown from his motorcycle on Shoreline Highway, three miles south of Tomales, at 5:45 p.m. Saturday.

CTA Misses Important Reason Why School Bond Issues Fail

School boards, educators, and many citibens are placing great hope for the future of school finance measures in a constitutional amendment to reduce the affirmative vote necessary for passing school bond measures from 66⅔ to 60 per cent.

Figures prepared by the State Department of Education show that in a four-year period, fiscal 1961 through fiscal 1964, more California school bond issues were lost with less than a 60 per cent vote than with a vote between 60 per cent and two-thirds.

The state's figures show that 623 school bond issues were passed during the four years, and 264 were rejected. Of the latter, 125 received over 60 per cent favorable vote but fell shy of the 66⅔ per cent required. But 139 fell below the 60 per cent that would be required under the proposed amendment.

THESE figures tell only part of the story. It is customary for school districts, when a bond issue fails, to try again with either the same proposal or a pared-down one.

Most of the issues that fell between 60 and 66⅔ per cent favorable vote on the first try are passed on the second attempt, so they show up again in the figures of bond issues passed.

Of those that fail to muster a 60 per cent favorable vote the first time out, few are approved on succeeding tries unless they are sharply reduced in size.

A survey by the California Teachers Assn. last month showed that during the current fiscal year, only 55 per cent of bond elections have been successful.

Moreover, votes on increasing the "general purpose operating" tax rate limit in school districts have been faring badly of late — and these require only a simple majority for passage.

The CTA reports that during the first nine months of the current fiscal year, only 44 per cent of school tax elections were successful in Southern California, 64 per cent in Central California, and 62 per cent in Northern California.

The teachers' organization presents a familiar list of reasons for the resistance of the voters to school tax and bond measures:

THE FACT that it is in these that the voter gets a chance to exercise his veto power on public spending; that "absolute necessity" for more school funds is not now so apparent as when the postwar baby boom first hit the schools; that "extremist conservative groups" fight school finance measures; that retired persons on fixed incomes "are feeling the pinch" and:

"People opposing an issue, almost always a small minority, usually get to the polls, while those who favor it never seem to turn out in great numbers."

This last is so much hogwash. People have been turning out in larger numbers for school tax and bond elections in recent years — and turning them down. A decade ago, nearly eight out of 10 of these passed in California — often with voter turnouts below 20 per cent.

The CTA, in its Education News Service, also added a new explanation: "There's increased voter resentment based on a conviction that the state is not meeting its proportionate obligation for school support."

THIS IS a piece of wishful thinking by the school people. The public is mostly unaware of what share the state does bear; and because the formulas for state aid to schools are so ridiculously complicated, it's impossible to explain them so the public can understand.

There may be other reasons why the public is becoming increasingly stingy with money for schools.

Jesse Burkhead, professor of economics at Syracuse University, suggests in his "Public School Finance: Economics and Politics" (a much more readable volume than the title indicates) that school boards and educators have failed to "sell" schools' needs because they have refused to invite and encourage citizen participation in operation of the school system.

"If additional fiscal support is to be forthcoming," he says, "the answer is inescapable — citizen involvement in school affairs cannot be restricted to attendance at the annual parent's night sponsored by the PTA."

Francis Keppel, assistant secretary of health, education and welfare, puts it another way in his provocative new book, "The Necessary Revolution in American Education." Says Keppel:

"The public image of the (education) profession to many has been: Give us more money but do not tell us what to do with it . . . No profession deserves that much trust from the public."

Hotel-Motel Room Tax On Supervisors Agenda

A hotel-motel room tax, Marincello, the minority hiring clause in the Hall of Justice contract and a program for treatment of alcoholics are just a few of the topics facing county supervisors tomorrow.

The meeting will begin at 9 a.m. at the Civic Center.

At 9:15 a.m., supervisors are to discuss County Administrator Alan Bruce's recommendation for study of a proposed health and welfare administration agency.

Soon after that, the board will discuss an application for $5,876 in state money to finance development of a program for the care of alcoholics in Marin.

Later in the morning, the board will discuss the suggestion of a "status certification" to be filed by special districts to make sure tenure and oath of district boards are current and proper.

Still later on the morning agenda, Bruce will report that contractor Robert E. McKee, putting up the Hall of Justice addition to the Civic Center, appears now to be complying with the minority hiring clause in the contract.

At 1:45 p.m., soon after the board convenes, the hotel-motel tax will be discussed, along with Supervisor Ernest N. Kettenhofen's recommendation that proceeds from such a tax support the promotion and development budget.

At 3:45 p.m. discussion of the Marincello referendum petition is scheduled. County Counsel Douglas J. Maloney is expected to make a recommendation at that time.

Handicapped Job Statistics Told

An average of 175 out of every 10,000 residents of Marin County are persons with handicaps who want jobs but are unemployed, according to Ken Oison, executive directer of Goodwill Industries.

Oison said his figures were based on the latest data from the U.S. Department of Labor.

"We can provide the most severely disabled people of this community with what we call sheltered employment," he said, "but because the number of handicapped people is so great we must think in terms of moving as many as possible through the training program and on into normal jobs in commerce and industry.

How the Mercedes-Benz 230S takes the panic out of panic stops

The most powerful part of the 230S is its brakes; big disc brakes in front, turbo-cooled drum brakes at the rear. No swerve, no fade. And dual circuit brake lines add extra security. Read more about the 230S —a car that puts performance before gaudy glitter.

9.9-inch diameter disc brakes provide front-wheel stopping power for the Mercedes-Benz 230S. In a stop, the caliper at right grips the revolving disc—with efficiency unimpaired by heat build-up from repeated use, or by water.

To Mercedes-Benz engineers, cutting brake efficiency to cut costs would be intolerable. They insisted on costlier 9.9-inch disc brakes for the front wheels of the 230S—where 70% of the car's weight is thrown in stopping.

The result: you could make repeated "panic" stops from 80 mph without panic. And you always have more braking power than you need.

An efficient machine

At $4900, the 230S repays your investment with extra performance—not extraneous styling fads. Disc brakes are only one example. There are dozens more in this efficient machine.

For instance, you ride on 4-ply super premium grade tires. An American automotive journalist gives the reason: "Mercedes-Benz engineers have one quaint notion. If the car will run indefinitely at 90 mph, the tires should do the same."

Hand-assembled engine

You'll probably never want or need to travel at 90 mph. But how nice to know your 230S could. From tires to suspension to engine, it is engineered up to maximum performance—not down to a minimum.

Under the hood is a 6-cylinder, single overhead camshaft engine. It is built up, not banged out, in an airy shop where vital parts are individually matched for weight and size and assembled by hand. And tested for one hour before installation. Every part of this engine is so perfectly balanced and over-engineered that it can hum along for hours at 90 mph (and with no speed limit on the German Autobahns, it often does). Yet fuel consumption rivals many "economy" cars.

Hair-raising test

There is no "heavy-duty" suspension option for the 230S. It is already there. One reason this is among the world's most agile sedans. Another reason: before production, the 230S had to pass a brutal handling test at the proving grounds.

The car is driven down a two-lane road at 80 mph. Without warning a huge truck pulls out, blocking the right lane; the driver dodges to the left to avoid it—only to meet an oncoming car, dead ahead in the left lane. Another lunge to the right, still at 80 mph.

Mercedes-Benz engineers think every car should pass this test. The sad fact is that few competing makes can. Few cars have a fully independent suspension like the 230S. Fewer still are engineered up to its demanding performance standards.

No needless changes

The 230S body design made its debut in 1959. No costly, inefficient styling changes have since been made. Even experts have a problem guessing the age of Mercedes-Benz cars; Mercedes-Benz owners escape the dismal betrayal of "planned obsolescence."

This body stays new in more than looks. Squeaks and rattles, so common in older cars, won't plague this rugged "unit" structure. It is welded in 10,000 places. And it's armored against corrosion with two primer coats, 24 pounds of undercoating and a baked-on enamel finish. A final fillip: After chrome-plating, the insides of the hubcaps get a coat of primer and a coat of enamel.

Safety is an obligation

Mercedes-Benz views passenger safety as a sober obligation, not a public relations problem. The 230S body itself is a safety feature—and an ingenious one. The center section, where you ride, is rigid. Front and rear sections are designed to crumple on violent impact, and absorb the shock before it can strike the passenger area. Inside, possible hazards are recessed, padded or made of pliable material. The steering wheel hub is a flat padded plate. The rearview mirror is mounted to detach on impact.

Are Adults Copying Teen Generation?

By JOY MILLER

NEW YORK (AP)—Are adults copycats, following the young generation instead of trying to lead it?

Dr. Emanuel Demby, president of Motivational Programmers, Inc., says:

"From time immemorial, young people have carved out individualistic group patterns, behavior that made them like teen-agers and separated them from us.

"Then the tide began to turn." Adults took over rock 'n' roll music; they adopted the Twist, Frug and Watusi; they sliced hems above the knee; they even talked about a sexual revolution almost as much as the youngsters.

"Every step that youth took to differentiate itself was followed by a copycat action on the part of adult society," Demby told a recent scientific meeting.

The one exception: smoking marijuana and using psychedelics.

"It is almost as though this is the only no-man's land between youth and adult society. Thus, it is not surprising that more and more young people are taking a stand that pot, LSD and all the rest are not only not harmful, but helpful to their growth. Adult society, anxious and fearful, accuses youth of becoming alienated and degraded by dependence on drugs."

In depth interviews with young people, Demby said, "We found them almost thanking God that in at least one area of human activity adults were not copying youth."

Demby, who is senior research consultant to the College of Business Administration of Fairleigh Dickinson University, said one youth told him: "Adults are the enemy."

Another said: "We're taking over sooner or later. We have to. We're the active generation. Yours is the generation of betrayal. You started out idealistic. You wound up commercial."

Youth, said Demby, sees adult society as a piteable, alienated, replaceable segment of the world's population.

Demby was fascinated to discover that one of the basic things with teen-agers is putting their parents on — making them think things that aren't so.

One youngster explained to him: "We tell parents things just to find out what it takes to shock them. The Beatles are a big put-on. We don't really care. But it's the biggest put-on of them all. Nobody cares except the parents. They think it's real. And the kids who are too young think it's real too. Pop art is one great big put-on."

Some of the practical implications of his study, said Demby:

Until adults discover the thrill of being adults, the models used in advertising will continue to become younger and younger. A model who looks like a 21-year-old will be ready for obscurity.

Package design will move more toward sensual materials and sexy forms.

New frames of reference will be needed to measure public opinion attitudes of youth groups, to know how much is part of a put-on.

Fewer young people will want to become physicists or have anything to do with the bomb and development of weapons.

The future for products and services that promise relief from anxiety will be greater than ever.

Susan Page Exchanges Vows With Peter C. Schneider

A double ring ceremony united in marriage Susan Page and Peter Carpenter Schneider on Saturday morning at the community Congregational Church of Belvedere-Tiburon.

HELEN HELP US!

By HELEN BOTTEL

'He's The Only Boy I Ever Dated' —Is It Love Or Is He Just Habit?

DEAR HELEN:

I've been going with this boy, we'll call him Tom, for two years; he's really the only boy I ever dated. We have talked about marriage in about two years, and I'm sure we love each other. He has spoiled me—always waiting at the corner when I go to my girl friend's to be sure I don't see any other boys. In fact, he has taken all my time, and I don't really mind except I think we ought to know other people so we'll be sure of our love.

When I suggest dating others, he says God will punish me if I break off with him, and he will never take me back if I look at another boy. He even gets mad and throws things at me. He doesn't trust me at all, and I thought love was built on trust.

But this is the last straw! I just ache to go to the junior-senior prom, and he says he wouldn't be caught dead at it, and if I went he would never speak to me again.

I don't want to lose Tom—he's wonderful and I love him—but I don't want to feel—MARRIED WHEN I'M NOT

DEAR MWIN:

What you've described is habit on your part, possessive selfishness on Tom's. It most definitely is not the kind of love that builds a good marriage.

Go to the prom, date others, and give Tom a chance to grow up. I'm sure your parents will be as relieved as you about the break-off.—H.

DEAR HELEN:

I recently bought a pair of three-button gloves for a formal dance. I know I should take them off to eat dinner, but should I put them back on for the program and dance? When I do put them on, who will help me button them? If I asked my date, wouldn't he be embarrassed?—MARGARET

DEAR MARGARET:

Formal gloves are only removed for dining. They should be worn while dancing. With a little home practice you can learn to button them yourself. Boys are usually all thumbs at this sort of thing. If you are, too, then take your girl friend with you to the powder room and help each other with the buttons, or get the attendant to help—if there is one.—H.

DEAR HELEN:

Help, emergency! You have to tell me fast, how far is first, second and third base with a boy? I have to know where I stand—D.T.

DEAR D:

Frankly, I don't know what you're talking about but I'd make a wild guess that when a girl gets to first base with a boy (wangles a date) she'd better not let him steal second and third or else she'll have to make a fast "home" run . . . (before he "goes the distance," as they say on the sport pages.)—H.

DEAR HELEN:

Why don't stores put more flattering lights in their fitting and dressing rooms? You can go in to buy a dress and think you aren't bad looking—before you hit those awful glary lights that show up every bad point. They even make your figure look awful, how I don't know. I get so depressed every time I try on clothes I want to hide in a cave. I bet stores would sell more clothes if they had softer lights where people try things on.—CONTRARY MARY

DEAR MARY:

I'll buy that! Store owners—take note.—H.

First New Marin Film Theater In Decade To Open In Northgate

The first new indoor motion picture theater to be built in Marin County in more than a decade will open to the public Thursday in the Northgate Shopping Center.

Northgate Theater, a project of Blumenfeld Theaters, is in unit two of the center, adjacent to the Bank of America. It is the first new "hardtop" theater of the Blumenfelds since the Fairfax Theater was opened in 1948, although the theater chain established the 101 Drive-In about two years ago.

Opening attraction will be "The King and I," starring Deborah Kerr and Yul Brynner, with Rita Morena and Rex Thompson. This will be followed by first-run presentations of "The Oscar" and "Nevada Smith."

Northgate Theater will employ the first stereophonic system in the county, using 16 speakers and a curved, all-purpose screen 70 feet in width. It is one of the few theaters in the country located in a shopping center.

Also a "first" in Marin is Northgate's new 70-millimeter projection system, which has eight sets of lenses to accommodate all types of projections in both 35 and 70-millimeter sizes.

The theater has a seating capacity of 450 and will use the latest model push-back chairs. Decorative cork blocks have been employed in soundproofing the walls.

Richard Figeroid, who has managed the Lark Theater in Larkspur the past four years, has been appointed manager at Northgate.

The last indoor motion picture theater opened in Marin was the Tiburon in the early 1950s.

Northgate will be the ninth Marin theater in the Blumenfeld chain, which also operates the Rafael in San Rafael, the Lark, Sequoia in Mill Valley, Tamalpais in San Anselmo, Marin in Sausalito, the Fairfax, and two drive-ins, the Motor Movies on the edge of San Rafael and the 101 Drive-In on the Smith Ranch, north of San Rafael.

Talmadge Turns Down Bid For Georgia State House

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Herman Talmadge, D-Ga., said today he will continue to serve in the Senate and will not be a candidate this year for governor of Georgia.

Talmadge indicated last week that he might leave the Senate, where he has two more years to serve in his present term, and return to Georgia to run for governor.

Talmadge had taken that course under consideration after former Gov. Ernest Vandiver withdrew from the race because of his health.

The aim in putting Talmadge into the governors' race would have been to field a strong Democrat to hold the office for that party.

"In response to my request for Georgians' views on the forthcoming governor's race, I have received several thousand telephone calls, telegrams and letters," Talmadge told a news conference.

"They almost unanimously pledged support for any course of action that I determine upon."

Talmadge said the majority of those who responded to his request for views thought he could best serve the state's interests in the immediate future by serving as governor of Georgia.

"The majority also felt that I could best serve the state's interest in the long range by continuing to serve in the United States Senate," Talmadge said.

In accordance with what he thought to be the overwhelming majority view of the people of Georgia, Talmadge said, and in the long-range interests of the state, "I shall continue to serve in the United States Senate to the best of my ability."

College Chorus Gives Joyful Performance

By HYMAN I. KRONGARD

The College of Marin Community Chorus demonstrated again last night how much joy its members find — and give — in the performance of fine music.

Dr. S. Drummond Wolff, in a double role of conductor and composer, directed the group in an excellent presentation of works by Purcell, Vivaldi, Handel and Wolff. He was accompanied by Arthur Hills, organist, and a 16-piece orchestra.

The solemnity of the opening number, Purcell's "Funeral Music for Queen Mary," was communicated with sincere conviction and depth of meaning. The chorus at once established a quality of blend, nuance and sensitivity that was to distinguish it for the remainder of the evening.

The "Chamber Mass" was a series of effectively contrasted invocations. The bold heads-held-high Kyrie, the joyous Christe Eleisen (by women's chorus), the Sombre Et In Terra Pax were some of the choral high spots.

The soprano and alto soloists, Sylvia Davis and Margot Blum, were excellent in the duet Laudamus Te, a harbinger of the consistently fine singing which was to come from these soloists later in the Mass and from Miss Davis in the Handel and the Wolff.

There was enough material in Handel's "Ode on Saint Cecilia's Day" for tenor Edward Jameson to offer the usual artistic and expressive vocal qualities which contribute so much to the concerts in which he participates. Miss Davis sang the difficult solo with a sweet, wistful grace, evoking, for each new tribute to the patron saint of music an appropriate mood shared by her audience.

The organ accompaniment was a disturbing factor in many places was not Mr. Hills' doing. He provided precise and sympathetic support throughout. This reviewer found the organ generally to dominant for his taste. It is evident that in the gymnasium a bit of organ—or trumpet or cymbals—goes quite far. This unfortunate acoustical difficulty made pianissimos, particularly for the soloists, ineffective if not impossible.

By now the steady "beat, beat beat" music made something with a bit of rubado desirable. This was answered by the closing Wolff numbers, American premiers, "Song for Voice and Orchestra" and "Festival Te Deum." The 'Song," a lullaby, has a charming tune with an effective, appropriate underplay of orchestral color. It was beautifully sung by Miss Davis.

The "Te Deum" permitted all performers to cut loose in an outburst of exuberant joy in which organ and percussion prevailed. This was offset by moments of inner tenderness which served to heighten the resounding climax at the close.

The concert was another measure of the musical stature of Dr. Wolff and the enormous contribution he has made to the cultural life of Marin. A merited standing ovation concluded the evening.

There were too many empty seats.

Circus To Perform

The Kay Brothers European Style Circus was scheduled to perform at the National Guard Armory in San Rafael today at 4 p.m. and 8 p.m.

CONCERT REVIEW

Poulenc Performance At Church Exciting

By MAYBELLE SPECKMANN

The most exciting performance we have ever heard of 20th Century French composer Francis Poulenc's Concerto in G minor for organ, strings and tympani was the brilliant climax of last night's "Music for a May Evening" at the First Presbyterian Church in San Anselmo.

This was due to Wilbur F. Russell's incandescent virtuosity on the powerful Leonard William Buck Memorial Organ, combined with the strong, polished string sound of an orchestra made up of 16 string and tympani players of the Oakland Symphony under direction of its assistant conductor, Robert Hughes.

Seldom have we heard more eloquent cellos, and adding immeasurably to the dramatic impact was the pulse of the tympani in this finale of the evening.

The same wonderful combination of organ and strings was heard in a far different mood in the opening number, the light, gay Concerto No. 5 in E major by Handel.

Most of the program, however, was devoted to the music of Poulenc sung by the Marin Pro Musica, consisting of six male and seven female voices, and the San Francisco Theological Seminary male choir of 15 voices singing a cappella under Russell's direction.

Of the works performed by Marin Pro Musica, we preferred Poulenc's "Un soir de neige" to Britten's "Five Flower Songs." The five songs were stimulting because of their contrasting moods, but the first two suffered from indistinct diction.

Poulenc's "Litanies a la vierge noire Notre-Dame de Roc-Amadour," sung by Marin Pro Musica women only accompanied by Russell at the organ, was so ethereal that it could have called to mind a small group of nuns singing in a medieval cathedral, except for the modern idiom of the music.

Its counterpart for Marin Pro Musica men and the Seminary Male Choir was Poulenc's "Quatres petites prieres"—four little prayers of St. Francis of Assisi. These were sung well a cappella with Russell didrecting, but the bass-baritone tonal quality was more pleasing than the tenor.

A fair-sized audience gave the performers a well-deserved standing ovation at conclusion of the concert.

Japanese Buys Ad To Tell Plan For Viet 'Paradise'

NEW YORK (UPI) — A man who calls himself a "petty citizen of Japan" today purchased a two-page advertisement in the New York Times outlining his ideas for peace in Viet Nam and paradise on earth.

The man, who identified himself as Morhiro Matsuda of Tokyo, said his wife "considers me to be crazy" for running the advertisement titled "Idea For Peace in Viet Nam."

A Times spokesman said such an ad would cost $11,184. In his message, Matsuda asserted he had paid "a large sum of money—over $11,000."

Throughout nearly eight full columns of regular-sized newspaper type, Matsuda set down his view on global turmoil and how man can put an end to it, particularly in Asia.

A blueprint of "paradise" accompanied the ad. It contained, among other things, dormitories, schools, gymnasiums, an orchard, vegetable gardens, a gas plant, reservoir, pulp mill, farm paddies, factories and a pig sty.

Matsuda said that if the United States were to construct such a "paradise" in Viet Nam, then man could once more live as he was designed, without conflict and worry. Cost of such a layout would be about $11 billion, Matsuda estimated.

If such a setup worked, he said, nearly everyone would soon become "writers, inventors or discoverers."

On Viet Nam, Matsuda suggested that:

—"America is in Viet Nam to protect her vested interests . . . all American rights and interests in Viet Nam should be esteemed and guaranteed."

—"South Viet Nam should be divided into two parts. The northern half should be led by the Viet Cong government and the southern half by the South Viet Nam government." He did not elaborate on the latter's composition.

Matsuda, who said he thought up the idea and contents of the advertisement while fishing, described his paradise as a place where men "suffer from almost no emotion...are severed from unnecessary kinship relations...work well" and pay no taxes. Daily necessities are free.

Tam Trustees Ask U.S. Funds For Language

Trustees of the Tamalpais High School District, in a special meeting Saturday, approved application to the federal government for $40,000 for an improved English teaching program.

A board spokesman said the special meeting was called when the board learned that the application would have to be submitted by Wednesday. The $40,000 is for the first year of a projected three-year program. Details of the program were still being worked out.

In another meeting Saturday which preceded the special board meeting, the high school trustees and trustees of the elementary schools which send students to Tamalpais High School met to hear reports on studies to improve the transition in curriculum from elementary school to high school.

The group heard reports on social studies, science and English. The discussion that followed these reports drew comments from the various trustees that further meetings of the elementary and high school trustees would be valuable, so another such meeting is being planned for the fall.

TELEVISION REVIEW

Some Emmy Awards Good, Some Bad

By RICK DUBROW

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) —The annual mixed bag of Emmy awards—Some worthy, many trivial—offered solace to the television industry last night on CBS-TV, and the result was just about the same as usual:

The prizes given to comparatively lightweight achievements had such a diluting overall effect that, unless one took notes, it was nearly impossible, even just at the end of the show, to remember most of the awards, or who won them, and for what.

The Emmy program isn't even presented live in part of the nation—with some of the country receiving it on a delayed tape basis. Except for some of the respectable receiving it on a delayed tape basis. Except for some of the respectable awards of the night, I think this shows excellent judgment and keeps the general importance of the event in proper perspective.

Anyway, to the awards. There's not much sense in rehashing most of the trivial prizes, but some noteworthy moments are worth recalling:

Writer Millard Lampell, who received commendation for his contribution to the "Hall Mark Hall of Fame" drama, "Eagle in a Cage"—a story of Napoleon in exile—dropped a minor bombshell by announcing on camera, and to the nation: "I was blacklisted for 10 years." I say minor bombshell only because it is common knowledge now that a number of show business persons were blacklisted at one time for political reasons.

"Frank Sinatra: A Man and His Music" was named the top musical program, and there can be no doubt of the wortiness of this one-man show. But it is too bad there was no way to also pronounce the Barbra Streisand special, "Color Me Barbra," a winner.

A special achievement award went to a sponsor, the Xerox Corp.

"A Charlie Brown Christmas," based on the "Peanuts" comic strip, was named the outstanding children's program.

Bill Cosby, the first Negro to costar in a weekly network video series — NBC-TV's "I Spy"—won the prize for best actor in a continuing dramatic show. His costar, Robert Culp, also was nominated —and Cosby, who was host of the Emmy show with Danny Kaye, paid an admirable tribute to Culp. Referring to his newly-won statuette, he said of his costar: "He lost this because he helped me."

The award for the top variety special was given to Bob Hope for his Viet Nam Christmas show.

Television critic Harriet Van Horne gave the Emmy program a moment of rare graciousness, dignity and gentility in her acceptance of an award for her late husband, David Lowe, who roduced the CBS-TV broadcast, "KKK—The Invisible Empire."

"Ages of Man," Sir John Gielgud's two-part, one-man Shakespearian recitation, was named the top single dramatic program. And its coproducer, David Susskind, was most excellent in his dry wonderment that the show could win, yet that its sole performer didn't.

CBS-TV, which aired the Emmy program, was subjected to embrarrassment on at least one occasion. This was when an award was given to rival NBC-TV for its lone coverage of the Senate hearings on Viet Nam This was the issue over which CBS news President Fred Friendly resigned—which his network ran situation comedy reruns instead. Later, in the program, by the way, there was a heartfelt award given in memoriam to Edward R. Murrow, who, as it happens, was a close associate of Friendly.

The award period was from May 1, 1965, to April 10, 1966—which meant CBS-TV's "Death of a Salesman" didn't qualify for this season's prizes, but will for next year's.

Bay Crusade Goal Set At $15.2 Million

United Bay Area Crusade has set $15,286,254 as its goal for the 1966 crusade drive Sept. 26 through Oct. 14.

Meeting in San Francisco Friday, the 400 members of the board approved admission of seven new agencies to share the crusade proceeds. One of these was the Volunteer Bureau of Marin County, with offices at 725 A Street, San Rafael.

The bureau was established two years ago by the Junior League of San Francisco and refers qualified volunteers to some 100 civic, cultural and social welfare organizations. This year's goal represents an increase of 14 per cent over the money raised last year.

Members of the budget committee have, however, announced there still remains a gap of $1,825,000 between the money available and the projected needs of organizations.

Two Marin residents serve on this committee. They are Mrs. Robert Kettenbach of Belvedere and Lawrence A. Mayer of Mill Valley.

Peace Corps Member Marries Nepal Sherpa

KATMANDU, Nepal (AP)—Barbara Wylie, a Peace Corps volunteer from Michigan, is believed to be the first American woman to marry one of the Nepalese Sherpas whose tribe has produced some of the world's most famous mountain climbers and guides.

Word reached Katmandu Sunday that the 35-year-old corps member from Ypsilanti, Mich., was married May 16 to Gyala Lama, 30, in a mountain village in this Himalayan kingdom wedged between India and Communist-ruled Tibet.

Kansas State Alumni Schedule Open House

Today is Monday, May 23, the 413rd day of 1966 with 222 to follow.

The moon is between its new phase and first quarter; the morning stars are Venus and Saturn; the evening star is Jupiter.

Ambrose Burnside, a Union general during the Civil War was born on this day in 1824.

On this day in history:

In 1945, Heinrich Himmler, chief of the Nazi Gestapo committed suicide three days after his capture by British troops.

In 1946, a decree in Bonn, Germany, designated the western government of that country as the Federal Republic of Germany.

In 1960, Israeli agents captured Adolf Eichmann in Argentina.

In 1965, the Organization of American States set up a peace keeping force in the violence ridden Dominican Republic.

A thought for the day — President Theodore Roosevelt said: "No man, not even the soldier who does his duty stands quite on the level with the wife and mother who has done her duty."

WINNING BRIDGE

By ALFRED SHEINWOLD

Trump Partner's Ace—Heinous Crime Sometimes Wins At Bridge

If you want to be taken seriously as a golfer you must avoid taking practice swings in a sand trap.

A ballet dancer is considered gauche if she trips and falls on her tutu. And a bridge player likewise must watch out for one highly publicized crime.

Opening lead — ♣ A

When today's hand was played in the 1941 Australian Pair Championship, the opening lead at virtually all tables was the ace of clubs. West continued with the queen of clubs, and South ruffed.

FOUR ROUNDS

Declarer then drew four rounds of trumps and ran the diamonds to discard three spades, thus winning 12 tricks.

"No, partner we did not miss a slam," most declarers had to point out. "They might have taken their two aces if we had bid six hearts."

And most of the players then went on to the next hand without even suspecting that for a moment they had brushed shoulders with the bridge crime of crimes.

WICKED PLAY

Only at a few of the tables in the Pair Championship did East rise — or fall — to the occasion.

At these tables East wickedly played a trump at the first trick. What crime is worse than to trump your partner's ace!

East then led the queen of spades, and the defenders easily rattled off three spade tricks, defeating the game contract. These declarers did not have to apologize for missing a slam.

NO CRIME

The few experts who found the winning play with the East cards had the gall to say that trumping partner's ace was no crime if it was the only way to defeat the cntract.

They said East could tell from looking at the dummy that the bulk of the defensive tricks had to come from spades, and that the suit might have to be led as quickly as possible and only from the East hand.

We've always known those Australians are upside down.

What do you say?

ANSWER: Pass.

You might find a better spot if you responded with this ghastly hand, but there's an even better chance that you'll wind up doubled at some unsafe contract.

In the long run you keep the losses down by passing in this horrible situation.

Presbyterians Debate Support For Alinsky

Views for and against the Presbyterian church bringing community organizer Saul Alinsky to the Bay area were presented Friday night in a meeting at Christ Presbyterian Church in Terra Linda, attended by about 50 persons.

Rev. John Hadsell of the United Campus Christian Fellowship at the University of California, Berkeley, who favors bringing Alinsky to the Bay area, argued that Alinsky has the experience to aid areas of need in Oakland and San Francisco, and cited Alinsky's success in organizing other slum areas such as Woodlawn, Ill., and Rochester, N.Y. He said Alinsky's career has demonstrated a sincere interest and ability in helping people in depressed areas.

L. M. Summey, deputy district attorney of San Mateo County and a member of the Portola Valley Presbyterian Church, argued against the church's hiring Alinsky, saying Alinsky uses anger and hostility to accomplish his purposes, and that he creates an emotional response in people which can do more harm than good. Summey also questioned whether the church could properly hire an agnostic.

A question and answer period followed the talks, and Marshall Potter, chairman of the Terra Linda church's Church in Society Committee, said the questioners seemed mainly to be "a group of people who wanted information," rather than being largely for or against the idea.

The Presbytery of San Francisco has voted $200,000 to aid in training slum dwellers to lead in their communities and made the original proposal to bring Alinsky to aid in the project. Redwoods Presbytery, which includes churches in Marin, is scheduled to vote on the proposal June 4.

The Bonsai Club of Marin has Robert Edward as president and Mrs. Ruth Drummond as vice president.

Woodacre Architect's Design Wins

Woodacre architect Richard L. Heglund has won an architectural competition for design of Santa Rosa's new $1,390,000 city hall.

Heglund, who will receive eight per cent of the building construction cost, won in competition with 73 design entries from the 18-county area of Northern California specified in contest rules.

A five-man jury of architects and city councilmen named Heglund winner, and the Santa Rosa City Council will award him a contract.

Site of the proposed new city hall is near the center of Santa Rosa, in an area recently cleared of old structures by the city's urban renewal agency, adjacent to the Luther Burbank Gardens.

Heglund's design provided for a gross area of 38,523 square feet and a net area of 32,917 square feet. The jury report cited the architect's "ingenious handling of parking" and "the direct and functional relationship between spaces."

"The majority of people are going to consider it a credit to Santa Rosa," said the report. "The building gives the appearance of substantiality, is very functional in design, and makes excellent use of the site. Aesthetically it will set the tone for the balance of development in the Civic Center area."

Construction bids for the new city hall will be invited early next year. It is estimated the project will take 18 months to complete.

Marinite Wins Award For Book

Mill Valley author Richard Dillon has won the Commonwealth Club's gold medal for the best non-fiction book published by a California author in 1965.

Dillon receives the award—given every year since 1931—for his book, "Meriwether Lewis," a full-treatment biography of the man who was selected by President Thomas Jefferson to head the Lewis and Clark Expedition.

The gold medal for fiction goes to Michal Blankfort of Los Angeles for his novel, "Behold the Fire."

Dillon will receive the medal at a banquet in the St. Francis Hotel June 8.

Head librarian of the Sutro Library, Dillon lives in Mill Valley with his wife and three sons. He has written 10 books, including "Embarcadero," which won the James D. Phelan award in 1960. Recently he received the award of merit of the California Historical Society for outstanding contributions to California history.

Born in Sausalito, Dillon was graduated from Tamalpais High School, and received his A.B. and M.A. degrees from University of California.

Police went to his home after the Suicide Prevention Bureau of San Francisco reported he called it and threatened to shoot himself. Officers said they found him in his living room was a loaded .38 caliber revolver on a nearby table.

Rep. Clausen Viewpoints Criticized

Rep. Donald H. Clausen was criticized in absentia last night in Marin City by candidates Philip Drath and Thomas T. Storer, who said they disapprove of Clausen's stand on a redwoods national park and Medicare and lack of a stand on the Viet Nam war.

Drath and Storer are contending for the Democratic nomination to oppose incumbent Clausen, a Republican, in November.

Robert D. Huber, Marin County campaign manager for Clausen, spoke on behalf of the congressman before 45 persons at St. Andrew United Presbyterian Church.

Huber said Clausen is interested in President Lyndon B. Johnson's redwood park proposal—that is, a small one. Huber said that Clausen supports the basic idea of Medicare but does not like the financing of it.

Storer, Marin County supervisor, criticized Clausen's stand on the redwoods park and Medicare and said he believes Clausen has taken no stand on Viet Nam.

Drath said Storer had already spoken of his criticisms of Clausen and, therefore, he would spend his time speaking about Viet Nam and its history. He concluded by supporting the proposal of George Kennan, internationally known political scientist, that the United States should "pull back to defensible enclaves" and in that kind of stabilizing situation, negotiations could take place.

Drath and Storer both recommended recognition of the Viet Cong in any negotiation.

Several persons in the audience spoke on a need for jobs for persons of minority groups and suggested that their congressman should do something about this. Drath said he has been a union member 15 years and has had difficulties because he tried to support minority persons in getting jobs.

Cheryl Maria Blaney Is Chosen Miss Marin

Cheryl Maria Blaney, 18, of Novato, was chosen Miss Marin 1966 in the Miss Marin-Miss California beauty pageant yesterday at the College of Marin.

Miss Blaney, daughter of William J. Blaney of 42 Washington Street, Novato, is a first-year student at College of Marin, majoring in French. She was graduated from Novato High School last June.

She came to Novato in 1961 from Virginia. Her father is a claims manager for Wilshire Insurance Co. of San Francisco.

She was sponsored in the beauty pageant by Sam's Anchor Cafe, Tiburon.

Melinda M. Megarity, 19, of Kentfield, was first runner-up. Janice Hantzsche, 19, of Tiburon was second runner-up.

Other finalists were Judi Combs, Eileen Jennings, Maria Labagh, Kathleen Makel, Jacqueline Patrick, Carol Joan Schmale, and Helen Olive Wagner.

The contest was sponsored by the Marin Visitors Bureau. Karl Barron was master of ceremonies, and the contest was judged by Jim Kean of the Independent-Journal, Frances Estinger of the House of Kwan Yin, and Price Hall, San Rafael public relations counselor.

Mission Inn Death Trial Opening Arguments Slated

Murder trial of Jack R. Gorman and Marc Charles Osuna was expected to start with opening statements by the prosecution this afternoon following completion of a week's effort to select the jury.

The seven woman-five man jury was named late Friday. A special panel of 65 persons was called this morning for selection of two alternate jurors.

Quizzing of the latter began before Judge Thomas F. Keating at 10:30 a.m.

The regular jury contains six women who gave their occupations as housewives, the seventh who termed herself as retired, a chemist, a machinist, a business agent, an engineer, and an insurance administrator.

Jury selection, which began last Monday, went through four 60-person panels, with about 120 people actually questioned. The prosecution used 20 or its 30 allowed peremptory challenges to dismiss potential jurors; the defense used 20 joint challenges and one individual challenge each.

Gorman and Osuna, both serving time in San Quentin Prison as parole violators, are accused of the Labor Day killing at Mission Inn in San Rafael of Bartender Mario Ferrari.

$342 In Cash Stolen From Pet Hospital

A cash box was stolen from the Tamalpais Pet Hospital in Mill Valley Friday night, burglars removing $342 in cash and throwing the box containing $1,539 in checks plus assorted drugs into the incinerator behind the hospital.

Contents of the box were burned beyond recognition, police were told by Dr. H. P. Boyd, veterinarian.

It was one of two burglaries that night. Sylvester Judd Gee of 63 Shelley Drive said Saturday morning that someone forced open a window and stole $40 in cash from a jewelry box on top of his bureau.

Dr. Boyd told police that the back door of his hospital at 691 East Blithedale Avenue apparently was pried open, as was the cash box in his office. Employees, arriving at 7:30 a.m. Saturday, found the open door and the box in the incinerator.

Automobile Stolen

A 1962 Austin-Healy automobile belonging to Ronald L. Patnaude, 109 Greenfield Avenue, San Rafael, was stolen Saturday night from a parking lot next to 85 Red Hill Avenue and was found last night in San Geronimo Valley, San Anselmo police reported.

Cash Taken

Some $60 in cash was taken during the weekend from the office of landscape architects Cagwin and Dorward at 1637 Francisco Boulevard, San Rafael. A window was forced and the premises ransacked.

Boy, Girl Babies Take Beauty Prize

A two-year-old Corte Madera boy and a seven-month-old Larkspur girl were judged Marin County's most beautiful children in yesterday's finals of the Sertoma Club's beauty contest at Dominic's Restaurant in San Rafael.

Chosen "Master Beauty" was Chad Toscanini, son of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Toscanini of 3 Echo Street; "Miss Beauty" was Karen Pearson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Pearson of 16 Walnut Avenue.

Some 750 adults and children attended the club's fund-raising event, at which 135 children won more than $1,000 in trophies donated by Marin merchants.

Other children won titles on the basis of combined points for health, beauty and popularity determined by the number of tickets sold by parents and friends. They were:

Baby king and queen of the county, Eddie Schaeffer, 6 weeks, of San Rafael, and Lisa Brown, 4, of Ross; prince and princess, Bruce Guerra and Sheri Thompson of San Rafael; duke and duchess, David McClelland, 14 months, of San Anselmo, and Kathy Henderson, 3, of San Rafael; count and countess, Christopher Bryan, 2, and Lauren Beigel, 5, of Mill Valley.

Marin Guide Burglarized; Two Arrested

Two youths were arrested by sheriff's officers yesterday evening after allegedly burgling Marin Guide offices at 200 Shoreline Highway, Tamalpais Valley.

Harry Johnson, Marin Guide published, told deputies he arrived at the building about 6 p.m. and found the pair, Greg Walter O'Brien, 18, of 255 Flamingo Road, Tamalpais Valley, and a 17-year-old companion, also of Tamalpais Valley, inside the building.

He said they fled out a rear door. He gave chase but lost them. Arriving officers discovered the two boys standing by a car nearby. Deputies said entry was by removing a board from over a broken window. Nothing was found to be missing.

O'Brien was booked in county jail for investigation of burglary, then released on his own recognizance. His companion was taken to the county juvenile hall.

Cordill Grants Nursery Permit

Marin County Zoning Administrator Thomas E. Cordill today granted a use permit to Mill Valley Cooperative Nursery at the northeast corner of Tower Drive and East Blithedale Avenue, east of Mill Valley.

The nursery, to be run in conjunction with a College of Marin adult education course, will be each weekday, from 9 to 11:30 a.m. Mrs. Barry Decker, speaking for the school, said afternoon classes might be held later.

Cordill also approved a five-week resident recreation program planned by Marin Aid to Retarded Children at Rancho Olompali, north of Novato.

Meeting Cancelled

Due to many other meetings scheduled at this time and lack of any urgent business, there will be no Mill Valley Parks and Recreation Commission meeting at 8 p.m., today, Julie Butler, secretary to the commission, reported.

Wife Linked To Escape Try

One of the two San Quentin Prison inmates whose attempt at escape by hiding in a garbage truck was foiled by guards Friday, may have had his wife on the outside ready to help, Associate Warden James W. L. Park said today.

Joan Haston, 21, of Albany has been arrested in Richmond after reportedly being seen in the area of the prison garbage dump at the time of the escape attempt.

She is the wife of Odell Clarence Haston who, with Donald Wayne McDowell, concealed themselves in the refuse in the truck but were caught before the vehicle reached the gate.

Both men were serving a series of sentences for crimes ranging from armed robbery and assault with a deadly weapon to prison escape.

If You Are Buying or Selling DEAL WITH A REALTOR

Your Marin County Real Estate Board is one of the most civic minded, progressive boards in the state. We have led the other boards in many ways.

The requirements for joining our Marin County Real Estate Board are one of the highest of any board in the bay area. The applicant must prove his qualifications. Better than 95% of all active Real Estate offices in Marin County are members of the Marin County Real Estate Board. There is great pride in being a member because of these high standards. This results in incentive for greater service and loyal adherence to the Code of Ethics subscribed to by all REALTORS.

Our Multiple Listing Service is used by 100% of our members. We have the latest modern equipment for servicing and processing all listings.

What Is a Realtor?

Not every "real estate broker" is a REALTOR. The term "REALTOR" came into being because of the compelling need to identify to the public those real estate men who are pledged to abide by a NATIONAL CODE OF ETHICS — the first code of ethics to be adopted in America by any national business group.

In Marin REALTORS are active members of the Marin County REAL ESTATE BOARD. They are pledged to conduct their business according to the Code of Ethics of the National Association of Real Estate Boards. This Code of Ethics assures you protection in all your real estate transactions. It pays to deal with a Marin REALTOR.

All Marin County Realtors FEATURE Multiple Listing Service

The modern method of buying and selling real estate that COSTS NO MORE and GETS FASTER RESULTS!

Thousands of homes have been sold by Marin REALTORS through the efficiency of the Marin County Multiple Listing Service. This modern, cooperative system has conclusively proved to property owners its value as a sales asset.

Unlike "the old days" you do not have to shop around from office to office to list your house. Today you sign one contract, with one Marin REALTOR, and your listing — with photograph and giving complete details— is broadcast from the Real Estate Board office to its entire membership. Automatically the property you wish to sell is called to the attention of a sales force of realty experts. Any Marin REALTOR will MULTIPLE LIST your home. Whether he or a fellow REALTOR sells it only one commission is paid.

Remember . . . IT PAYS TO DEAL WITH A REALTOR

VDC Birthday; Savio Returns

BERKELEY (UPI)—The Viet Nam Day Committee celebrated its first birthday and former Free Speech Movement leader Mario Savio returned to the University of California campus during the weekend.

The committee had advertised the anniversary as "a huge protest meeting" but about 500 persons showed up to hear 16 scheduled speakers. One year ago, thousands rallied to the anti-war group's "teach-in."

Savio, 23, has applied for readmission to the university. He and his wife, Suzanne Goldberg, another former FSM leader, spent the past year in England.

Friends of Savio said he intends to stay out of student political activity.

Death Charged To Guantanamo

HAVANA (AP)—The U.S. Defense Department is investigating a Cuban charge that gunfire from the U.S. naval base at Guantanamo Bay killed a Cuban sentry. The Castro government claimed that American guards shouted "Hey, Cubans! Hey, Cubans! We knocked off another one."

A note from the Armed Forces Ministry read over Cuban radio stations said the sentry, identified as Luis Ramirez Lopez, was killed Saturday night by fire from a truck passing his post at the perimeter of the U.S. base.

The note said there was sporadic firing from the base into Cuban territory for about two hours, but no other casualties were mentioned.

Monkey To Orbit In Long Test

PASADENA (AP) — A Monkey will be orbited for 30 days next year with probes in his brain, blood vessels and bladder to test the dangers of long space flights for future astronauts.

The U.S. space agency's jet propulsion laboratory says scientists have spent $1.5 million developing a miniature chemical analyzer to measure the effects of weightlessness on bone and muscle.

The equipment will be carried aloft with a 15-pound monkey in a 1,200-pound biostatllite in mid-1967. The launch from Cape Kennedy, Fla., will follow shorter orbital flights carrying insects, rats and plants.

Traffic Patrol Fete

The 31 boys and girls of the John MacPhail School traffic Patrol will be honored Thursday by the Parent-Teachers' Assn. at a swim-and picnic party at the Santa Venetia Swim Club.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By DR. THEODORE R. VAN DELLEN

Ancient Greek Doctors Named Diabetes As 'Siphon Disease'

VAN DELLEN

More than 2,000 years ago a Greek physician describing diabetes wrote "the flesh wants away and is siphoned off" through the kidneys. The Greek word for siphon was diabetes. In addition the victims had an unquenchable thirst and the body wasted away despite a ravenous appetite. This chronic, incurable disease killed diabetics for centuries.

THE DISCOVERY of insulin changed the picture overnight. Since then many other discoveries including synthetic insulin and anti-diabetic pills were made and today the American Diabetic Assn. is concentrating on the 1.6 million who have diabetes but are unaware of their condition. They hope to reduce the death rate which now ranks seventh among chronic diseases.

Those with a family history of diabetes should be examined periodically. The chance increases among relatives of diabetics who are obese and past 40 years of age. A survey demonstrated that six out of seven middle-aged victims were overweight just before the malady was discovered. We might also add that exercise is all important in preventing the disease.

THE ILLNESS leads to increased thirst, constant hunger, loss of weight, frequent urination, intense itching, and visual disorders. Anyone with one or more of these symptoms is well on the way because diabetes may be present for some time before these signs appear.

The alternate plan is to ferret out hidden diabetics via a mass screening program. Blood tests are done on so many inhabitants in a town or city as wish to cooperate. In some areas, the yield of new cases averages 8.6 per 1,000 people tested.

The case-finding program recently conducted in East Orange, N.J., was slightly different. Cooperating groups included members of the diabetic association, medical society, health department, and the Upjohn Co. They concentrated on high-risk population groups and found 34 new cases of diabetes for every 1,000 tested.

(Dr. Van Dellen will answer questions on medical topics if stamped, self-addressed envelope accompanies request.)

NERVOUS BREAKDOWN

J.B.K. writes: Do people who suffer a nervous breakdown have any pain?

REPLY

Nervous breakdown is a lay term for a variety of nervous disturbances. Some have pain and others do not; mental distress may be more uncomfortable than physical pain. Furthermore, so-called nervous breakdown may follow a painful disorder.

SPARE THE HEART

Mrs. A. writes: Does valvular heart disease worsen as a person grows older?

REPLY

Yes, but the chances are lessened if the afflicted person takes care of himself and spares the heart as much as possible. Today many of these lesions can be corrected with surgery.

PUFFY ANKLES

F. D. N. writes: What is a physician looking for when he squeezes the ankle?

REPLY

Tenderness and puffiness of the tissues.

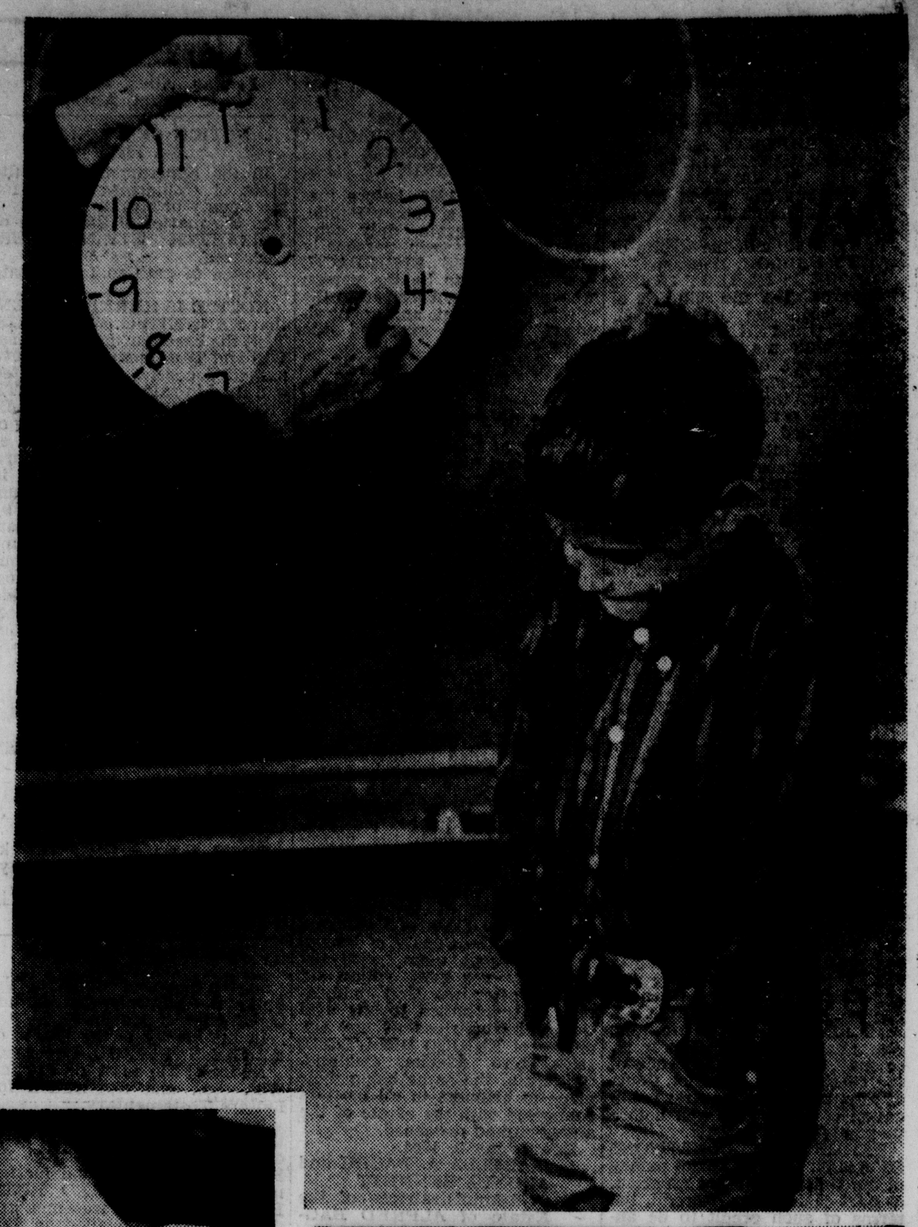
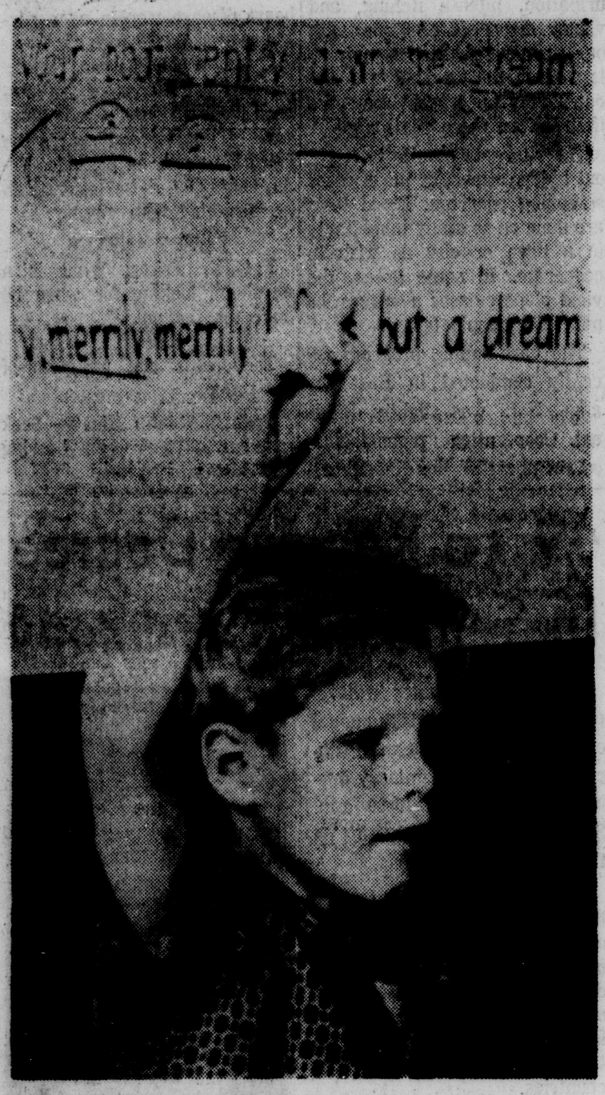
I KNOW—Pupils in a second grade class at Corte Madera-Larkspur School strain for the attention of teacher Mrs. Betty Jordan who wants them to give examples, in vivid words, of how to describe something flat. Pupils are (from left) Mitchell Amundsen, Larry Mattos (back to camera), Richard Clark, Brian Durnell and Michael Glander. Behind Michael is Maureen McCarty, answering the teacher's question.

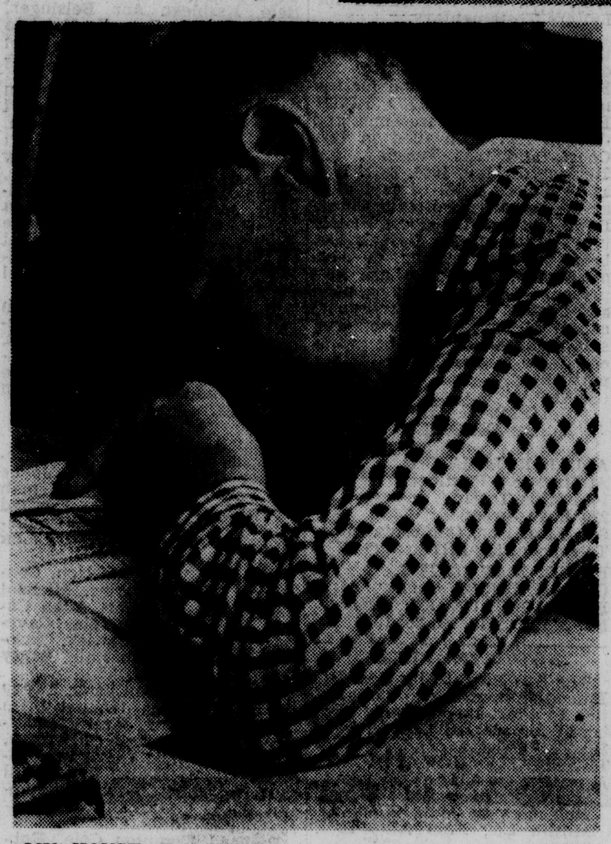
I DID IT—Maureen McCarty (hidden in photo at left) shows the strain of having given an answer to the teacher's question. Cory Otteson (right) curls up in proud embarrassment at having posed a "time" problem for the class. The clock is used to painlessly teach the meaning of "half" and "quarter" while youngsters add and subtract hours.





THE CONDUCTOR—Michael Glander leads the class during music period, in which youngsters learn how notes indicate rhythm, time. They learn to read music, enjoy it.

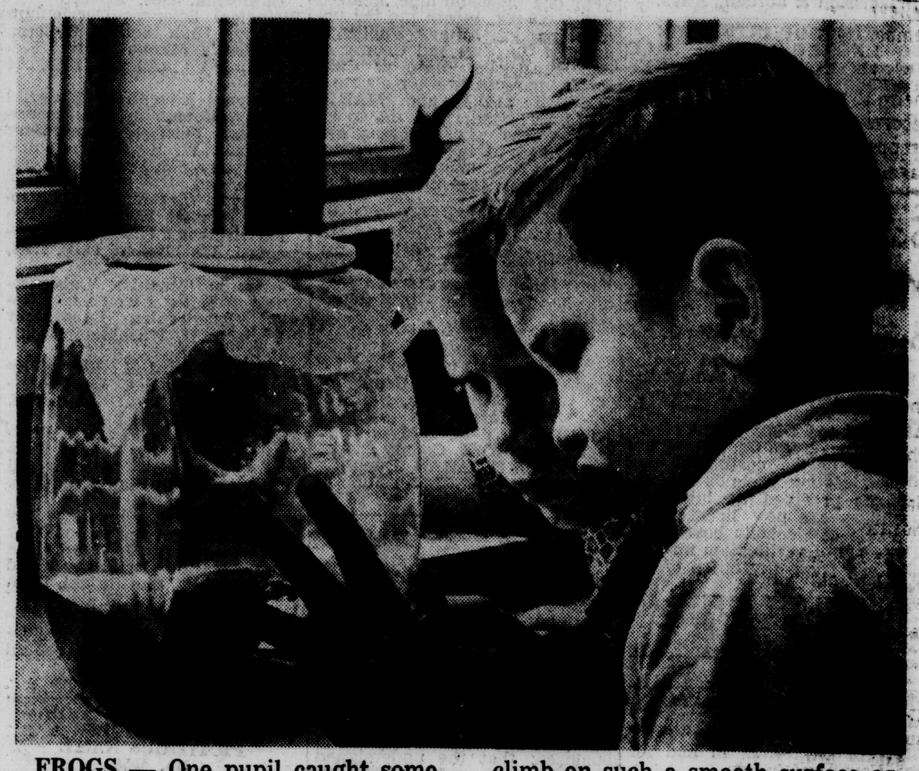
CONFERENCE—While some pupils have a reading period in one corner of the classroom, Stacy Pesce (left) and Lori McDermott quietly help each other learn while doing the exercises on telling time.



MY HOUSE—Emiel Anderson finished his regular school work, so he works on another classroom project, a drawing of his house. It was part of a class study of building materials.

LUNCH—Brenda Belden thinks deep thoughts as the aroma of peanut butter and jelly sandwiches fills the classroom. Youngsters eat inside if the weather is poor.

'MAGIC SQUARE'—Danny Lytle finished an assigned task before others and used the time to make a "magic square" in which the numbers should add up to the same total from any direction.



FROGS — One pupil caught some frogs, brought them to the class, which discussed how a frog can climb on such a smooth surface as glass. Michael Glander (left) and Stephen White peer at them.

WIDE CURRICULUM—Youngsters' curiosity brings them clustering around school maintenance man Donald Rose as he makes cement during a physical education period. Richard Clark, first grader Kenny Young, and Cory Ottesen check the process.

PHYSICAL EDUCATION—The wiggling hours in the classroom are broken by violent recesses and physical education periods outside where youngsters can let off steam. Teachers get recess coffee breaks, then return to classes for more instruction in everything from new math to manners.

Marin-Built Cars Miss Indy Lineup

For the first time in three years, Kjell Qvale, owner of British Motor Cars, and designer-builder Joe Huffaker of Novato, will be watching the Indianapolis 500 from the grandstands.

Neither of the two BMC cars made it to the 33-car field for the Memorial Day classic. One, powered by a Chevrolet engine, was driven by Bob Veith of Fort Bragg, and the other, an Offenhauser Genie, was driven by Bob Christie of Speedway, Ind. But neither could make the low qualifying speed of 158.367 miles per hour. The cars were built in San Rafael at BMC's competition division.

There is some solace for Huffaker, who will have three of his "originals" in the field. None are under his command, however, since they have been sold. But they carry the name "Huffaker-Offenhauser," and Marin County and Bay Area racing fans will be watching the results of that trio.

Closest to the starting line out of the three is one driven by rookie Gary Congden of Garden Grove, who earned the pole position sixth row with a qualifying speed of 158.688. The other two will be starting right next to each other in the 10th row, Bobby Unser of Albuquerque, N.M. in the pole position and Eddie Johnson of Richmond Heights, Ohio, in the middle.

In 1964, Qvale and Huffaker had two cars in the field and last year qualified three.

The final lineup was completed yesterday after two weekends of 10-mile qualifying runs. The field includes 26 veterans and 7 rookies with an average speed of 160.251 miles per hour.

Turn to page 31 for the starting lineup.

MARIN BROAD JUMPER WINS NORCAL TITLE

Ellis Williams, College of Marin's record breaking broad jumper, won the Northern California Junior College track and field event Saturday with a leap of 24 feet even. The meet was held at Foothill College in Los Altos.

Williams leaped 24 feet, 4½ inches the previous Saturday at the Norcal trials at Modesto, good for a meet record and snapping one of the oldest records at College of Marin.

His 24-4½ broke the 23-3 mark established by Arnold Nutting in 1934. Nutting, now a San Rafael doctor, also holds two other Marin records set in 1934. The 100-yard dash (9.9) and 220 (21.8).

Williams will be competing in the State Junior College championships next Saturday at Modesto, and according to Marin coach Pete Limm, has a good chance to win first place.

Two, Maybe Three Marin Champions

There will be at least two and possibly three champion teams when the 1966 Marin Athletic League varsity baseball season comes to an action-packed close tomorrow.

Marin Catholic can rest easily after already clinching a tie for the title, but the heat is on for Novato, San Rafael and Tamalpais, all with chances for part of the championship crown.

Novato hosts San Rafael tomorrow, with the winner getting part of the title and Tamalpais, needing a win to get its share, hosts Drake. Redwood and Terra Linda, each with a 5-6 record, will have a battle of their own on the Redwood diamond, the winner ending with a winning MAL season. All three games start at 4 p.m.

Marin Catholic clinched its tie by beating Novato 3-1 last Friday, winding up regular season play with an 8-4 mark. The loss dropped the Hornets to 7-4. Tam nipping San Rafael 2-1 last Friday, gave bath teams 7-4 marks, while hapless Drake lost its 11th leageu game without a triumph when Terra Linda edged the Pirates 5-4.

A flip of a coin will probably

Real N.L. Race Won't Begin Until After All-Star Break

HANLEY

Less than one-quarter of the 1966 National League baseball race already has been run. In the early going it was difficult to differentiate between second and first division clubs, excluding the Cubs. The race still hasn't begun to shape up and won't until the All-Star break.

Cincinnati's Reds, the pre-season pennant pick of many, got pocketed in the barrier break but now are making their move after dropping 14 of their first 20. That eight under .500 was a tough handicap to overcome in the time the Reds erased it. They moved to the plus side of .500 during the weekend.

HOUSTON'S ASTROS are the surprise team this year, a jump-up outfit that has every Astrodome customer excited. Joe Morgan, the Astros' big hitting little second baseman, is for real. He gave Jim Lefebvre of the Dodgers a tough run for Rookie of the Year honors last season. But there are many skeptical baseball veterans who believe the Astros are just in temporary orbit.

WHEN THE Giants were in their 12-game win streak and recognized strong contenders dropped 7 to 10 games off the pace, the inevitable talk of a runaway began earlier than usual. It was silly talk. The Mets stopped it by stopping the Giant streak a couple of weekends ago in New York.

At the height of the Giant streak, the Reds were 10 lengths to the rear of the front-running Giants. In one week while the Giants were losing five out of six, the Reds halved their deficit to five games. That's just one bit of evidence that makes talk of a runaway by any club ridiculous.

DURING THE 12-game Giant streak the team batting average was only .250 but with runners in scoring position the team hit .294. That kind of clutch hitting, coupled with strong pitching, fashioned the streak. It wasn't accomplished by customary heroics of Willie Mays.

In fact, Mays went into a slump during the streak and was .221 (17-for-77) over a 14-game stretch from May 5-21. That's a negative statistic with definitely positive aspects. The Giants can win ball games without Mays' bat but, of course, they can't win any pennant without it.

WHEN WILLIE breaks out of his momentary slump — and there isn't a doubt he will—winning games should be easier for the Giants. At least, it will be easier for Jim Ray Hart, Willie McCovey, Jim Davenport and Tom Haller whose bats delivered a lot of key hits recently.

SERENA EN ROUTE TO VICTORY

Ken DeMeuse's 83-foot schooner Serena is pictured en route to victory yesterday in the 99-year-old Master Mariners Regatta on San Francisco Bay. The Southern California beauty, sailing yesterday under the burgee of San Francisco Yacht Club of Belvedere, easily whipped a field of 35 rivals over the zig-zag course. In Class A, Astor placed second and Charmian third. In Class B Rain Bird placed first, Genii second and Charity third.

Marichal Ahead Of Dean's Pace

By JACK STEVENSON

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Juan Marichal bids to become the first major league pitcher since Dizzy Dean to win 30 games in a season and right now the San Francisco right-handed ace hurls at a pace two weeks ahead of that set by the St. Louis great in 1934.

The 27-year-old from the Dominican Republic tossed a three-hitter at the New York Mets yesterday for a 5-0 victory, his eighth triumph without defeat and third shutout of 1966.

Thirty-two years ago, Dean didn't win his eighth game until June 10 en route to a 30-7 season and a place in the Hall of Fame.

In 78 innings work, Marichal posts a 0.69 earned-run-average, disproving the theory of some that the fight with John Roseboro of the Los Angeles Dodgers last year might permanently damage his pitching career.

After the battle in which he hit Roseboro with a bat, Marichal was only 3-4 finishing the 1965 season. Still he won a total of 22 games and became the only major league hurler notching 20 or more victories the past three campaigns.

"He isn't using the fast ball as much, but I think he is pitching better than ever," commented the Giants hurling coach, Larry Jansen. "His control seems better because he stays ahead of the hitters more. He never was wild, but he certainly is using many different pitches this year."

It took only 93 pitches for Juan to beat the Mets, who came back for a split by winning 7-2 behind Jack Hamilton in the nightcap at Candlestick Park before 40,496.

FAST START

"I've never had a start like this," Marichal admitted. "I didn't use the fast ball much against the Mets and was throwing screwballs, curves and change-ups to get them out."

It marked the 15th consecutive victory over the New Yorkers who have never beaten Marichal.

"You're talking about the best," answered Mets Manager Wes Westrum when asked about his club's chief tormentor.

Juan joined the list of minor San Francisco casualties when he twisted an ankle retiring Ron Hunt at first base in the ninth inning, but he's expected to take his usual turn on the mound in search of victory No. 9.

If he keeps setting down the Mets, he may someday crack the all-time Major League record of Christy Mathewson who beat St. Louis 24 straight times from June 1904 to September of 1908.

Westrum was pleased with Hamilton and the Mets, declaring, "I think they did well bouncing back; they never gave up."

The Giants enjoyed an open date today to rest a series of injuries which trainer Leo Hughes termed, "pesky and miserable, but not serious."

Willie Mays wasn't feeling well, so manager Herman Franks did not use him in the doubleheader. Willie McCovey

NATIONAL LEAGUE ROUNDUP

Lip Chased . . . Cubs, Braves Split; Dodgers, Reds Lose

By MURRAY CHASS
Associated Press Sports Writer

Leo Durocher said what Harry Wendelstedt did to him was illegal. He could have said the same about Hank Aaron.

Wendelstedt, a rookie umpire in the National League, ejected Durocher from the opener of the Chicago-Atlanta doubleheader yesterday, marking the first time the Cubs' manager has been tossed out of a game this season.

Aaron was even rougher on Durocher, rapping four hits and driving in two runs as the Braves won the game 5-2. The Atlanta veteran came back with two more hits in the nightcap, but the Cubs pulled it out 4-3.

Durocher, managing again after a nine-year absence from the top job, was thrown out at the start of the fourth inning.

"He had no right to throw me out," the fiery Cub complained afterward. "I didn't say anything to him. That's illegal."

Durocher explained that some of the Cubs were riding Wendelstedt, and the plate umpire came over to the dugout and threatened to eject Durocher if they didn't stop.

"I wasn't the one saying anything," Durocher said. "Why did he pick on me?"

Aaron picked on Durocher, too. He went into the doubleheader with three straight hits and extended his streak to eight, two away from the National League record, before Ernie Broglio struck him out in the fourth inning of the nightcap.

HIKES AVERAGE

Aaron, batting .250 when the day started, raised his average to .279 by collecting six hits in seven at-bats. He lashed three singles and a double in the opener and two singles in the second game.

Durocher probably would prefer Wendelstedt's treatment any time.

Elsewhere in the National League San Francisco blanked New York 5-0 before bowing 7-2, Pittsburgh stopped Los Angeles 4-0, Philadelphia whipped Houston 6-1 and St. Louis edged Cincinnati 4-3.

Aaron had help in the opener from Gene Oliver, who hit a two-run double. The Cubs won the nightcap in the ninth inning when Byron Browne raced home on Clay Carroll's wild pitch. George Altman drove in the Cubs' first three runs with a pair of homers.

DODGERS STYMIED

Pittsburgh's Bob Veale stymied the Dodgers on five hits and received support from Donn Clendenon's run-scoring single in the first inning and a two-run double by Manny Mota in the fourth. Maury Wills stole the 400th base of his career for Los Angeles in the ninth.

Philadelphia received eight-hit pitching from Jim Bunning and eight walks from three Houston pitchers. Clay Dalrymple drove in two runs with a single and a bases-loaded walk.

Orlando Cepeda let in the tie-breaking run with a throwing error in the seventh inning but came back with a run-scoring single in the ninth that pulled St. Louis into a 3-3 deadlock. Cincinnati's Leo Cardenas threw wildly on the single, and Curt Flood raced home with the winning run.

Mets Come Back To Split With Giants

was hit on the left hand by a pitch in the first game and sat out the second. Both are expected back for the National League leaders' Tuesday night game against Pittsburgh.

Jimmy Hart provided the Giants' power in the twin bill. He drove in three runs in the opener, which included his 10th homer of the year. He hit No. 11 in the seventh inning of the nightcap, spoiling Hamilton's bid for a shutout.

Ron Swoboda homered and tripled for the Mets in the second game. He also was involved in a beanball incident with the Giants' Bob Bolin, the reliever for losing starter Ray Sadecki, who didn't last an inning.

In the fourth inning, Bolin drew a $50 fine from plate umpire Al Barlick for a pitch which sent the Mets' outfielder into the dirt.

"My had didn't stay up there very long," Swoboda commented. "I took a fast elevator down and left the helmet in the air."

Bolin demurred, saying, "That pitch was so high he didn't have any cause for complaint."

On the next throw the batter's shirt was nicked, so he was awarded first base. But this time no one claimed Bolin was trying to hit him.

Ross Valley Kiwanis Club has received approval from the National Collegiate Athletic Assn. to stage its second Marin County All-Star football game, it was announced today.

The game is scheduled Thursday, Aug. 25, at 8 p.m. at College of Marin Stadium in Kentfield and will match outstanding graduating high school players from Novato, Terra Linda, San Rafael, Tomales and San Rafael Military Academy of North Marin against stars from Tamalpais, Drake, Redwood and Marin Catholic representing South Marin.

Tickets, priced at $2 for adults, $1.50 for students and 50 cents for children will go on sale early next month, locations to be announced later.

decide which of the Marin champs will play in the Redwood Tournament of Champions which gets underway Thursday at Albert Park. Since there's only one day between the MAL finals and the start of the tourney, there will be no time for a possible three-team playoff, and the teams' pitching staffs would be all worn out by then.

There is another scramble in the league which is going right down to the wire: The batting championship. Seven percentage points separate the top four hitters in the league.

Terra Linda shortstop Fred Daniele is leading with a .378 mark, followed by Marin Catholic catcher John Komo, .375; Novato pitcher-first baseman John Dolinsek, .375, and Tamalpais first baseman Mike Einstein, .371. Daniele is way in front of the field in runs batted in, 13. His nearest competitors have 8.

Novato pitcher Wayne Jones is the only hurler without a defeat, carrying a 3-0 record, but Tam's Ron Gilliam has won the most games, 6, with only 1 loss.

NCS DIVISION II MEET

Terra Linda, San Rafael, Drake Swimmers Sparkle

Terra Linda and Sir Francis Drake high schools' varsity swimming teams turned in the top performances for Marin Athletic League squads competing in the North Coast Section, Division II meet at Martinez last Saturday, while San Rafael's Jim Allen headed the list of individual performers.

Allen placed first in the 200-yard freestyle event with a 1:55.5, and earned a fourth in the 100 free, 52.6.

Other commendable individual performances were registered by three Drake High School mermen, and Terra Linda's Bob Keller who racked up 291 points in diving competition.

Bob Girvin, second in the 100 back, 1:00.1; John Skaer, third in the 100 breast, 1:06.4 and, Ben Edmands, third in the 100-yard butterfly, 59.4, were the big stars for Drake.

Drake's 200 medley relay team (Girvin, Skaer, Paul Sagues, Edmands) placed first with a 1:46.9. That same relay combo holds the MAL record in that event, 1:46.1, but the Martinez pool, which had no gutter along the side, accounted for the meet's slow times.

CLASS B

Team honors were shared by San Rafael's Bullpups and Tam's Indians in Class B action but the Bullpups strictly headlined individual performances.

San Rafael's 200 medley relay team finished second with a 1:56.3, and Tam's 200 free relay quartet also chalked up a second, 1:41.8.

Bullpups Jim Morris, Dave Topance and Dave Stein all notched firsts for the San Rafael splashers, Morris winning the 100-yard breast in 1:08.2 seconds; Topance racing to a 24.6 clocking in the 50 free, and Stein posting a 26.7 in the 50-yard fly.

Tam's Bruce Averill won two places for the Indians, fourth in the 100 individual medley, 1:04.5, and second in the 100 backstroke, 1:07.0.

DIVER STARS

Another of the better marks posted by a "Bee" aquamen was registered by Terra Linda diver Bob Brandt, 220.15 points. That's just 1.25 points shy of the MAL record held by Redwood's Ed Lederman.

Although team scores were not recorded Saturday, they will be kept next weekened when the first nine mermen in each varisty and Class B event trek to Santa Rosa to compete in the North Coast Section finals.

The first preliminary trials are slated Friday for the varsity 400 freestyle event; the Class B 200 free, and both varsity and "Bee" diving. Trials for all other events resume Saturday morning, 9:30 a.m., with finals to follow 90 minutes after the heats are completed, approximately 1:30 p.m.

Here's how Marin mermen placed Saturday:

Litchfield '9' Sweeps Three Weekend Tilts

Winning three weekend games, the Litchfield's semi-pro baseball team served notice it's going to be a strong contender in the state tournament next month.

The San Rafael team came from behind three times to win the games. Saturday night it was 9-3 over Husteads, and yesterday it was both ends of a doubleheader against the Gino Benedetti nine from San Francisco, 9-4 in the seven-inning opener and 5-1 in the second game.

Dave Aldrich, hurler for the University of California, was the winning pitcher in the Saturday game, relieving starter Harvey Kaufman. Winning hurlers yesterday were Rich Nye, another Cal pitcher, and Bob DeRosa, veteran of the Litchfield's staff. Nye struck out 14 men, an average of two per inning.

Barry Krohn continued his heavy hitting in all three games, hitting a homer and double for four runs batted in in Saturday's win, a bases-loaded triple and two-run single for five RBI in yesterday's opener, and a double and single for three RBI in the second game. The first baseman's total RBI production for the weekend was an even dozen.

Other big hitters for Litchfield's were Doug Wilson, who got two singles and a double in one game and two doubles in another; Alex Barrett with a total of three doubles and two singles, and Gary Bosch, a base-loaded double in the second game.

Terra Linda Soph Hurls No-Hitter

Sophomore lefthander Ted Linzy pitched a no-hitter to lead the Terra Linda junior varsity baseball team to a 4-0 triumph over Drake last Friday on the Terra Linda field.

Linzy faced just 22 batters in the seven-inning game. The one man to reach base got there on a walk, and he got as far as second before the side was retired in the seventh inning.

Clay Vs. Jones, Uncle Sam Next

By EDDY GILMORE

LONDON (AP) — Cassius Clay returns home tomorrow with two potential opponents in mind and an unbeatable foe in his future.

Clay mentioned both Doug Jones and West Germany's Karl Mildenberger as possible opponents for his next fight — which he said will be in about two months — after disposing of London's Henry Cooper in six rounds Saturday night.

Of perhaps more immediate concern to the unbeaten heavyweight champion, however, is the one guy even Cassius admits he can't take out.

"There's one who's too tough for me," Clay said. "Old Uncle Sam. I can't take him on."

And Uncle has some designs on Clay. First, the Internal Revenue Service wants about $115,000 of the reported $350,000 Clay received for the scheduled 15 rounder in an outdoor soccer stadium.

Then there's the matter of Clay's draft status, currently 1-A, which Cassius, alias Muhammed Ali, is appealing on the basis of religion and financial hardship. He's a Black Muslim and has appealed that he's a conscientious objector.

NASTY CUT

He echoed those sentiments after opening a 12-stitch cut over Cooper's left eye, a cut that pumped blood all over both fighters, spotted the ring, sprayed over ringside reporters and forced referee George Smith to stop it at 1:38 of the sixth round.

"I was sorry to see it end like that," Clay said. "I don't mind admitting I was a bit disturbed by all that blood. I didn't really want the violence to continue. I don't really like hurting anyone. It's against my religion.

"It was terrible to see him cut so much. I didn't really relish hitting him when I saw the blood spurt."

Up until that point the 32-year-old Cooper had been doing very well, pressing the fight all the way, while Clay danced away in a clockwise motion, always moving away from Cooper's only real weapon — a left hand that knocked Cassius down in a nontitle fight three years ago. Cassius came back to win that one on a fifth-round cut of Henry's tender eyes.

BOUT EVEN

The Associated Press gave Henry the first two rounds, called the third even and gave the fourth and fifth to Clay. Under British rules, the referee is the only official and his card is never announced.

There were no knockdowns and no one was really hurt until Clay opened the cut.

Cooper, who came in at 188, said Clay butted it open when they banged heads.

"It was a left and a right and a right that did the damage. I don't think there was any chance of a butt," said Clay, who was the lightest of his career at 201½.

In any event Clay immediately began casting about for another opponent, and he wants one in a hurry — before his draft appeal is decided.

"I think Jones could be the next one because of that controversial fight we had," Clay said. "Or maybe the European challenger, Mildenberger. Anyway I want to fight again in two months."

Clay defeated Jones on points over 10 rounds in New York in 1963 — a decision that many disagreed with.

SWIFT, ELUSIVE

He was his usual fighting self — swift, elusive, pecking away with a deceptively hard left, almost contemptious of his opponent — but was strangely reserved and polite in his associations with the press and public.

There were some reports of racial unrest after remarks by the crowd following the fight, but Clay dismissed them as the reactions of fans pulling for a hometown boy.

The fight drew about 42,000 to the outdoor stadium, and was shown in some 40 theaters in England and Scotland on closed circuit television. It was also shown on home television, via Early Bird Satellite, in the United States and North America.

Torres May Bid For Clay Fight; Thornton Routed

By MURRAY ROSE

NEW YORK (AP) — If heavyweight king Cassius Clay runs out of opponents in his own division and is still available for boxing, he may find light heavyweight champion Jose Torres knocking on his door.

Torres, easy conqueror of Wayne Thornton in a title defense at Shea Stadium Saturday night, hinted he would like to take on Clay, who stopped Britain's Henry Cooper on cuts in the sixth round in London.

The 30-year-old ruler of the 175-pound class said he watched the telecast of Clay stopping Cooper and declared: "I had more trouble with Thornton than I would have with Clay."

Torres scored two first round knockdowns and soundly drubbed Thornton, the No. 1 contender from Fresno, Calif., in a brawl marred by the challenger's constant fouling.

The handsome, 26-year-old Californian broke every rule in the book, butted a small cut over Torres' right eye in the first round, and kept grabbing the champion's powerful left arm as if it was a loose $100 bill.

Cus D'Amato, former manager of ex-heavyweight champion Floyd Patterson, and now one of Torres' advisors, said he was confident his 5-10, 175-pound protege could beat the 6-3, 201-pound Clay.

"Clay's main assets are his speed, boxing ability and size," said D'Amato. "Jose is faster, a better boxer, hits harder and can overcome the difference in size and weight. I think he would be the toughest opponent for Clay."

Torres won the decision over the 174-pound Thornton by a lopsided margin. The officials had him ahead by the following round scores: Judges Al Berl and Artie Aidala, 10-4-1 each, and referee Johnny LoBianco, 12-2-1. The A.P. card had it 13-2 for Torres.

Thornton, winner of six straight previously, moaned he was hit by a shot in the kidney in the first round "and I never got over it. I thought a kidney punch was illegal here. After that I didn't have any snap. I had no power to stay on him."

Asked if he knew that he was violating the rules with his tactics, Thornton replied: "Yes, I knew it. I would have hit him with the stool if I could."

"This was for the title," added his manager, Pat DiFuria.

A threat of rain and possibly earlier telecast of the Cooper-Clay fight, hurt the gate. The promoters, Combat, Inc., said a crowd of about 12,000 paid an estimated $100,000. The crowd appeared closer to 7,000. Combat said television and Latin American radio broadcasts added about $50,000 to the pot.

Kauai King Shoots For 'Triple Crown'

By GEORGE BOWEN

BALTIMORE (AP) — Now comes Kauai King, bidding for the big one that has gotten away so many times.

Tim Tam tried it — and failed.

Carry Back tried it — and failed.

Northern Dancer tried it — and failed.

Now it's Kauai King, with victories in the Kentucky Derby and Preakness, going for the Belmont Stakes — bidding for a sweep of the Triple Crown that has been accomplished only eight times since 1877 and not at all since Citation turned the trick in 1948.

"I was confident before the Preakness," jockey Don Brumfield said, and predicted that the lung-straining 1½ miles of the Belmont will be no trouble for Kauai King, who will be a $5,000 supplemental nominee for the June 4 test at Aqueduct.

Since Citation, Tim Tam, Carry Back and Northern Dancer all swept the first two legs of the gruelling test for 3-year-olds, only to be beaten in the Belmont, the longest of the Triple Crown series. The Derby is 1¼ miles, the Preakness 1 3-16.

But the picture is more promising than usual for Kauai King, whose father, Native Dancer, took the Preakness and Belmont after being nipped in the Derby for his only defeat.

The list of prospective opponents he has not already beaten is almost non-existent. Normally, there are at least a couple of trainers who have been biding their time for the Belmont. None is known at this time.

FRESH FACE

The only possible fresh face to tackle Kauai King that comes to mind is Creme Dela Creme. He won his first six races this year, then lost in the Withers mile to Indulto, who finished a fading fifth in the Preakness.

The big question in the Belmont is whether the colts can last its distance. "Definitely," replies Brumfield of Kauai King.

His performances, particularly in the Preakness, substantiate Brumfield. Only one other horse, Nashua in 1955, ever ran the last three-sixteenths of a mile as fast at Pimlico.

"He had more left in him than at the end of the Derby," Brumfield said.

Although Brumfield whipped Kauai King with his left hand only a couple of times to keep him straight in the stretch, they were nearly two lengths ahead of Stupendous at the finish.

It was another five lengths back to Amberoid and straggling in order were Rehabilitate, Indulto, Advocator, Exceedingly, Understanding and Blue Skyer.

EIGHTH VICTORY

It was the eighth victory in 10 starts this year for Kauai King and hiked his earnings for owner Mike Ford to $369,027.

Brumfield let Stupendous and jockey Braulio Baeza take the lead on the first turn and then ters of a mile.

Turning for home, Brumfield chirped to his mount "and I gradually let him run to Stupendous. After drawing clear, he was really picking them up and laying them down and he drew on out." The time was 1:55 2-5.

San Anselmans Divide Coast Softball Bill

Sohner Tree Service divided a coast traveling league softball doubleheader with Half Moon Bay Saturday at San Mateo's Fitzgerald Park.

The Treemen of San Anselmo nabbed the opener, 5-3, but dropped a 1-0 verdict in the nightcap.

Sohner has now split all three of its league doubleheaders and is tied with Hayward for third place in the six-team Class AAA league with a 3-3 mark.

All three Sohner losses have been by one run: 2-1, 3-2 and 1-0.

Sohner jumped off to a five-run lead in the first three innings of Saturday's opener, then held on to notch the victory behind the six-hit hurling of Morey Swarm.

The Treemen left nine runners stranded in being blanked in the second game by Half Moon Bay's heralded Ed Pickett. Sohner had the bases loaded with one out in the fifth and a runner on third with no outs in the sixth, yet could not score.

U.S. Supreme Court Refuses Obscene Recording Hearing

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court refused today to hear a case that challenges the constitutionality of federal law prohibiting the mailing of obscene material.

Joe Davis, a New York City phonograph dealer, asked the court to review his conviction on charges of mailing obscene records and mailing them in obscene wrappers. The U.S. Circuit Court in New York upheld the conviction in a 2-1 ruling last December.

At the same sitting the high court threw out the mail obscenity conviction of William Hoyet Redmond and his wife, Dorothy Lucille, of Nashville, Tenn., who took nude pictures of each other and received prints of their film through the mails.

In that case the court in an unsigned opinion took the view of the Justice Department that this was private correspondence and did not call for action except in exceptional circumstances such as repeated offenses.

In the phonographic obscenity case three justices noted that they would reverse Davis' conviction. They were Hugo L. Black, William O. Douglas and Potter Stewart.

Davis's attorney claimed, among other things, that he was convicted without proof that he "knew the character of the matter and without proof that he knew or had reason to believe it obscene."

He was tried by a jury in a federal court in the Southern District of New York, fined $1,000 on one count of the indictment and received six-month suspended sentences on 22 other counts.

Davis's lawyer told the supreme court the mailing wrapper employed "double entendre" humor of a kind "commonly used in present-day culture."

Two records were involved. One, "Erotica," did not contain words, the lawyer said, "only percussion instruments and various human sounds." The second, "Nights of Love in Lesbos," was described as an oral rendition of extracts from the poem "Songs of Bilitis," by the French poet Pierre Louys.

"Louys's work is recognized by scholars as possessing artistic merit," the appeal said. "We do not believe standards should differ in determining the obscenity of books and records."

Chief Judge J. Edward Lumbard said for the Circuit Court: "The sole issue before us is . .. whether Davis is entitled to first amendment protection because the labels and records are not obscene. We find that they are obscene under the tests established by the Supreme Court. . . ."

The Supreme Court's standard for obscenity, established in its 1957 Roth decision, is "whether to the average person, applying contemporary community standards, the dominant theme of the material taken as a whole appeals to the prurient interest."

In the nude picture case the Justice Department said Redmond and his wife had no record of involvement in obscene materials or sex-related offenses.

Agreeing, the Supreme Court ordered the U.S. District Court in Nashville to dismiss the case against them. Redmond had been sentenced to nine months imprisonment and his wife got six months.

Election Day Editorial Given Court Approval

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court upheld today the right of an Alabama editor to publish a political editorial on election day.

Alabama had sought to prosecute James E. Mills, of the Birmingham Post-Herald, for an election day editorial published in 1962.

Justice Hugo L. Black said application of the state's anti-electioneering law to Mills would be a "flagrant abridgement of the constitutionally guaranteed freedom of the press."

The other eight high court justices agreed that Mills should not be prosecuted, but Justice John M. Harlan preferred that the case first move through state courts. Mills has been charged under the law, but has not been tried.

Davis Students Elect Marinite As President

Robert Black, 19, son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Black of 144 Tamal Vista Drive, San Rafael, is the new student body president at the University of California, Davis, for the school year that starts in September.

Black was president of the Marin Young Democrats in 1964-65, and was student body president at San Rafael High School in 1964. He is a political science major.

Elected vice president of the student body was another Marin youth, Jack Edwards of Terra Lnda, former president of the student body at Terra Linda High School. Retiring vice president is Carol Hahn of San Rafael, who was student body vice president at San Rafael High School.

Ron Clausen of San Rafael was elected representative at large to the legislative assembly of the associated students at Davis.

Court Allows Tax Charge New Trial

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court permitted today reinstatement of an indictment that charged Ben Blue, Hollywood entertainer, with attempts to evade federal income taxes.

Justice John M. Harland delivered the unanimous decision, which pointed out that Blue at a trial may now use his Fifth Amendment guarantee against self-incrimination.

Today's decision was given on Justice Department appeal from a dismissal of the indictment by U.S. Dist. Judge Peirson M. Hall in Los Angeles. The dismissal was on the ground Blue's right not to be a witness against himself had been violated.

The indictment said Blue reported income for 1958 through 1960 totaling $71,240 and paid $21,954 tax. It charged he should have reported $117,187 income and paid $44,934 tax.

Blue was indicted Aug. 6, 1964. Judge hall dismissed the indictment Feb. 8, 1965.

Father Defends Son's Refusal To Fire Gun

NEW ORLEANS (UPI) —The father of Pvt. Adam R. Weber Jr., facing court martial in South Viet Nam for refusing to bear arms against the Viet Cong said today his son had no choice, that the Ten Commandments say, "Thou shalt not kill."

"He's not afraid of being shot, that I'd like to stake my life on," said the elder Weber of his 24-year-old son.

The soldier's court martial was to have begun today in Saigon, but the Defense Department notified his New Orleans attorney, Benjamin E. Smith, yesterday that the trial had been postponed indefinitely.

The postponement was requested by New York attorney William Kunstler, who with Smith and attorney Arthur Kinoy, also of New York, represent the defense team. The three men are scheduled to meet in New York Thursday to plan their trial strategy.

The younger Weber attended Catholic schools all his life and spent five years in a seminary studying for the priesthood.

He was inducted into the army last November.

"He was called by his draft board and he answered the call. He stated he would serve his country in any capacity except killing," said the father.

The elder Weber said his son was sent home for 10 days pending an investigation, then he was drafted.

"He offered no resistance, but I'm quite sure he advised his commanding officers at each duty station of his stand againt firing a gun in Viet Nam," said the father.

Weber said the soldier requested service in the Medical Corps and made the highest score among men being tested for the Corps, but he was assigned instead to the infantry.

Farm Workers Show Increase

SACRAMENTO (AP) — California farm employment stood at 332,700 in mid-May, up 56,000 from April and 6,800 over the same month last year, State Employment Director Albert B. Tieburg said today.

In a report to the State Board of Agriculture, Tieburg said the bulk of the increase in the farm labor force centered in deciduous fruit and cotton pre-harvest work.

Compared to last year, there were 6,600 more domestic workers employed on farms and 750 fewer imported foreign workers.

Better Business Bureau Plans New Office

The Better Business Bureaus of America will open an "Office for Consumer Affairs" in Washington D.C. after Labor Day.

The announcement was made today by Charles H. Kellstadt, chairman of the assocation, at the opening session of the 52nd annual conference of Better Business Bureaus International in San Francisco.

The Washington office will maintain close liaison with federal government departments and agencies, Congress and national consumer and business organizations, said Kellstadt, who is also chairman of the Better Business Bureaus Foundation which is being activated to support and direct the operations of the Office for Consumer Affairs.

"The nation's network of 126 bureaus in the most valid, most experienced and by far the most effective agency that exists to serve the American consumer," he said. "Up to now these bureaus have been serving at the consumer's neighborhood level, but now their service must be expanded to the national level."

Last year, Better Business Bureaus reviewed and investigated 50,772 advertisements in all media and made nearly three and one-half million consumer contacts. Many of these had to do with complaints against business firms, others answered requests for information and more than two million were in response to questions about business reputation and practice. The bureaus also distributed 930,000 booklets on 50 consumer subjects, and more than one million leaflets, handbills and envelope stuffers.

Plans are now being made, Kellstadt said, for the Better Business Bureaus Foundation to sponsor an annual National Conference on Consumer Affairs. The first conference is tentatively set for Washington next year.

Manufacturing Gains In April

SAN FRANCISCO—California manufacturing chalked up its eighth consecutive monthly gain in April according to recent figures just released by the Bank of California.

The bank reported value added by manufactures totaled $20.5 billion last month riding on gains of 1.36 per cent during the month and 12.38 per cent since last April. Manufacturing is expected to reach a $20.28 billion seasonally adjusted annual rate by the end of May.

Gains for the month reflected a strong performance by durable manufactures, particularly metal connected industries. Accounting for two-thirds of all manufacturing, durables jumped 1.6 per cent in April to $13.3 billion. April's durable production levels were 14.75 per cent above those reported last year.

Pepsi Cola Going To Ignacio; Mortgage Firm In New Quarters

Within the next three months Pepsi Cola Bottling Co. is expected to move its Marin distribution plant from 25 Market Street, San Rafael, north to a new building in Ignacio.

Pepsi Cola and its subsidiary Belfast Beverages, Inc. have purchased a one-acre site at Hamilton Industrial Park, which already has Marin Products Co. and Crockett's Van and Storage as occupants, and Bekins Van and Storage signed up for future occupancy. The sale was handled by Ray Van Meter and Clay Carter of Coldwell, Banker and Co., exclusive agent for the park.

Note: Hamilton Industrial Park is often confused with Northgate Industrial Park. The two are almost four miles apart.

According to Robert Brossier, manager of the San Rafael Pepsi plant which operates in approximately 8,000 square feet and is buldging out at the sides, the Ignacio warehouse will be two to three times as large and afford them much more needed room for expansion. No production facilities are contemplated immediately, but there will be enough space if a bottling plant is desired later. Construction of the building should get under way soon.

MARIN MORTGAGE CO. has moved from 900 Mission Avenue, San Rafael, to new quarters at 1435 Fourth Street. William Wilson, previously with First Pioneer Mortgage Co. for five years, has been appointed a loan officer.

The company was recently acquired by Redwood National Bank and is operated as its wholly-owned subsidiary. New offices are adjacent to the bank's offices at Fourth and E Streets. Robert C. McGowan and John J. Hourihan continue as administrative officers.

SOUTHWEST YACHT SUPPLIES, INC., now at 36-A Front Street, San Rafael, has been appointed exclusive wholesale marin distributor in California for the Stowaway heater manufactured by Raymond J. Moonen Co., Sausalito. It will be sold through marine dealers and boatyards.

GEORGE CHENAULT of San Rafael, who has been manager of the Benecia Safeway Store, has been promoted to manager-in-training at Honolulu. He started his Safeway career in 1955 as a food clerk in Mill Valley, was promoted to assistant store manager in 1958 and became Benecia manager last December. The new appointment was effective yesterday.

JUDGE CARLOS R. FREITAS of Freitas, Allen, McCarthy and Bettini, San Rafael, has been elected vice president of the board of regents, of Saint Mary's College.

SERVING ALL OF MARIN COUNTY

34 EDITORIAL PAGE Mon., May 23, 1966 San Rafael, Calif.

TODAY'S EDITORIAL:

GOP Attorney General Nod Goes To Spencer Williams

Of three Republicans seeking the GOP nomination for state attorney general, two appear to be in serious contention.

They are Julius A. (Jud) Leetham, 47, of Los Angeles, and Spencer Williams, 44, of Santa Clara County.

The third man is James J. Oppen, 46, a Van Nuys attorney, whose only claim to fame appears to be his opposition to all-digit telephone dialing two years ago.

The two front-runners, Leetham and Williams, are men of considerable experience, both in law and in public service.

Leetham was chairman of the Republican Central Committee of Los Angeles until last February when he resigned to toss his hat into the political ring. He was chairman and one of the organizers of the National Conference of Republican County Chairmen.

In the legal field, Leetham was attorney for the Reconstruction Finance Corp., served as law instructor at Southwestern University, and was Jury Commissioner for the U.S. District Court for six years.

Spencer Williams has been county counsel of Santa Clara County for 10 years. He supervises a staff of 28 employees, including 15 attorneys.

He was president of the District Attorneys Association of California and president of the National Association of County Civil Attorneys in 1963-64.

The platforms of both men are similar. They view with alarm the increase in crime in California and call for stiffer penalties against law breakers, especially those dealing in dangerous drugs.

Both men appear to be steering clear of extremism of both the right or left. We trust they will continue to do so.

From their wealth of experience and their demonstrated professional competence, either Jud Leetham or Spencer Williams would make a strong Republican candidate for attorney general.

Republican voters will have a tough choice to make on June 7.

On the basis of Williams' long experience in public office (county counsel), as opposed to Leetham's leadership in partisan work (head of the GOP Central Committee of Los Angeles), we give Williams the nod.

We believe Spencer Williams of Santa Clara County would be the best Republican nominee for attorney general.

As Others See Us

It is so easy to be critical of others. One of mankind's greatest failings is that generally his capacity for criticism does not extend to himself. We all would rather find the character defects of others than honestly search out our own.

It is a compassionate Mother Nature that blinds us to our own faults. If most of us could "see ourselves as others see us," we would probably be quite unhappy. But man is a subjective animal. He rationalizes that he is coldly logical and intellectual. However, when it comes to self, cool objectivity gives way to warm emotion. We love us.

SACRAMENTO SCENE

Campaign For Campaign Money Brings Rare Accord Of Parties

By EDWIN S. CAPPS

SACRAMENTO — In a rare and friendly joint press conference, the two top men in party politics in California recently enthused over a new plan for collecting campaign funds which they hope may provide half the money in future years.

The joint appearance was by Robert L. Coate, chairman of the Democratic State Central Committee, and Gaylord B. Parkinson, chairman of the Republican State Central Committee. They admitted it was not often they could make a face-to-face appearance on friendly terms.

The program they discussed is an extension and enlargement of activities already being carried on by five large firms in California. In these firms, employees are encouraged to take a part in politics by attending rallies at the plants for various candidates and by contributing financially to the party or candidates of their choice.

BOTH COATE and Parkinson emphasized that the effort must be totally bi-partisan to be effective. In some cases, payroll deductions are authorized for the financial contributions. The amount of money an employee contributes and the party or candidate to which it is assigned remains strictly confidential.

Five large firms in California have acted as pioneers in the program and it's hoped another 40 companies will get into it this year. The party chairmen said the optimum size of a firm for participation is one with about 1,000 employees. Larger companies are welcomed, of course, but sometimes will have difficulties in the sheer volume as far as meeting places, etc.

How effective has the program been with the five firms which have tried it? In 1964, three of the firms — Aerojet-General, Hughes Aircraft, and Ford Motor Company—collected in excess of $300,000 for campaign funds.

In addition, at four of the companies, some 7840 persons were registered to vote. Because of candidates at rallies, it's natural to believe most of the employees became better informed on issues and the personalities of the office-seekers.

THE COMPANIES say the program has been good for personnel relations among employees as it gives them another meeting ground — other than the usual labor-management arena.

Both Coate and Parkinson avoided setting any goal on how much money they hope to see collected when the expanded program gets underway in August—it doesn't function in the primary election or become involved in primary campaigns. But it's obvious they're thinking of more than $1 million this year.

If the new plan is to provide half the money needed for all campaigns in the future, they'd have to be talking about quite a few million dollars.

Short of financing election campaigns through taxes on the public—a plan often advanced but never accepted—the "Good Citizenship Program" proposed by the two party chiefs does seem a good method of spreading costs of political campaigning and eliminating the need for candidates to accept contributions from special interest groups. It should work toward better informing of voters as well.

JUST HOW much such a program — regardless of how successful—would cut down on the present rash of testimonial dinners and other fund raising events, however, is still a question.

Whether it's because the cost of campaigning skyrocketed with the use of television or whether the technique of fund-raising dinners developed into a fine point at the same time is not known. But this year such events have about reached the saturation point.

Many, no doubt, would welcome an end to these events but there's no assurance that collection of campaign funds through the good citizenship program would reduce the volume.

Judge Goldstein Pleasing To Parent

Editor, Independent-Journal:

I would like to express publicly my appreciation of the fine work being done with the young people of Marin by Judge Alvin H. Goldstein Jr. in the Juvenile Traffic Court in San Rafael. Many local parents, I know, have been favorably impressed, not only by this judge's specific decisions and recommendations, but by his dignified, gracious and intelligent attitude toward the "teen-agers" who come before him. All of us who want to live in a civilized community are deeply indebted when an individual appears in a position of authority who is, in his own person, so clearly deserving of our children's respect.

I recently observed a session of the Juvenile Traffic Court. Judge Goldstein's manner with the young people there was appropriately firm without a trace of condescension, scorn or pomposity. He made it clear that he expected first-rate behavior of this group in the future, and that his chief concern was to see that they improved to a point of excellence—not to relieve them of a sense of personal responsibility by doling out meaningless or arbitrary punishments. I was particularly glad to hear him tell his charges that they must do better than we grownups (with our awful record of accidents, injuries and deaths) have been doing on the streets and on the highways. This sort of approach to the "juvenile problem" is all too rare. It is worthy of note, I believe, not only because it is the decent way for an adult to behave, but because, being thoroughly honest and thoroughly realistic, it is the approach most likely to succeed.

By demonstrating his concern and respect for these young people as individuals, Judge Goldstein sets an impressive example for their own future conduct toward others. In the teaching of the young, as we all know, one good example is worth many thousands of words. Thank you, Judge Goldstein.

Is U.S. Harboring Red-Trained African?

Editor, Independent-Journal:

Whither the State Department's Road?

Last week, prominently displayed in the 'Chronicle' was a photograph of, and an interview with, a Mr. Mtambenenge, a black Rhodesian lawyer, and a member of the banned and exiled ZANU party, whose present home is in Zambia. This gentleman, along with another ZANU organiser, Mr. Herbert Chitepo, are principally responsible for the recruitment of terrorist African agents trained in the Nanking Military College in China, and brought to Zambia. . . to cause chaos to the Rhodesian government.

Friday April 30, seven of these terrorists were shot, and many captured in a fierce battle near Sinoia, some 80 miles from Rhodesia's capital, Salisbury. They had been surveyed by police intelligence ever since they were detected some two weeks earlier crossing the Zambezi valley from Zambia.

Amongst the captured documents were pamphlets on the theory of revolutionary tactics as expounded by the communist Chinese, as well as Chinese pistols and Russian automatic weapons and hand grenades of the most modern kind. Rhodesia has, in 1965, captured 80 of these saboteurs, but some of the estimated 500 recruited and trained in China, are still in either Tanzania or Zambia. Mr. Chitepo was one time director of public prosecutions in Tanzania.

Despite the fact that ZANU has been the direct cause of the gasoline-burning deaths, knife killings, and other murder and intimidation of many Africians who did not wish to join ZANU, and despite the fact that Mr. Mtambenenge is spokesman and an organisor of this China controlled organization, he is here in the United States as a guest of the State Department!

Might I ask just how far away from the true road to democratic government can our State Department wander, before the people ask "Whither thou goest, and in whose name!"

Will Of All Not Always Right

Editor, Independent-Journal:

The will of the people is not always the right way. There are times that the will can be for the benefit of a few that are immediately concerned but not for the majority, this will can also be detrimental to an individual property owner, causing him undue financial loss. In May 7th Independent Journal there was an article on the Marincello petition whereby Attorney Sheeks, said, quote, "anyone circulating petitions who intentionally mispresents or makes any false statements in content, purport or effect, is guilty of a crime."

In the case of the billiard parlor permit on Sir Francis Drake Boulevard, it resulted in the loss of several months rent to the property owner as well as loss of income from the business that could have been operating legally. The property is zoned for the use under a permit and should have been allowed its use upon granting of the original approval.

It should behoove anyone signing, initiating or circulating a petition to consider carefully what they are doing and not open themselves up to a possible suit. Mr. Kettenhoffen deserves a big bouquet for his stand on this approval of a legitimate business and the constitutional rights of free enterprise even though this was against the viewpoints of some of his constituents. Also, bouquets to Supervisors Behr, Storer and Leydecker for their vote backing free enterprise as granted by the Constitution of the United States. Let us hope that in the future ALL members of the board will consider the property owner directly involved and HIS right.

Criticism Aimed At New Bowl Leader

Editor, Independent-Journal:

In reference to my recent letter published May 12th concerning bad sportsmanship at the Masters Bowling Tournament in Novato, it is necessary to clarify one point. The President of Women's Bowling Association of Marin should have read "newly elected president" as she will serve for the 1966-67 season. My apologies to the outgoing president for the shower of criticism that has been rained upon her.

Fulbright Uses Chairmanship To Enhance Power Of Speeches

WASHINGTON—It was always idle to think that Sen. William Fulbright might resign as chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee because he is so critical of nearly everything the Democratic administration is doing in foreign policy. Or be goaded into it by Barry Goldwater.

Lately he has been muting his attacks. But Fulbright has certainly not enhanced his reputation for clarity by withdrawing his criticisms — such as "arrogant use of power" and Saigon being "an American brothel"—on the ground that they meant one thing to him and something different to nearly everybody else.

Now he argues that President Johnson has made no "credible offers" for Viet Nam peace talks because we are bombing North Viet Nam. All we have done is stopped twice, once for a week and again for five weeks, to see if there was any "credible" interest in Hanoi.

IF FULBRIGHT were critical of nearly everything merely as an independent senator, the damage would be minor.

The fact is that Fulbright's voice is raised many times by his official committee position. This makes his words sound far more authoritative abroad than at home and causes many to wonder if he is exercising a sense of responsibility equal to the influence his post gives him.

The real culprit in this situation is the congressional vice of permitting each chairmanship, however important, to be inherited by the accident of seniority.

Particularly in the area of foreign policy, this is one of the weaknesses of the American political system.

HOW CAN YOU expect foreign nations to grasp that the chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee—its senior legislative link with the Administration — was selected for the office by a process that bears no relationship to policy?

Is it any wonder that those who hope we are divided and uncertain will be persuaded that we are when Chairman Fulbright says that the President improperly committed us to defend South Viet Nam, when he suggests that we are headed toward becoming a Napoleonic empire?

I am not saying that anybody should want to silence Senator Fulbright. I am saying that the seniority system of allocating committee chairmanships is imposing a heavy burden on the U.S. at a time when the American word and steadfastness in carrying out its commitments ought not to be put in jeopardy in this manner.

It is inherent in the American system of divided powers that the Senate should exercise an independent voice in foreign policy since the Constitution gives it the duty to advise and consent—and to advise and dissent.

BUT IN THE kind of world we are living in today, the chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee ought to be painstakingly prudent and constructive, though he may well maintain independent views.

Sen. Arthur Vanderberg of Michigan was that kind of Republican chairman. Senator George of Georgia was that kind of Democratic chairman.

It can be done—as they have well proved. They maintained their independence and showed initiative.

They were not weak men. They were strong and influential spokesmen for their own views and for the Senate itself. But they were not hecklers and they did not place harrowing burdens on the President.

INSIDE WASHINGTON

Johnson Hurrying To Spend $253 Million

By ROBERT S. ALLEN and PAUL SCOTT

WASHINGTON — President Lyndon B. Johnson's frequent admonitions to businessmen and consumers to hold down spending are directly counter to what he himself is doing.

The Economic Development Administration, on White House orders, is laboring strenuously to pump out more than one-quarter billion dollars before July 1—start of the new fiscal year when this money, if unspent, would revert to the Treasury.

Not only would that be a big saving to taxpayers, but a direct and helpful curb on the inflation the President professes to be so concerned about.

BUT THIS ISN'T the way EDA is functioning. Instead of striving to economize and cut spending, the agency, headed by Asst. Commerce Secretary Eugene Foley, is pouring hundreds of millions into the already supercharged national economy in a race against the July 1 deadline.

This means that if he succeeds, and there is no reason to believe he won't, in the next six weeks he will dispense $253,437,000 in grants and loans for a wide variety of state and local projects.

The Economic Development Administration, successor to the Area Redevelopment Agency, set up in the Kennedy administration, was approved by Congress in the closing weeks of the 1965 session.

Its avowed aim is to create jobs by making grants and loans to state and local agencies and non-profit private organizations for public works and new industries. Foley, former head of the Small Business Administration, was put in charge of this Great Society operation.

AT THE PRESIDENT'S urging, Congress voted EDA $332,425,000. In its first eight months it ladled out $78,988,000. That leaves $253,437,000 still to be disposed of by July 1.

It's a safe conjecture the White House and Foley will see to it that the one-quarter billion dollars is spent. None of it will be left to revert to the Treasury—despite the righteous lectures about the danger of inflation and the need for restraint and economy.

This is a crucial election year, and EDA's millions have an irresistible porkbarrel lure.

Strongly indicating that is the partisan manner in which EDA is operating.

REPUBLICANS ARE bluntly being excluded. Their attempts to find out what EDA is doing and how have run into an impenetrable wall of secrecy. Not even members of the congressional committees that handled the EDA legislation and are charged with overseeing it have been able to penetrate this bureaucratic barrier.

Graphically illustrative is the experience of Representative William Cramer, Fla., ranking Republican on the House Public Works Committee. He and GOP staff members have repeatedly been rebuffed.

Cramer sent a scorching letter to Commerce Secretary John Connor protesting this partisan blackout.

"Repeated requests for information have been summarily refused," Cramer wrote, "apparently as part of a calculated effort to deprive members of Congress and members of the staff of House committees of learning what is going on."

CONNOR HAS yet to answer, and there is no indication when and if he will.

"We haven't asked for confidential information," explains Cramer. "All we have sought is the usual data needed by a congressional committee, such as ours."

Pleasant Little Creek Angers Troll, Who Turns It Into Gutter

Once upon a time, long ago, in a country not so very far from here, there was a pleasant little valley with a pleasant little creek running through it.

Big, strong oaks grew along the banks of the creek and when people came to the land, they built their homes beneath the friendly shade.

On a warm summer night, the people could open their windows and hear the creek gurgling pleasantly.

IF IT WERE not for the winter, life along the creek would have been perfect. In the winter, storms came and the pleasant little creek turned into a big, big creek full of muddy water, spilling into low areas, causing floods and being very naughty.

Some of those who had built their houses on low land were driven away, but they always seemed to return when the storms were over.

In fact, over the years, most of the residents grew philosophical about the flooding.

"Into each life some rain must fall," they said. That probably explains how that saying originated.

But there were a few who could not tolerate the floods, and one of them was the troll.

AS ANY CHILD can tell you, every pleasant little creek has a troll.

This troll grew angrier and angrier with each passing winter. The flood waters repeatedly drove him from his home beneath the bridge.

I forgot to mention that the creek had a bridge. Sorry.

The troll, who by the way was very militant, decided one day that he was going to tame the creek. He put his helpers to work drawing plans.

"Ho, Ho, Ho," said the troll rubbing his hands together. "We are going to tame this little creek."

"Good," said the residents of the valley. You see, by now most of them were tired of hearing people say, "Into each life some rain must fall."

However, they did not look at the troll's plans at all. For most of them, it was the first time they had ever looked at the troll.

"GO AHEAD and tame the pleasant little creek," they said.

After the troll started to work, many of them wished they had not said that. Some had to move away and never come back just to make room for the project.

When the troll finished his work, everyone wished they had kept their mouths shut. A mistake had been made, but, of course, it was too late to do anything about it.

"Ho, Ho, Ho," said the troll.

He had made the creek disappear. In its place was a big concrete gutter. The water no longer gurgled pleasantly. Instead it slithered down the gutter like a snake on its belly with no sound at all.

"Ho, Ho, Ho," said the troll. But nobody else laughed.

Moral: As any child can tell you, every pleasant little creek has a troll.

Let's Try Testing Government Officials On Viet Nam Conflict

WASHINGTON — The recent test given to college students by Selective Service officials to help decide whether they would be deferred or not has been up for some criticism. As one college student put it, "What they're going to wind up with is a dumb army."

I'm not against giving college students tests to see if they go to Viet Nam or not, but I think it's only fair that we give tests to people who are responsible for our Viet Nam policy, including all State Department, Defense, and White House officials.

HERE ARE SOME of the questions that could be included in the tests:

1. Name one (just one) South Vietnamese official whom we could support to head up a South Viet Nam government.

2. Explain in a short essay what the Buddhists want in South Viet Nam.

3. Explain in a short essay what the Catholics want in South Viet Nam.

4. Describe in detail how there can be free elections in South Viet Nam under the present government.

5. If you can't get the South Vietnamese military to talk to the Buddhists and you can't get the Buddhists to talk to the Catholics and you can't get the Catholics to talk to Ambassador Lodge, how can you get the North Vietnamese to talk to the Americans?

6. If the South Vietnamese troops in the south are used to protect Gen. Ky in Saigon and the South Vietnamese troops in the north are used to protect Gen. Dihn in Da Nang, what troops will be left to fight the Viet Cong in the countryside?

ANSWER TRUE or false:

a. The State Department has no idea of what is going on in South Viet Nam.

b. Secretary of Defense Robert McNamara, by nature, is an optimist.

c. The CIA knows more about what is happening in Hanoi than what is happening in Saigon.

d. President Johnson would like to buy back his introduction to Gen. Ky.

e. Buddhists in South Viet Nam are anti-Communists.

f. Buddhists in South Viet Nam are anti-American.

g. It would be much better if South Viet Nam were made up of Moslems.

h. Dean Rusk is looking forward to his next appearance in front of Sen. Fullbright's Foreign Relations Committee.

THE FOLLOWING are choice questions. Select just one.

1. If it takes 500 B-52 bombers 3,000 tons of bombs to shut down one road from North Viet Nam, it will take the Viet Cong how long to open that road? (a) One week. (b) Five days. (c) 24 hours. (d) They bombed the wrong road.

2. If you can kill 159 Viet Cong in one week, how long will it take to kill every Communist soldier in South Viet Nam? (a) Two years. (b) Five years. (c) Ten years. (d) The rest of this century.

3. The bombing of Haiphong and Hanoi as advocated by some military and Senators would bring about: (a) A better morale situation among the South Vietnamese troops. (b) A new bomb shortage. (c) Student protests. (d) World War III.

4. The reason the U. S. is in so much trouble in South Viet Nam is that: (a) Sen. Morse is against them. (b) Walter Lippman is a dove. (c) President Johnson is doing the best he can. (d) Administration policymakers have tests for college students, but they haven't come up with any for themselves.

Education, Communism Charges Fly In Primary Race Campaigns

By ASSOCIATD PRESS

Education and communism, two guaranteed attention-getters in California politics, made for harsh words over the weekend between Republicans and Democrats.

The recent State Senate Subcommittee on Un-American Activities report alleging fondness by homosexuals and Communists for the state university continued to stir hot debate.

So did a demand by a legislator that the State Board of Education be investigated for allegedly taking a soft line on teaching applicants who might have Red backgrounds.

The lawmaker is Sen. John G. Schmitz, R-Tustin, the only admitted member of the John Birch Society in the legislature. He quietly put in a resolution last week asking that the Un-American committee investigate the State Board of Education.

Schmitz contended the board has told the Education Department's Credentials Committee not to probe possible subversive backgrounds of teaching applicants.

The board president is Thomas W. Braden, who is running for the Democratic nomination for lieutenant governor. He retorted that a John Birch attack didn't surprise him, and called it "a last-minute campaign smear."

He said prospective teachers must take two loyalty oaths, and that the credentials group has full power to probe their background if it receives derogatory reports.

Braden said he is concerned "that this campaign for lieutenant governor should end in a smear against 200,000 California teachers . . ."

The same report sparked strong words Sunday as Gov. Brown attacked GOP gubernatorial hopeful Ronald Reagan's rejected demand that the Burns committee investigate the university in public hearings.

Reagan frowned on having a UC regents committee do the investigating.

Negro GOP Group Fails To Endorse

SANTA MONICA (AP)—The California unit of the National Negro Republican Assembly met this weekend but failed to endorse a gubernatorial candidate for the GOP nomination.

None of the four candidates attracted the necessary two-thirds majority vote required for an endorsement.

George Christopher received 37 votes; Ronald Reagan, 20; Warren M. Dorn, 15; and William Penn Patrick, 10. Only Patrick attended the meeting.

Reagan angrily walked out of an earlier meeting of the group contending Christopher and Patrick had implied he was a bigot.

But the group did endorse lawyer Robert Finch of Los Angeles for the lieutenant governor nomination; Assemblyman Houston I. Flournoy, R-Claremont, for state controller; and Spencer Williams, Santa Clara County counsel for attorney general.

Unruh Would Lower Voting Age To 18

SACRAMENTO (CNS) — Assembly Speaker Jesse M. Unruh, D-Inglewood, said he will push actively next year for a lowering of the voting age in California to 18 years.

Speaking at the University of Washington, in Seattle, Unruh said the average age of the population is growing younger each year and the younger people will change the complexion of government and politics profoundly. As the younger age groups increase, the time will come when presently eligible voters — those over 21 — will be but a minority of the people.

SAIGON PAGODA BARRICADED — Traffic continues past the barbed wire around the Vien Hao Dao Buddhist Center today as Vietnamese climb through and pass bicycles over the barricades. Government Marines surrounded the center after demonstrations and rioting. (UPI Telephoto)

Rebels Give In To Ky; Riots Bother Saigon

Hue Still Defiant; Anti-Red Action Increase Reported

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — The last rebel headquarters in Da Nang surrendered today, giving Premier Nguyen Cao Ky virtually unchallenged control of South Viet Nam's second largest city after eight days of bloodshed.

Some 400 antigovernment soldiers poured out of Da Nang's Tinh Hoi pagoda and gave up their large store of arms without firing a shot. An overwhelming force of marines and 13 armored cars ringed the Buddhist stronghold.

The capitulation came less than 12 hours before expiration of an ultimatum by the junta to declare the rebel soldiers deserters unless they ended the revolt by 6 p.m. About 400 rebels gave up yesterday.

BOOST FOR KY

Ky's success, despite sharp initial U.S. disapproval of his surprise troop movement north, gave the 35-year-old premier a considerable boost in his campaign to retain power and retain control of the Army's First Corps area.

With the tide turned in his favor in Da Nang, Ky also moved his troops against anti-American rioters who set two U.S. military vehicles on fire outside the main Buddhist Institute in Saigon. The troops threw rows of barbed wire around the institute to contain further disorders.

One influential monk, Thien Minh, announced a mass Buddist "march of peace" in Saigon Wednesday. He disassociated the Buddhist leadership from involvement in the rioting. Minh is a lieutenant of Tri Quang, the principal Buddhist leader in the north and reputed architect of the antigovernment campaign.

CURFEW EXTENDED

As a precaution, the U. S. Command extended the nightly curfew for American troops in Saigon from 8:30 p.m. to 6 a.m. Previously the curfew ran from midnight to 5 a.m. American billets near the Buddhist Institute also were evacuated.

The fast-breaking political developments came against a backdrop of increased U.S. and Vietnamese activity against the Viet Cong.

The U.S. First Cavalry, Airmobile, Division reported killing 47 more Viet Cong yesterday in Operation Crazy Horse, bringing the reported enemy toll in seven days of fighting in the central highlands 250 miles northeast of Saigon to 207 Communists.

With somewhat improved weather, U.S. Air Force and Navy planes flew 49 missions against North Viet Nam yesterday.

The Viet Cong struck back by sinking a U.S. Navy "swift" boat with recoilless rifle fire on the Dinh Ba River 20 miles southeast of Saigon. It was the first loss of one of the 50-foot, aluminum-hulled boats. Moderate casualties were reported among the six crew members.

Vietnamese headquarters said government troops killed 59 Communists out of an estimated force of 200 in an operation 33 miles southeast of Saigon, and killed 35 in another sweep in

Youth, 17, Arrested As Marijuana Seller

Drug Found In Girl's Purse

Corte Madera police today arrested a 17-year-old senior at Redwood High School whom they have suspected all year of selling marijuana to students at the school.

The youth was booked into Marin County Juvenile Hall on charges of sales and possession of marijuana after a 15-year-old Corte Madera girl, whose parents found marijuana in her purse Saturday, identified him as source of the drug.

The youth, a resident of Tiburon, was arrested at the high school by police officer Charles E. Newman. The officer said the youth had probably sold more marijuana cigarettes this morning before police arrested him.

IN ROOM

Newman said they placed the boy in an interrogation room in the Corte Madera public safety building, then watched through a one-way window as he took a matchbox from his coat pocket and stuffed it into his right boot.

Officers then rushed into the room and confiscated the matchbox. They found residue of marijuana in the box and in the boy's coat pocket, Newman said. Police said the matchbox is commonly called a "transportation box" and is used for carrying marijuana cigarettes.

Newman said Corte Madera police have heard rumors at the high school all year that the youth was a source of marijuana, but they had no evidence until parents of the Corte Madera girl brought in a cigarette package containing three marijuana reefers Saturday night.

GIRL BOOKED

The parents told officers they found the package while looking through their daughter's purse. The girl was booked in Juvenile Hall on a charge of possession of marijuana.

Interrogated there yesterday by police, she finally admitted buying the marijuana from the youth at the high school Friday. She said she purchased four of the cigarettes for $5, Newman said.

Officer Newman declined to estimate the number of students at the high school who have been using marijuana. The boy has refused to talk, he said, but the investigation will continue.

Newman said the youth would admit only that he has smoked the narcotic. "We believe he is selling it for someone else," Newman said.

Petition Lacking 316 Valid Names

A referndum effort to block a portion of development of Marincello has apparently failed because of lack of sufficient qualified signature on the petition.

County Clerk George H. Gnoss said a check completed Saturday by his elections department disclosed the petitions to force a referendum on the issue contained only 5,774 qualified signatures. This fell 316 short of the needed 6,090.

The petitions bore 6,647 names. Gnoss said many were improperly signed, and many of the signers were not registered voters in Marin County.

However, Maggi Gnau, spokesman for the Golden Gate Headlands Committee which conducted the petition drive, declared today the committee will ask for an extension of the past May 11 deadline to obtain more signatures.

She said the committee also will demand a name-by-name accounting by the elections department of reason for disqualification.

"We will use every legal and technical means at our disposal to determine why we are told there are insufficient names," she declared. "We had hundreds of dedicated people out getting names, and they have a right to know what happened."

Both the headlands group and Gnoss said today they were checking for proper procedure for the deadline extension request.

The petition protests the board of supervisors' approval April 12 of the first road development plan for Marincello, a 2,100-acre tract rezoned to planned community.

If successful, it would block only that single ordinance.

County Counsel Douglas J. Maloney has said there is a serious legal question whether the passing of the road ordinance under attack is even subject to a referendum. He said under law, legislative actions are subject to a referendum, but administration actions are not. He said he tentatively has concluded the ordinance fell in the latter category.

Look Magazine Newsman Dies In Viet Nam

DA NANG, South Viet Nam (AP) — One newsman was killed covering the war against the Communists in Viet Nam during the weekend. Three others were wounded covering the political strife.

BEST REPORTING

Castan, 30, of Brooklyn, N.Y., had covered Viet Nam off and on since 1963. Sigma Delta Chi, the professional journalistic fraternity, awarded him its medal for the best magazine reporting of 1964 for articles on Viet Nam.

Castan, who carried the title senior editor, also had covered fighting in Cyprus and the Dominican Republic. He lived in Hong Kong with his wife, Frances, and an infant daughter.

He was the fifth correspondent to be killed in the Viet Nam war.

THREE WOUNDED

Associated Press correspondent Bob Poos and two other newsmen were wounded yesterday in Da Nang by a grenade thrown by one of the Buddhist-led rebels opposing Premier Nguyen Cao Ky.

Poos, 34, from St. Louis, Mo., said he and other newsmen had gone to the rebel headquarters in a Buddhist pagoda after being summoned to a news conference. "But the conference never materialized, and we sus-

Governor Signs Bill On State Plan Director

SACRAMENTO (AP) — Gov. Brown has signed into law a bill giving the Senate final say over selection of a state planning officer, the governor's office said today.

The bill by Assemblyman James R. Mills, D-San Diego, takes total power for appointment of the planning officer out of the hands of the administration. Previously, the planner was named by the director of finance.

Brown also signed:

A bill allowing state colleges to invest students fees collected for student body centers by Assemblyman Hale Ashcraft, R-Newport Beach.

A bill permitting county sanitation districts to annex lands within water districts by Assemblyman Joe Gonsalves, D-Artesia.

Cranston Asks School Tax Cut

LOS ANGELES (AP) — State Controller Alan Cranston today advocated denying school districts the right to levy property taxes.

Cranston said elimination of the districts' right to tax property, combined with a consolidation of California's 5,700 special districts, could result in cutting property taxes in half.

In a campaign address at Valley State College, Cranston said: "Taking the schools off our property tax bills won't be easy. We will have to replace those revenues by other and more equitable taxes . . ."

He suggested as an alternative a graduated sales tax.

Pope Decries Trouble Tormenting Viet Nam

VATICAN CITY (UPI) — Pope Paul VI, speaking out on Viet Nam for the first time in months, said yesterday "new ruptures must not torment and lacerate still further that devastated country."

The Pontiff spoke while offering his regular Sunday blessing to some 20,000 persons gathered in St. Peter's Square. He had just ended a special audience for workers in St. Peter's Basilica on the 75th anniversary of Pope Leo XIII's encyclical, "Rerum Novarum," on social matters.

LBJ Asks $4 Billion Debt Ceiling Increase

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Treasury asked Congress today to raise the temporary debt ceiling to $332 billion, estimating that this year's budget would go almost $4 billion into the red.

But the staff of the joint committee on internal revenue taxation came up with its own tax revenue estimates that would cut the budget deficit to $2.5 billion and point to a possible budget surplus in the year beginning July 1.

The House Ways and Means Committee heard Secretary of the Treasury Henry H. Fowler and Budget Director Charles L. Schultze behind closed doors.

The committee is expected to report, possibly tomorrow, a bill setting a new debt limit ceiling to replace the $328 billion figure expiring June 30.

Fowler said the treasury is basing its planning on estimates tax collections will total $102.5 billion this year although it is possible collections might be one half billion dollars higher. He estimated spending of $106.4 billion, and a deficit of $3.9 billion.

For next year, Fowler predicted a $1.8 billion deficit. But the joint committee staff projected tax collections to $116.2 billion and said "a budget surplus is suggested in the fiscal year 1967."

It noted, however, that such a surplus would be cut if Congress voted larger expenditures.

The ceiling—which was raised by Congress last year to a temporary $328 billion would drop to the permanent level of $285 billion if Congress fails to act. In the past, Congress has always lifted the ceiling although it sometimes declined to give the administration as much leeway as it requested.

In testimony prepared for a closed-door meeting of the House Ways and Means Committee, Charles L. Schultze, director of the Budget Bureau, said the deficit for the current fiscal year which ends June 30 should total $3.9 billion instead of the $6.4 billion estimated in January.

Mrs. Ray, whose given name is Susan, will be 23 when the wedding is held in Washington's Shrine of the Immaculate Conception. She met Luci three years ago in Washington when Luci's father still was vice president.

Wolden Accused Of Running Office As Private Business

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — The prosecutor in Assessor Russell L. Wolden's bribery trial declared today that Wolden treated the assessor's office "as if he were in a private business — running it for his own profit."

Starting closing arguments, Francis Mayer, chief assistant district attorney, said Wolden used his former aide, Max Newstat, as "a general manager, a collection agent."

Newstat was a key prosecution witness in Wolden's trial on charges that he accepted payments for reducing assessments.

Mayer said Wolden collected $200,000 over and above his salary from 1960 through 1965. He said Newstat collected $60,000 "some of which he gave to Mr. Wolden."

He declared personal property taxes were selected as the vehicle for collecting bribes because these records are secret. Real property assessments are public record.

"This was best demonstrated when this investigation first broke," Mayer said. "Mr. Wolden fought tooth and nail to keep those records secret because without them you couldn't prove a case."

McNamara Reveals His Idealism

By FRED S. HOFFMAN

WASHINGTON (AP) — Since he became secretary of defense, many have viewed Robert S. McNamara as a kind of superefficient man-machine with a computer brain and a soul to match. But in two speeches within five days McNamara displayed a side rarely seen in public.

Before the American Society of Newspaper Editors in Montreal Wednesday, he spoke in an idealistic and philosophic vein as he expounded the thesis that military hardware alone cannot assure security.

Yesterday, before his daughter's graduating class in Pittsburgh, the defense secretary appeared as a defender of "freedom of dissent" — standing up for the right of campus protesters to demonstrate against the Viet Nam war even though, McNamara said, it is clear these actions give comfort to the enemy.

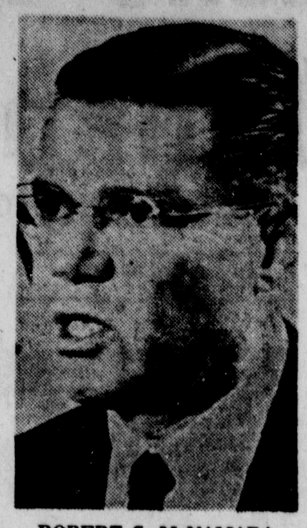
That Chatham College commencement speech — salted with historical and literary quotations and references — demonstrated a sympathy with the concern of some youths that man is becoming dominated by technology. He sought to dispell that fear.

"For many students," McNamara said at one point, "the computer has become the primordial symbol of mass impersonalization.

"It is ironical that this should be so," he continued, "considering the immense quantum of human drudgery — both menial and manual — that the computer has eliminated."

In most of his public appearances, such as the recent televised hearings of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, McNamara appears in the role of defender of his military policies and of U.S. prosecution of the war in Viet Nam.

The country has read and heard his repeated claims that the United States has enough atomic weapons power to blast the Soviet Union and Red China together.



ROBERT S. McNAMARA
Not all machine

It knows McNamara as the management expert — the one-time Ford Motor Co. president who tamed the Pentagon and the quarreling armed services as no other secretary of defense before him could.

Testifying before congressional committees, speaking at news conferences and in other public forums McNamara often gives the impression of being harsh, impersonal, sometimes truculent and even autocratic. His critics call him "Supermac." One House committee has likened him to a Caesar.

He is very much aware of what is written about him, and of the way he comes across on television.

Is he trying to soften his public image?

Perhaps. But his associates insist his Montreal and Pittsburgh speeches were built around themes he long has pondered and that he felt these were proper platforms from which to air them.

In Montreal, the defense secretary told the editors he proposed asking every young person in the United States to give two years of service, either in the military, the Peace Corps, or some volunteer program to better mankind.

This was interpreted by some as a trial balloon looking toward a legislation-based program that would result in a form of universal service.

Later, it became known that McNamara merely was attempting to point up a moral obligation to serve, not any legal obligation, and to stimulate public discussion of this.

At the commencement ceremony, the man whose name has become synominous with the computer told the graduates, "It seems a little premature to worry that the computer is on the verge of replacing the human brain."

But as he extolled the brain as "an utterly incredible computer itself," McNamara betrayed his fascination for statistics.

"Though it weighs only about three pounds," the defense secretary said, "it contains some 10 billion nerve cells, each of which has some 25,000 possible interconnections with other nerve cells."

Bakersfield Quells Negro Area Riot

BAKERSFIELD (AP)—Police called in sheriff's deputies and the California Highway Patrol last night to quell what they termed a major disturbance in a Bakersfield Negro district.

Lt. James Deem of the Bakersfield police said a total of 125 policemen, patrolmen and Kern County sheriff's deputies barricaded the business section of the southeastern Bakerfield district.

Small, disorganized groups of youths, he said, threw bottles and rocks and set fires in trash barrels.

The disturbance followed an argument among Negroes about an automobile accident at Lakeview Avenue and Gorrill Street.

A youth, 17, was shot in the leg by a patrolman at whom he was about to throw a bottle, police said. The wound was superficial, police said, and neither the youth nor the patrolman was named.

Lt. Deem said one deputy was injured when hit by a piece of concrete and one taxi driver was hurt when a bottle was thrown through the window of his vehicle.

The largest fire was at Lakeview Inn, a tavern, where a flammable liquid was ignited in a doorway. It was quickly put out.

Kennedy Lashes Ike Nuclear Idea

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Robert F. Kennedy declared today it "would be a terrible mistake" for the United States to heed former President Dwight D. Eisenhower's suggestion for the possible U.S. transfer of nuclear weapons to European allies.

In an interview, the New York Democrat said "it would be a betrayal of our responsibility, which is greater than any other nation's since we created nuclear weapons, to spread them to other countries."

In separate interviews, Sen. Bourke B. Hickenlooper, R-Iowa, former chairman of the Senate-House Atomic Energy Committee, and Sen. Stuart Symington, D-Mo., former secretary of the Air Force, also voiced objections to the Eisenhower suggestion.

Eisenhower, in a letter made public Saturday by Sen. Henry M. Jackson, D-Wash., and Rep. Ednam F. Kelly. D-N.Y., called for a "drastic" revision of the Atomic Energy Act that banned the transfer of nuclear weapons to other nations.

The former commander of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization wrote that he feels "we should seek authority to sell appropriate nuclear weapons to other governments, under special conditions and arrangements — to be approved by the NATO organization — that could operate effectively in the defense of Europe."

But Hickenlooper said he is "against selling or delivery of nuclear weapons to any other nation" and added: "Just as a bald proposition I would be against it."

Symington said he thinks the Soviet Union would respond to any U.S. transfer of nuclear weapons by pulling out of negotiations for a proposed nonproliferation treaty.

Hickenlooper called for amplification of Eisenhower's proposal. Jackson said a Senate Government Operations subcommittee he heads will go deeper into the matter in pursuing its current inquiry into NATO policies.

"This nuclear problem is one that we are deeply concerned about," Jackson said, "because rightly or wrongly much of the (NATO) trouble involves it. My own view is that we should be very slow to make any changes in the basic system under which we are operating."

Kennedy said he doubts that the NATO allies, including West Germany, would want the kind of nuclear proliferation inherent in Eisenhower's suggestion.

Eisenhower did not mention Germany in connection with nuclear weapons. But he said that to make up for the French withdrawal of forces from NATO, "other nations, more specially the Federal Republic of Germany, should be encouraged to develop more military power."

Kennedy noted that any transfer of nuclear weapons to European countries "would tend to complicate our relations with India and Pakistan and with Israel and Egypt."

"This suggestion does not go to the heart of the problem of what we and our allies will be facing in the 1970 — what the next generation of Americans will be facing," he said.

"Our efforts in the long-term vital interests of peace for mankind should be to restrict the spread of nuclear weapons, not encourage it."

LBJ Home May Become Landmark

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson's boyhood home in Johnson City, Tex., may become a registered national historic landmark.

Secretary of the Interior Stewart L. Udall announced today the one-story farm house has been declared eligible for designation as a historic landmark. To do so, Udall said, Blanco County, Tex., owner of the home, must apply or such designation.

Sites recognized under this program are registered by the National Park Service but are not administered by it. Upon application the service presents the owner a certificate and bronze plaque.

SNCC Defers Integration For Politics

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — Negroes should forget about integration and instead work to improve their lot by organizing political parties, said the new national chairman of the Student Nonviolent Coordinating Committee.

"We feel that integration is irrelevant," said SNCC's Stokely Carmichael in an interview his Atlanta office.

"We have got to go after political power."

Carmichael, 24, said Negroes must organize their own parties because they have been denied real participation in both major political parties.

Failure of third-party efforts, he said, would "be like the last straw in terms of doing things peacefully."

Negroes, Carmichael said, will achieve nothing unless they can build a political power base —at the local level, whether in a rural Southern county or in a Northern ghetto.

The trouble with integration efforts, he said, is that the Negro is going around begging for something.

"And all we've got is scars," he said.

"SNCC has to give the Negroes across the country something that they don't have to beg for," he said.

Creed Revision Before Presbyterian Leaders

BOSTON (AP) — Determination to resist an asserted modern breakdown in sexual standards is voiced in a proposed new creed being considered today by the United Presbyterian Church.

The church must "lead men and women into the full meaning of life together" and offer "the compassion of Christ" to "those caught in the moral confusion of our time," says the new declaration of convictions.

Up for action at the 3.3-million-member denomination's governing General Assembly, it is the first creedal revision for the United Presbyterian Church in the U.S.A. in 317 years. The revision seeks to apply Christ's reconciling message to current issues.

Threatening relationships between nations, between races and between rich and poor are cited, in addition to the section about sex.

"Anarchy in sexual relationships is a symptom of man's alienation from God, his neighbor and himself," the document says.

"Man's perennial confusion about the meaning of sex has been aggravated in our day by the availability of new means for birth control and the treatment of infection, by the pressures of urbanization, by the exploitation of sexual symbols in mass communications and by world overpopulation.

"The Church, as the household of God, is called to lead men out of this alienation into the responsible freedom of the new life in Christ."

A leading British churchman told about 2,200 Christians of various denominations at the gathering last night that the ecumenical movement is neglecting "one of the most extraordinary features" of modern religious life—the Pentecostal groups.

Pentecostals, who emphasize the work of the Holy Spirit, sometimes manifested by "speaking in tongues," number about 6 million in this country.

Sterilization Ordered After Dope Conviction

SANTA BARBARA, Calif. (UPI) —A 21-year-old mother of two goes to jail today because she refused to submit to sterilization as a condition of probation on a misdemeanor offense.

Mrs. Nancy Hernandez, a shy brunette of Mexican-American descent who pleaded guilty to a charge of being in a room where marijuana was present, was offered probation if she would agree to sterilization. When she refused, she was ordered to serve a six-month term in county jail.

Municipal Judge Frank P. Kearney, who stiuplated the terms for probation, gave no reason for his decision. His only comment was "nothing novel—legally, medically, or sociologically."

Mrs. Hernandez attorney, Louis Renga saw it differently.

"The order is unreasonable, capricious, illegal and unconstitutional," Renga declared. He said he would file for a writ of habeas corpus immediately if Mrs. Hernandez were jailed.

At first, Mrs. Hernandez agreed verbally to be sterilized but she later balked at signing the authorization papers and the jail sentence was imposed.

Last year in Santa Barbara the unmarried parents of nine children both agreed to be sterilized after they had been brought to court on charges of defrauding the Welfare Department of $2,315.

Mrs. Hernandez was arrested April 14, in the apartment she shared with her common-law husband, Joe Sanchez, 22, who was booked on felony charges of possessing marijuana.

Mrs. Hernandez, whose daughters are three months and two years, said she planned to marry Sanchez as soon as her divorce from her present husband was final.

According to her attorney, the probation department recommended she be given probation.

Airman Stab Suspect Tells Of Drunkenness

A/1c James O. Young, testifying today at his court martial for stabbing to death a fellow airman at Hamilton Air Force Base, described his condition at a drinking party the time of the killing as "to the point of being blowed out of my mind."

Young is charged with the first degree murder of A/1c Robert M. Jennings during an argument at a Christmas Eve party at the base.

To a question from trial officer Lt. Col. Arnold C. Castle, Young admitted the murder knife entered the chest of Jennings while it was still in Young's hand.

Immediately on this admission, Castle ordered the withdrawal of a confession to voluntary manslaughter which Young had entered the first day of the trial and which had been allowed to stay in abeyance.

Young, who took the stand at 11 a.m., described his drunken condition during the party and said he could not remember leaving to get the knife or the gun and confronting Jennings with them.

Recalling his early life, Young said when he was 15, his father died and he had to take over running the family household.

At this point, Young's mother, Mrs. Cecil Smejkal, broke down and sobbed for the first time since the trial began.

Dr. John H. Manwaring, a San Rafael pathologist, estimated that the alcohol content of Young's blood at the time of the killing was .25 of on per cent. Some hours later, when a sample was taken, the blood content was .15, he said.

northernmost Quang Tri Province.

Among the government's opponents captured in Da Nang was the city's mayor, Dr. Nguyen Van Man, who was considered a prime mover in the revolt. Ky threatened to execute Man as a Communist plotter last month but later backed away from the threat.

The commander of Ky's Da Nang task force, Brig. Gen. Du Quoc Dong, said the physician-mayor had been taken when he tried to flee the pagoda. He was flown to Saigon.

Ky still faced major opposition in Hue, the other Buddhist power center 50 miles northwest of Da Nang, and in Saigon itself.

Twenty civilian and military leaders in Hue issued a proclamation charging the junta with using "terrorism, bombing and slaughter" to repress the people of the northern provinces and establish dictatorial rule over them. They also said they would boycott a national congress in Saigon tomorrow called by the government to discuss the country's deep political divisions.

Ky gave no indication whether he would move against Hue, where the Buddhist-controlled radio has been predicting a government invasion since the premier sent 2,500 loyal marines and paratroops to Da Nang eight days ago.

Two hours of anti-American rioting erupted in Saigon outside the main Buddhist Institute after a mysterious shot killed a Vietnamese private as a U.S. military convoy passed by. Egged on by shouts that the Americans had killed the soldier, a mob of youths burned a U.S. military truck and a Jeep.

The riot was the first big display of anti-Americanism since Buddhist monks led their youthful supporters on nightly rampages through Saigon for a week last month in support of Buddhist demands for a civilian government.

Marin City Washington Trip Dropped

County Supervisor Peter H. Behr was unable to get an appointment with Robert Weaver, secretary of Housing and Urban Development, and postponed a trip to Washington planned for today.

The supervisor's business trip to New York was also cancelled.

Supervisors two weeks ago authorized Behr to take a side trip from New York to Washington to see if Weaver would authorize a low-interest, federal housing authority loan for a shopping center in Marin City.

The Department of Housing and Urban Development withdrew authorization early this month. Behr said today he would probably be unable to take the trip until after June 7.

Bruce Concludes McKee Complying On Race Clause

County Administrator Alan Bruce has concluded that Robert E. McKee General Contractor, Inc., is in compliance with the minority hire clause in the Hall of Justice contract.

In a letter to the board of supervisors, to be discussed tomorrow, Bruce also concludes that the project is not a major source of employment and does not have sufficient base in various job and skill classifications to provide long-term on-the-job apprenticeships.

His report says that at the end of last week, three of a work force of 24 were Negroes. These are members of the Laborers' Union.

Perjury Charge Against Novatan

Neal Andrew Clayton, 29, of 5410 Redwood Highway, Novato, was scheduled to be arraigned in Marin Municipal Court this afternoon on a charge of perjury arising from his drunken driving trial last month.

Clayton was booked at Marin County jail Saturday and released by Municipal Court Judge Alvin H. Goldstein Jr.

The charge, filed by the district attorney's office, alleges that Clayton denied under oath in municipal court that he was the driver of a car which struck a tree at Green Way and Belle Avenue in San Rafael last Dec. 17. Clayton ways convicted of drunken driving by a jury April 22 and sentenced last Thursday.

pected that something was wrong," he said.

"We left the pagoda with its military and civilian defenders around it. We crossed the line of Buddhist dissidents who were dug in and manning machine-gun positions. They stared at us grimly as we went by, shouting our call, "Bao chi, bao chi" (press).

"We turned around and saw the rebel rifles and machine guns aimed straight at our backs. We walked on with chill in our spines. Then someone shouted a command and firing burst out. We ran for cover into adjacent courtyards.

DIFFICULT TO HIDE

Water storage tanks have been coming in for criticism lately, with residents calling them unsightly. Marin Municipal Water District makes every attempt to beautify them, planting pine and fir trees around, but it is practically impossible to completely conceal the tanks. Some tanks are painted an olive green, and others a sandy brown, evidently on the theory that they'll blend in with surrounding hills for at least half the year. This tank is located in Greenbrae.

Struck Rails Get Break From Court

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court ruled today a struck railroad may make "reasonably necessary" changes in work conditions to keep operating, provided the changes are strictly limited and under court supervision.

The 7-1 decision, announced by Justice William O. Douglas, affirmed the ruling by the U.S. Circuit Court in New Orleans last July that the Florida East Coast Railway may, under the eye of a federal court in Jacksonville, make "reasonably necessary" changes to keep operating.

The decision covers one part of the dispute in the longest strike in the history of the American railroad industry. The walkout started Jan. 23, 1963.

Eleven nonoperating unions struck the railroad over two principal issues, a pay increase and the giving of notices for layoffs and elimination of certain job categories.

Most train employees refused to cross picket lines and the road was shut down for 11 days. Florida East Coast then resumed freight operations with supervisory personnel and nonstriking workers. It restored passenger service last August.

Tiburon Traffic Law

The Tiburon City Council will meet tonight at 8 o'clock in Del Mar School to consider adoption of a uniform traffic ordinance. It will also discuss summer employment of an administrative assistant intern for the city staff and extension of thei nterim zoning ordinance.

Slayer Sought After Family 'Torture Trip'

MARION, Ind. (AP) — A murder charge was filed today against a missing Marion man after the dismembered body of Larry Lee Schmidt, 50, was found in the basement of the Schmidt home. In Tennessee, Schmidt's widow said the killer held her and two children captive on a 16-day "trip of torture" through four states.

Police Chief Ted Null filed the murder charge against Glenn Stewart, 30, in the death of Schmidt.

Stewart formerly lived in Arkadelphia, Ark., and is believed to have gone to that area.

Mrs. Louise Schmidt, 25, told Sheriff Joe Cummings at Sparta, Tenn., that the killer stabbed her husband fatally April 30, then dismembered his body and tossed it into the basement.

Mrs. Schmidt said the man held her in the home for two days, then forced her and her two children to travel with him through Illinois and Missouri to Arkansas, where they stayed two weeks in a swampy woods near Arkadelphia.

Police found Schmidt's body in the basement Sunday.

Mrs. Schmidt, a dark-haired woman, talked to newsmen today at her parents' frame home in a farming area of White County. She said the ordeal ended last Thursday when she and her children escaped, one by one, as the captor slept. She refused to say if she was raped.

"I waited (until Sunday) to talk to the sheriff because I was scared," she said. "I should have done something before now, but I couldn't take a chance on hurting those children."

She said she and the children — Nancy, 8, and Jimmy, 6 — caught a bus in Arkadelphia and traveled to her parents' home.

During the stay in Arkansas, Mrs. Schmidt said she and her children survived on potatoes bought by her captor. "We drank swamp water," she said.

Year In Jail Given For Theft

Judge Samuel W. Gardiner of Marin Superior Court today gave Archie Joe Fields, 28, a year's term in county jail — with nine months suspended— and placed him on two years' probation for grand theft.

Fields, part-time Sausalito bookkeeper residing at Del Monte Hotel, 7 Excelsior Lane, pleaded guilty Friday to taking over $200 from Sausalito Pharmacy, 701 Bridgeway, during a period of 12 months ending last Sept. 1.

Greyhound Bus Strike Goes Into Ninth Day

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)— The Western Greyhound strike went into its ninth day today with little prospect of an early settlement in sight.

Federal mediators met with Greyhound management and representatives of the Amalgamated Transit Union in Washington, D.C., yesterday, but reported that "no further progress" had been made. Another session was scheduled for today.

The Federal Mediation and Conciliation Service has held separate and joint sessions with the two sides daily since Wednesday.

The strike has idled about 5,000 bus drivers and ticket clerks in 11 western states. The walkout has hit San Francisco Bay Area bus commuters particularly hard, forcing about 16,000 persons to find other means of transportation to work.

Controversy Discussions, Book Complaint Talk Set

The San Rafael Board of Education, meeting tomorrow at Terra Linda High School, will be asked to adopt two significant policy statements.

Board members will convene at 7:30 p.m. in room 52 of the high school, home of a new reading laboratory, but will move soon after to the library and conduct most of their business there.

One of the proposed policy statements, which was submitted jointly two weeks ago by two committees, would encourage free discussion of controversial issues, but set up guidelines for handling them. The other would set up a new system for handling complaints on books or other teaching materials.

The board declined to pass the first one then, because it was the members' first look at it. They sent the second back for a preamble saying it does not bar parents from talking to teachers before filing a formal complaint.

A third policy statement, on complaints about teachers or administrators, will be discussed also, but its adoption will not be called for until some later meeting.

Board members are expected to award a contract to add four classrooms to Santa Venetia School, and to consider urging the San Rafael City Council to pass an ordinance requiring developers to sell land for school sites to the city at cost. Such ordinances are permitted under a new state law.

They also will consider a request from the city that the schools pay an extra $1,636—to be split between the high school and elementary districts — toward the city recreation program.

Two teachers are scheduled to be hired. Resignations of two others will be submitted.

To be hired are Marcia Arevalo, to teach high school girls physical education, and Mrs. Valentine Sweger, to supervise a high school reading laboratory, both at $6,410 yearly.

Mrs. Alberta Baker and Mrs. Caryl North are to be hired as home high school teachers, at $6 per hour.

Resignations are those of Santa Venetia School languages teacher Cecil Shelley and San Rafael High School art teacher Farhad Moezzi. Moezzi has taken a job with College of Marin at a lesser salary than he now makes.

Lung Wash Technique Described To Doctors

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — A technique of washing out lungs of persons suffering from a disease that interferes with breathing was described today at a medical convention.

Successful use of the treatment was reported by Dr. Jose Ramirez-R., of the research staff of the Veterans Administration Hospital, Baltimore, Md.

Dr. Ramirez-R. addressed the National Tuberculosis Association and its medical section, the American Thoracic Society.

Dr. Ramirez-R. told of the successful treatment of five cases of the disease in which protein material, rich in fats as well as protein, clogs the air sacs of the lung.

The lung washing is done by flushing out one lung with a special solution while the patient breathes pure oxygen with the other.

The patients were given a light general anaesthesia. A lung catheter with two tubes—one for each lung—was inserted through the mouth. Both lungs were ventilated with pure oxygen to replace nitrogen in the air sacs.

The tube supplying the lung to be washed then was clamped. The oxygen was absorbed into the lung capillaries, leaving the lung almost empty of gas. The clamp was removed and the patient inhaled and exhaled a fluid which washed the debris out of the air sacs with each breath while the other lung was supplied with oxygen.

Any fluid remaining in the lung was drained out by gravity or removed by bronchial suction.

Berkeley Has Top Graduate School Rating

WASHINGTON (UPI)—In a move that is sure to infuriate some old grads throughout the nation, the American Council of Education has graded U.S. graduate schools.

The council found that the University of California at Berkeley now has the best graduate school in the nation, edging Harvard (the old No. 1) on the basis of the quality of its engineering school.

The study, made public during the weekend, gave California a "distinguished" rating in five general categories—humanities, social sciences, biological sciences, physical sciences and engineering. Harvard and Stanford were rated distinguished in four categories; Yale, Michigan, Columbia, Princeton, Illinois and California Institute of Technology in three; and Chicago M.I.T. and Wisconsin in two.

Pike Tells Plan To Think, Teach

PRINCETON, N.J. (AP) — Bishop James A. Pike, the controversial bishop of the Episcopal Diocese of California who recently announced he would resign, described his post yesterday as "largely like that of a corporation president."

The bishop, who plans to join the Center for the Study of Democratic Institutions in Santa Barbara, Calif., in September, told a Princeton University audience his resignation meant he could now "do what bishops are supposed to do . . . think and teach the faith."

The bishop, who has been accused of heresy on several occasions, reiterated his views on the nonsupernatural nature of God and said he did not believe that Christ was God incarnate—a belief basic to Christianity.

School Site Dedication Talk Slated

The Novato Planning Commission tonight will discuss a proposed city ordinance amendment to require dedication of school sites within large subdivisions.

The commission meets at 8 p.m. at the community hall.

The ordinance would implement a section of state law known as the "Kirk Law" because it was proposed by former Novato Unified School District Trustee William H. Kirk.

The commission will also consider Marin Master Builders' tentative map of Hidden Horse Canyon subdivision of 79 lots on 24 acres at Carnoustie Drive and Fairway Drive in Marin Country Club, and changes in the Loma Verde master plan to delete an elementary school site, permit townhouse development, and change the street pattern slightly.

Other items on the agenda include division of 43 acres in San Marin into three plots for Sunset International Petroleum Corp., a lot split by William Napier on the east side of Simmons Lane, south of Novato Creek, a use permit for a convalescent hospital planned by William Napier at Hill Road and Indian Valley Road.

Turnout Light In Second Draft Deferment Test

WASHINGTON (AP) —Some school officials say the light turnout for the second session of the draft deferment quiz may be a result of draft director Lewis B. Hershey's statement that few collegians actually will be drafted.

About 250,000 students had been expected to take Saturerably fewer showed up at testing centers in all 50 states, Puerto Rico and the Panama Canal Zone.

At the first session May 14, about 400,000 students took the three-hour, 150-question test.

But Lt. Gen. Hershey, Selective Service director, told areporter last week in Dallas, Tex., that few if any college students will be drafted unless the monthly draft quota jumps over 30,000 men.

TAKING NO CHANCES — Robert Vaughn, of television's "The Man from U.N.C.L.E.," appeared slightly skeptical (right) as he held a box of candy handed him at a Kentfield garden party he attended in support of William M. Bennett (left), candidate for Democratic nomination for state attorney general. Inside the box was a note: "A Present from T.H.R.U.S.H." so Vaughn ordered it put on ice until it could be checked out by Control. (Independent-Journal photo)

CAB Believes Air Fare Cuts Due

NEW YORK (AP)—The Civil Aeronautics Board indicated today it would insist that the airlines reduce fares early next year if they do not do so voluntarily.

The CAB chairman, Charles S. Murphy, said the fare reduction should apply both in the domestic and in the international areas.

In a talk before the Federation of Financial Analysts, Murphy said he hoped it would be possible to bring about lower air fares on an informal basis, so that a general investigation of fares could be avoided.

"The formal procedures available to the board for bringing about changes in airline fares are rather cumbersome and ineffective," Murphy said.

"This industry is too dynamic and moves too fast for procedures and proceedings—the duration if which is measured in terms of years—to be the best way to keep its fares in a line with changing conditions and requirements."

Murphy said that during the past year the CAB and the airlines have been re-examining their policies regarding fares in the light of increases in traffic and the resulting improved earnings—an 11.5 per cent rate of return on investment for 1965, after eliminating the investment tax credit.

He noted that this re-examination has resulted in some substantial reductions in fares, most of them in the form of promotional fares designed to generate new traffic. He said that in the domestic market, the promotional fares will provide savings to the traveling public of many millions of dollars.

Murphy identified as the major promotional fares cut-rate and round trip excursion fares at a discount from the jet coach fare.

The youth fares, the excursion fares and the surcharges or extra fares on jet aircraft, put into effect last August, all are due to end next Dec. 31.

Little Floor Action On Tap For Congress

By WILLIAM F. ARBOGAST

WASHINGTON (AP) — Little floor action is expected this week in Congress but its committees will continue to grind away at legislation that may keep senators and House members in Washington until early fall.

Leaders now are hoping for adjournment by October, a month before the congressional elections.

Major committee activity this week centers on the Senate and House Foreign Affairs committees. The Senate committee gets a closed briefing today from State and Defense Department officials. Both committees resume consideration Tuesday of the annual foreign aid bill.

Legislation to regulate traffic in cats and dogs used for experimental purposes will come before the Senate Commerce Committee tomorrow.

Two Senate committees, Judiciary and Government Operations, have scheduled hearings on use of the hallucinatory drug LSD.

The House Government Operations Committee will delve into such matters as drug safety, personality testing of government employes and creation of a department of transportation.

The House Judiciary Committee resumes hearings tomorrow on new civil rights legislation, while the Ways and Means Committee starts hearings today on the administration's request for an increase in the national debt limit.

Seaman Strike Brings Emergency In Britain

LONDON (AP)—A state of emergency was proclaimed in Britain today, giving the government sweeping powers to keep essential supplies flowing during the national maritime strike.

The proclamation was signed at Buckingham Palace by Queen Elizabeth II and read shortly afterward in the House of Commons.

Prime Minister Harold Wilson told the House the first move by the government was to assume powers to put ceiling prices on food.

So far there has been no sense of emergency in the nation as a result of the week-old strike of the 65,000-member National Union of Seamen. Food prices are only a few pennies higher. But the port of London now is almost choked with strike-bound shipping, and the government moved before the situation could degenerate into widespread shortage.

The emergency proclamation gives ministers power to commandeer private transport, put the armed forces to work unloading and moving ships, and almost any other measure the government feels necessary to prevent the strike from crippling the economy. The last time the government made such a proclamation was in the 1955 dock strike.

Viet War End Asked By Man From UNCLE

Television star Robert Vaughn, the "Man from UNCLE," whose chief enemies are usually THRUSH agents, came out with all guns blazing Saturday against American involvement in Viet Nam.

It happened during a pause in autograph signing at a garden party at which he was guest of honor at the Kentfield home of William M. Bennett, seeker of the Democratic nomination for state attorney general.

Vaughn said he had been campaigning for Bennett since he met him at a conference in February and learned he was "a candidate advocating cessation of the Viet Nam war."

He said, "I feel strongly that what is happening in Viet Nam right now is just another indication President Johnson and Defense Secretary McNamara have never had the backing of the people over there.

"There will never be free elections in that war-torn country until we can be assured they go the way we want them," he said in an interview with the Independent-Journal. "Everyone has been brought in on the peace moves except the Viet Cong. No one has yet approached the Viet Cong people."

The New York-born actor was wearing a PT 109 tiepin presented him by Sen. Robert Kennedy.

Contrary to rumors earlier this year that he might enter politics and challenge state controller Alan Cranston, Vaughn said he had no aspirations for public office.

"When the 'Man from UNCLE' is finished I would be quite happy to make movies for the rest of my life," he said.

"Although," he laughed as he was surrounded again by a group of young fans, "the Democrats could use a few actor-politicians too."

Clam Eater Gets Resuscitation

Bolinas volunteer firemen were called to the Jess Teixeira Ranch on Bolinas Mesa at 5:45 p.m. yesterday to give resuscitation to a San Leandro man who had been eating clams, became ill and reportedly had no pulse beat.

Dr. Leslie R. Webber of Point Reyes Station was also called, and shortly afterwards, Manuel Faria, 63, rallied.

Marin County Health Department said today that, although mussels are quarantined, clams are not, but the dark meat of clams can cause illness.

Man Found Dead In Car In Belvedere

Ralph K. Forsyth, a 52-year-old retired naval commander who lived alone in an apartment at 530 Canal Street, San Rafael, apparently shot himself to death today in his car parked in Belvedere, Asst. Coroner William C. Bradley reported.

His body was found by Police Officer William Brust of Belvedere in the car parked on Bella Vista Road at 1:50 a.m.

According to Bradley, Forsyth had placed the barrel of a rifle in his mouth and triggered it with his right hand.

Forsyth left no note either in the car or at his apartment. He had been under psychiatric care for two years, said Bradley.

He had sold an insurance brokerage firm in San Francisco about two years ago and spent most of his time working on his boat, tied up near his apartment.

Bradley was today trying to locate relatives, including two sisters reported to live in the Bay Area. Forsyth was divorced.

Nurses Stay Out Of Work In New York

NEW YORK (UPI) —Some 350 public health nurses failed to report to work today as a demonstration of their determination to obtain the same 20 per cent pay boost obtained last week by senior city hospital nurses.

A check od eight city health centers shortly after the 9 a.m. EDT hour for reporting to duty, showed that only one nurse and two supervisors had appeared for work. The situation at other centers was similar.

About 75 per cent of the city's 482 public health nurses had submitted their resignations effective at 12:01 a.m. EDT. Their action threatened a shutdown of New York's 191 public health facilities which provide thousands of New Yorkers with free medical aid daily.

No negotiations have been held since contract talks were broken off Saturday with nurses charging that the city had "double-crossed" them.

Mayor John V. Lindsay indicated yesterday he would stand firm on a city offer of a $350 hike—only one-third of the $1,050 the public health nurses demand to remain equal in pay with hospital head nurses.

Coleman School Building YMCA Office Suggested

A plan to put an office of the YMCA in the old Coleman School building at 1711 Grand Avenue will be before the San Rafael Planning Commission when it meets at 7:30 p.m. tomorrow at city hall.

It will be the fourth plan for the property in two years and the second this year. Previous ones have met with stiff opposition from residents of the area and have been turned down by the city.

Unlike the others, however, this proposal calls for no change in zoning of the property, which was used for several years by the county after it ceased to be a school. A use permit is all that is asked.

Commissioners also will consider a permit for the latest would-be home of the San Rafael Cooperative Nursery School. The school must vacate its present rent-free quarters on the campus of San Rafael High School, and its officers hope to end a year of searching by locating at 2152 Fifth Avenue.

Item one on the agenda will be a continuation of the second hearing on a proposed amendment to the city zoning ordinance which would create a "planned unit development" district.

After that, commissioners will review the tentative maps of the 24-lot Dollar View Estates between Coleman and Graceland drives on the side of San Rafael Hill, and of the seven-lot Loch Lomond Unit Nine. The commission will later consider a permit and plans for two medical buildings in the Loch Lomond Marina, at 221 and 225 Loch Lomond Drive.

Grandmother Blamed For Battered Child

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—A 13-year-old girl, underweight, shrunken and suffering from an incredible collection of broken bones, told police today she had been kept prisoner in her grandmother's Bakersfield home "for a very long time."

The child, Marion Delores Green, is in San Francisco General Hospital. She is about the size of an 8-year-old, weighs about 60 pounds and has broken ribs, fingers and possibly a fractured spine, police authorities said.

Marion told police she had been kept in solitary confinement in the attic of her grandmother's house, wasn't allowed to go to school, had only a blanket on which to sleep and was not allowed to use toilet facilities.

She was brought here over the weekend by her mother, Mrs. Martha Green. Mrs. Green took the child to a doctor, who ordered hospitalization and called holice.

Mrs. Green said she had been unable to take care of the child and had sent her to live with her grandmother, Mrs. Martha Robinson. She returned for Marion when a stepdaughter warned her that Marion "was in bad shape and might die," Mrs. Green said. She said her daughter appeared to be in good health eight months ago when she visited the child.

San Francisco police asked the Bakersfield sheriff's office to investigate. Marion told officers that her "grandma" took care of other children, but she didn't t hink they were maltreated.

Officers said it was apparent the girl had been starved and beaten, probably with a fire stoker.

Lester L. Garrett, 44, of Orangevale, Sacramento County, suffered a back injury when he was thrown from his motorcycle on Shoreline Highway, three miles south of Tomales, at 5:45 p.m. Saturday.

Garrett told California Highway Patrol officers all he knew was that one moment he was riding along and the next he was "in the trees." He was reported in "satisfactory" condition today at Petaluma General Hospital.

THE PEOPLE'S SCHOOLS

CTA Misses Important Reason Why School Bond Issues Fail

School boards, educators, and many citibens are placing great hope for the future of school finance measures in a constitutional amendment to reduce the affirmative vote necessary for passing school bond measures from 66⅔ to 60 per cent.

Figures prepared by the State Department of Education show that in a four-year period, fiscal 1961 through fiscal 1964, more California school bond issues were lost with less than a 60 per cent vote than with a vote between 60 per cent and two-thirds.

The state's figures show that 623 school bond issues were passed during the four years, and 264 were rejected. Of the latter, 125 received over 60 per cent favorable vote but fell shy of the 66⅔ per cent required. But 139 fell below the 60 per cent that would be required under the proposed amendment.

THESE figures tell only part of the story. It is customary for school districts, when a bond issue fails, to try again with either the same proposal or a pared-down one.

Most of the issues that fell between 60 and 66⅔ per cent favorable vote on the first try are passed on the second attempt, so they show up again in the figures of bond issues passed.

Of those that fail to muster a 60 per cent favorable vote the first time out, few are approved on succeeding tries unless they are sharply reduced in size.

A survey by the California Teachers Assn. last month showed that during the current fiscal year, only 55 per cent of bond elections have been successful.

Moreover, votes on increasing the "general purpose operating" tax rate limit in school districts have been faring badly of late — and these require only a simple majority for passage.

The CTA reports that during the first nine months of the current fiscal year, only 44 per cent of school tax elections were successful in Southern California, 64 per cent in Central California, and 62 per cent in Northern California.

The teachers' organization presents a familiar list of reasons for the resistance of the voters to school tax and bond measures:

THE FACT that it is in these that the voter gets a chance to exercise his veto power on public spending; that "absolute necessity" for more school funds is not now so apparent as when the postwar baby boom first hit the schools; that "extremist conservative groups" fight school finance measures; that retired persons on fixed incomes "are feeling the pinch" and:

"People opposing an issue, almost always a small minority, usually get to the polls, while those who favor it never seem to turn out in great numbers."

This last is so much hogwash. People have been turning out in larger numbers for school tax and bond elections in recent years — and turning them down. A decade ago, nearly eight out of 10 of these passed in California — often with voter turnouts below 20 per cent.

The CTA, in its Education News Service, also added a new explanation: "There's increased voter resentment based on a conviction that the state is not meeting its proportionate obligation for school support."

THIS IS a piece of wishful thinking by the school people. The public is mostly unaware of what share the state does bear; and because the formulas for state aid to schools are so ridiculously complicated, it's impossible to explain them so the public can understand.

There may be other reasons why the public is becoming increasingly stingy with money for schools.

Jesse Burkhead, professor of economics at Syracuse University, suggests in his "Public School Finance: Economics and Politics" (a much more readable volume than the title indicates) that school boards and educators have failed to "sell" schools' needs because they have refused to invite and encourage citizen participation in operation of the school system.

"If additional fiscal support is to be forthcoming," he says, "the answer is inescapable — citizen involvement in school affairs cannot be restricted to attendance at the annual parent's night sponsored by the PTA."

Francis Keppel, assistant secretary of health, education and welfare, puts it another way in his provocative new book, "The Necessary Revolution in American Education." Says Keppel:

"The public image of the (education) profession to many has been: Give us more money but do not tell us what to do with it . . . No profession deserves that much trust from the public."

Honors For Seniors

Past presidents of the Marin Senior Assn. and members who are 80 or more years old will be honored when the group meets at noon Friday at the San Rafael Recreation Center, Second and Brooks streets.

Hotel-Motel Room Tax On Supervisors Agenda

A hotel-motel room tax, Marincello, the minority hiring clause in the Hall of Justice contract and a program for treatment of alcoholics are just a few of the topics facing county supervisors tomorrow.

The meeting will begin at 9 a.m. at the Civic Center.

At 9:15 a.m., supervisors are to discuss County Administrator Alan Bruce's recommendation for study of a proposed health and welfare administration agency.

Soon after that, the board will discuss an application for $5,876 in state money to finance development of a program for the care of alcoholics in Marin.

Later in the morning, the board will discuss the suggestion of a "status certification" to be filed by special districts to make sure tenure and oath of district boards are current and proper.

Still later on the morning agenda, Bruce will report that contractor Robert E. McKee, putting up the Hall of Justice addition to the Civic Center, appears now to be complying with the minority hiring clause in the contract.

At 1:45 p.m., soon after the board convenes, the hotel-motel tax will be discussed, along with Supervisor Ernest N. Kettenhofen's recommendation that proceeds from such a tax support the promotion and development budget.

At 3:45 p.m. discussion of the Marincello referendum petition is scheduled. County Counsel Douglas J. Maloney is expected to make a recommendation at that time.

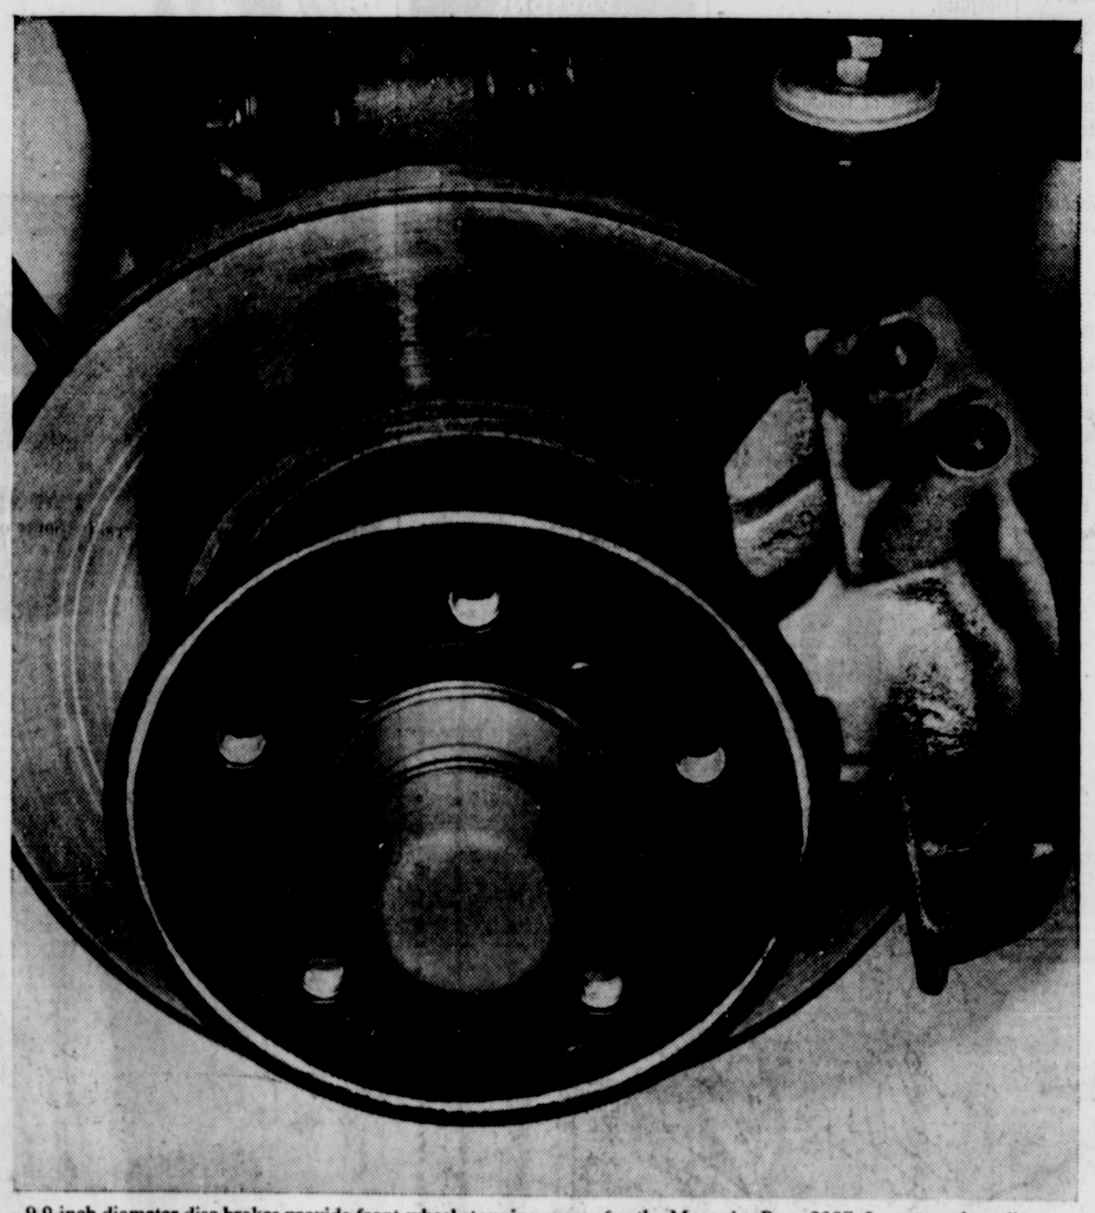
Handicapped Job Statistics Told

An average of 175 out of every 10,000 residents of Marin County are persons with handicaps who want jobs but are unemployed, according to Ken Olson, executive directer of Goodwill Industries.

Olson said his figures were based on the latest data from the U.S. Department of Labor.

"We can provide the most severely disabled people of this community with what we call sheltered employment," he said, "but because the number of handicapped people is so great we must think in terms of moving as many as possible through the training program and on into normal jobs in commerce and industry.

How the Mercedes-Benz 230S takes the panic out of panic stops



The most powerful part of the 230S is its brakes; big disc brakes in front, turbo-cooled drum brakes at the rear. No swerve, no fade. And dual circuit brake lines add extra security. Read more about the 230S—a car that puts performance before gaudy glitter.

9.9-inch diameter disc brakes provide front-wheel stopping power for the Mercedes-Benz 230S. In a stop, the caliper at right grips the revolving disc—with efficiency unimpaired by heat build-up from repeated use, or by water.

To Mercedes-Benz engineers, cutting brake efficiency to cut costs would be intolerable. They insisted on costlier 9.9-inch disc brakes for the front wheels of the 230S—where 70% of the car's weight is thrown in stopping.

The result: you could make repeated "panic" stops from 80 mph without panic. And you always have more braking power than you need.

An efficient machine

At $4900, the 230S repays your investment with extra performance—not extraneous styling fads. Disc brakes are only one example. There are dozens more in this efficient machine.

For instance, you ride on 4-ply super premium grade tires. An American automotive journalist gives the reason: "Mercedes-Benz engineers have one quaint notion. If the car will run indefinitely at 90 mph, the tires should do the same."

Hand-assembled engine

You'll probably never want or need to travel at 90 mph. But how nice to know your 230S could. From tires to suspension to engine, it is engineered up to maximum performance—not down to a minimum.

Under the hood is a 6-cylinder, single overhead camshaft engine. It is built up, not banged out, in an airy shop where vital parts are individually matched for weight and size and assembled by hand. And tested for one hour before installation. Every part of this engine is so perfectly balanced and over-engineered that it can hum along for hours at 90 mph (and with no speed limit on the German Autobahns, it often does). Yet fuel consumption rivals many "economy" cars.

Hair-raising test

There is no "heavy-duty" suspension option for the 230S. It is already there. One reason this is among the world's most agile sedans. Another reason: before production, the 230S had to pass a brutal handling test at the proving grounds.

The car is driven down a two-lane road at 80 mph. Without warning a huge truck pulls out, blocking the right lane; the driver dodges to the left to avoid it—only to meet an oncoming car, dead ahead in the left lane. Another lunge to the right, still at 80 mph.

Mercedes-Benz engineers think every car should pass this test. The sad fact is that few competing makes can. Few cars have a fully independent suspension like the 230S. Fewer still are engineered up to its demanding performance standards.

No needless changes

The 230S body design made its debut in 1959. No costly, inefficient styling changes have since been made. Even experts have a problem guessing the age of Mercedes-Benz cars; Mercedes-Benz owners escape the dismal betrayal of "planned obsolescence."

This body stays new in more than looks. Squeaks and rattles, so common in older cars, won't plague this rugged "unit" structure. It is welded in 10,000 places. And it's armored against corrosion with two primer coats, 24 pounds of undercoating and a baked-on enamel finish. A final fillip: After chrome-plating, the insides of the hubcaps get a coat of primer and a coat of enamel.

Safety is an obligation

Mercedes-Benz views passenger safety as a sober obligation, not a public relations problem. The 230S body itself is a safety feature—and an ingenious one. The center section, where you ride, is rigid. Front and rear sections are designed to crumple on violent impact, and absorb the shock before it can strike the passenger area. Inside, possible hazards are recessed, padded or made of pliable material. The steering wheel hub is a flat padded plate. The rearview mirror is mounted to detach on impact.

Dr. Ferguson has volunteered to add a few gourmet touches to the salads.

Mr. and Mrs. Don Weirick's new home on the lagoon will be the dessert dock. Invitations specify sailing clothes for the party. Members of the Rebel Fleet are to be included in the come-by-boat party. Mrs. Ferguson is reservations chairman.

Are Adults Copying Teen Generation?

By JOY MILLER

NEW YORK (AP)—Are adults copycats, following the young generation instead of trying to lead it?

Dr. Emanuel Demby, president of Motivational Programmers, Inc., says:

"From time immemorial, young people have carved out individualistic group patterns, behavior that made them like teen-agers and separated them from us.

"Then the tide began to turn." Adults took over rock 'n' roll music; they adopted the Twist, Frug and Watusi; they sliced hems above the knee; they even talked about a sexual revolution almost as much as the youngsters.

"Every step that youth took to differentiate itself was followed by a copycat action on the part of adult society," Demby told a recent scientific meeting.

The one exception: smoking marijuana and using psychedelics.

"It is almost as though this is the only no-man's land between youth and adult society. Thus, it is not surprising that more and more young people are taking a stand that pot, LSD and all the rest are not only not harmful, but helpful to their growth. Adult society, anxious and fearful, accuses youth of becoming alienated and degraded by dependence on drugs."

In depth interviews with young people, Demby said, "We found them almost thanking God that in at least one area of human activity adults were not copying youth."

Demby, who is senior research consultant to the College of Business Administration of Fairleigh Dickinson University, said one youth told him: "Adults are the enemy."

Another said: "We're taking over sooner or later. We have to. We're the active generation. Yours is the generation of betrayal. You started out idealistic. You wound up commercial."

Youth, said Demby, sees adult society as a piteable, alienated, replaceable segment of the world's population.

Demby was fascinated to discover that one of the basic things with teen-agers is putting their parents on — making them think things that aren't so.

One youngster explained to him: "We tell parents things just to find out what it takes to shock them. The Beatles are a big put-on. We don't really care. But it's the biggest put-on of them all. Nobody cares except the parents. They think it's real. And the kids who are too young think it's real too. Pop art is one great big put-on."

Some of the practical implications of his study, said Demby:

Until adults discover the thrill of being adults, the models used in advertising will continue to become younger and younger. A model who looks like a 21-year-old will be ready for obscurity.

Package design will move more toward sensual materials and sexy forms.

New frames of reference will be needed to measure public opinion attitudes of youth groups, to know how much is part of a put-on.

Fewer young people will want to become physicists or have anything to do with the bomb and development of weapons.

The future for products and services that promise relief from anxiety will be greater than ever.

Susan Page Exchanges Vows With Peter C. Schneider

Litterbugs Strain Family Tax Budget

Every litter bit hurts the family budget. Keep American Beautiful, the national anti-litter organization, estimates that $12 of the state and local tax money paid annually by the average American family is used to clear litter from streets, highways, beaches and parks. The total national cleanup bill runs to around $500 million each year.

HELEN HELP US!

By HELEN BOTTEL

'He's The Only Boy I Ever Dated' —Is It Love Or Is He Just Habit?

DEAR HELEN:

I've been going with this boy, we'll call him Tom, for two years; he's really the only boy I ever dated. We have talked about marriage in about two years, and I'm sure we love each other. He has spoiled me—always waiting at the corner when I go to my girl friend's to be sure I don't see any other boys. In fact, he has taken all my time, and I don't really mind except I think we ought to know other people so we'll be sure of our love.

When I suggest dating others, he says God will punish me if I break off with him, and he will never take me back if I look at another boy. He even gets mad and throws things at me. He doesn't trust me at all, and I thought love was built on trust.

But this is the last straw! I just ache to go to the junior-senior prom, and he says he wouldn't be caught dead at it, and if I went he would never speak to me again.

I don't want to lose Tom—he's wonderful and I love him—but I don't want to feel—MARRIED WHEN I'M NOT

DEAR MWIN:

What you've described is habit on your part, possessive selfishness on Tom's. It most definitely is not the kind of love that builds a good marriage.

Go to the prom, date others, and give Tom a chance to grow up. I'm sure your parents will be as relieved as you about the break-off.—H.

DEAR HELEN:

I recently bought a pair of three-button gloves for a formal dance. I know I should take them off to eat dinner, but should I put them back on for the program and dance? When I do put them on, who will help me button them? If I asked my date, wouldn't he be embarrassed?—MARGARET

DEAR MARGARET:

Formal gloves are only removed for dining. They should be worn while dancing. With a little home practice you can learn to button them yourself. Boys are usually all thumbs at this sort of thing. If you are, too, then take your girl friend with you to the powder room and help each other with the buttons, or get the attendant to help—if there is one.—H.

DEAR HELEN:

Help, emergency! You have to tell me fast, how far is first, second and third base with a boy? I have to know where I stand—D.T.

DEAR D:

Frankly, I don't know what you're talking about but I'd make a wild guess that when a girl gets to first base with a boy (wangles a date) she'd better not let him steal second and third or else she'll have to make a fast "home" run . . . (before he "goes the distance," as they say on the sport pages.)—H.

DEAR HELEN:

Why don't stores put more flattering lights in their fitting and dressing rooms? You can go in to buy a dress and think you aren't bad looking—before you hit those awful glary lights that show up every bad point. They even make your figure look awful, how I don't know. I get so depressed every time I try on clothes I want to hide in a cave. I bet stores would sell more clothes if they had softer lights where people try things on.—CONTRARY MARY

DEAR MARY:

I'll buy that! Store owners—take note.—H.

First New Marin Film Theater In Decade To Open In Northgate

The first new indoor motion picture theater to be built in Marin County in more than a decade will open to the public Thursday in the Northgate Shopping Center.

Northgate Theater, a project of Blumenfeld Theaters, is in unit two of the center, adjacent to the Bank of America. It is the first new "hardtop" theater of the Blumenfelds since the Fairfax Theater was opened in 1948, although the theater chain established the 101 Drive-In about two years ago.

Opening attraction will be "The King and I," starring Deborah Kerr and Yul Brynner, with Rita Morena and Rex Thompson. This will be followed by first-run presentations of "The Oscar" and "Nevada Smith."

Northgate Theater will employ the first stereophonic system in the county, using 16 speakers and a curved, all-purpose screen 70 feet in width. It is one of the few theaters in the country located in a shopping center.

Also a "first" in Marin is Northgate's new 70-millimeter projection system, which has eight sets of lenses to accommodate all types of projections in both 35 and 70-millimeter sizes.

The theater has a seating capacity of 450 and will use the latest model push-back chairs. Decorative cork blocks have been employed in soundproofing the walls.

Richard Figeroid, who has managed the Lark Theater in Larkspur the past four years, has been appointed manager at Northgate.

The last indoor motion picture theater opened in Marin was the Tiburon in the early 1950s.

Northgate will be the ninth Marin theater in the Blumenfeld chain, which also operates the Rafael in San Rafael, the Lark, Sequoia in Mill Valley, Tamalpais in San Anselmo, Marin in Sausalito, the Fairfax, and two drive-ins, the Motor Movies on the edge of San Rafael and the 101 Drive-In on the Smith Ranch, north of San Rafael.

Talmadge Turns Down Bid For Georgia State House

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Herman Talmadge, D-Ga., said today he will continue to serve in the Senate and will not be a candidate this year for governor of Georgia.

Talmadge indicated last week that he might leave the Senate, where he has two more years to serve in his present term, and return to Georgia to run for governor.

Talmadge had taken that course under consideration after former Gov. Ernest Vandiver withdrew from the race because of his health.

The aim in putting Talmadge into the governors' race would have been to field a strong Democrat to hold the office for that party.

"In response to my request for Georgians' views on the forthcoming governor's race, I have received several thousand telephone calls, telegrams and letters," Talmadge told a news conference.

"They almost unanimously pledged support for any course of action that I determine upon."

Talmadge said the majority of those who responded to his request for views thought he could best serve the state's interests in the immediate future by serving as governor of Georgia.

"The majority also felt that I could best serve the state's interest in the long range by continuing to serve in the United States Senate," Talmadge said.

In accordance with what he thought to be the overwhelming majority view of the people of Georgia, Talmadge said, and in the long-range interests of the state, "I shall continue to serve in the United States Senate to the best of my ability."

College Chorus Gives Joyful Performance

By HYMAN I. KRONGARD

The College of Marin Community Chorus demonstrated again last night how much joy its members find — and give — in the performance of fine music.

Dr. S. Drummond Wolff, in a double role of conductor and composer, directed the group in an excellent presentation of works by Purcell, Vivaldi, Handel and Wolff. He was accompanied by Arthur Hills, organist, and a 16-piece orchestra.

The solemnity of the opening number, Purcell's "Funeral Music for Queen Mary," was communicated with sincere conviction and depth of meaning. The chorus at once established a quality of blend, nuance and sensitivity that was to distinguish it for the remainder of the evening.

The "Chamber Mass" was a series of effectively contrasted invocations. The bold heads-held-high Kyrie, the joyous Christe Eleisen (by women's chorus), the Sombre Et In Terra Pax were some of the choral high spots.

The soprano and alto soloists, Sylvia Davis and Margot Blum, were excellent in the duet Laudamus Te, a harbinger of the consistently fine singing which was to come from these soloists later in the Mass and from Miss Davis in the Handel and the Wolff.

There was enough material in Handel's "Ode on Saint Cecilia's Day" for tenor Edward Jameson to offer the usual artistic and expressive vocal qualities which contribute so much to the concerts in which he participates. Miss Davis sang the difficult solo with a sweet, wistful grace, evoking, for each new tribute to the patron saint of music an appropriate mood shared by her audience.

The organ accompaniment was a disturbing factor in many places was not Mr. Hills' doing. He provided precise and sympathetic support throughout. This reviewer found the organ generally to dominant for his taste. It is evident that in the gymnasium a bit of organ—or trumpet or cymbals—goes quite far. This unfortunate acoustical difficulty made pianissimos, particularly for the soloists, ineffective if not impossible.

By now the steady "beat, beat beat" music made something with a bit of rubado desirable. This was answered by the closing Wolff numbers, American premiers, "Song for Voice and Orchestra" and "Festival Te Deum." The 'Song," a lullaby, has a charming tune with an effective, appropriate underplay of orchestral color. It was beautifully sung by Miss Davis.

The "Te Deum" permitted all performers to cut loose in an outburst of exuberant joy in which organ and percussion prevailed. This was offset by moments of inner tenderness which served to heighten the resounding climax at the close.

The concert was another measure of the musical stature of Dr. Wolff and the enormous contribution he has made to the cultural life of Marin. A merited standing ovation concluded the evening.

There were too many empty seats.

Circus To Perform

The Kay Brothers European Style Circus was scheduled to perform at the National Guard Armory in San Rafael today at 4 p.m. and 8 p.m.

CONCERT REVIEW

Poulenc Performance At Church Exciting

By MAYBELLE SPECKMANN

The most exciting performance we have ever heard of 20th Century French composer Francis Poulenc's Concerto in G minor for organ, strings and tympani was the brilliant climax of last night's "Music for a May Evening" at the First Presbyterian Church in San Anselmo.

This was due to Wilbur F. Russell's incandescent virtuosity on the powerful Leonard William Buck Memorial Organ, combined with the strong, polished string sound of an orchestra made up of 16 string and tympani players of the Oakland Symphony under direction of its assistant conductor, Robert Hughes.

Seldom have we heard more eloquent cellos, and adding immeasurably to the dramatic impact was the pulse of the tympani in this finale of the evening.

The same wonderful combination of organ and strings was heard in a far different mood in the opening number, the light, gay Concerto No. 5 in E major by Handel.

Most of the program, however, was devoted to the music of Poulenc sung by the Marin Pro Musica, consisting of six male and seven female voices, and the San Francisco Theological Seminary male choir of 15 voices singing a cappella under Russell's direction.

Of the works performed by Marin Pro Musica, we preferred Poulenc's "Un soir de neige" to Britten's "Five Flower Songs." The five songs were stimulting because of their contrasting moods, but the first two suffered from indistinct diction.

Poulenc's "Litanies a la vierge noire Notre-Dame de Roc-Amadour," sung by Marin Pro Musica women only accompanied by Russell at the organ, was so ethereal that it could have called to mind a small group of nuns singing in a medieval cathedral, except for the modern idiom of the music.

Its counterpart for Marin Pro Musica men and the Seminary Male Choir was Poulenc's "Quatres petites prieres"—four little prayers of St. Francis of Assisi. These were sung well a cappella with Russell didrecting, but the bass-baritone tonal quality was more pleasing than the tenor.

A fair-sized audience gave the performers a well-deserved standing ovation at conclusion of the concert.

Japanese Buys Ad To Tell Plan For Viet 'Paradise'

NEW YORK (UPI) — A man who calls himself a "petty citizen of Japan" today purchased a two-page advertisement in the New York Times outlining his ideas for peace in Viet Nam and paradise on earth.

The man, who identified himself as Morhiro Matsuda of Tokyo, said his wife "considers me to be crazy" for running the advertisement titled "Idea For Peace in Viet Nam."

A Times spokesman said such an ad would cost $11,184. In his message, Matsuda asserted he had paid "a large sum of money—over $11,000."

Throughout nearly eight full columns of regular-sized newspaper type, Matsuda set down his view on global turmoil and how man can put an end to it, particularly in Asia.

A blueprint of "paradise" accompanied the ad. It contained, among other things, dormitories, schools, gymnasiums, an orchard, vegetable gardens, a gas plant, reservoir, pulp mill, farm paddies, factories and a pig sty.

Matsuda said that if the United States were to construct such a "paradise" in Viet Nam, then man could once more live as he was designed, without conflict and worry. Cost of such a layout would be about $11 billion, Matsuda estimated.

If such a setup worked, he said, nearly everyone would soon become "writers, inventors or discoverers."

On Viet Nam, Matsuda suggested that:

—"America is in Viet Nam to protect her vested interests . . . all American rights and interests in Viet Nam should be esteemed and guaranteed."

—"South Viet Nam should be divided into two parts. The northern half should be led by the Viet Cong government and the southern half by the South Viet Nam government." He did not elaborate on the latter's composition.

Matsuda, who said he thought up the idea and contents of the advertisement while fishing, described his paradise as a place where men "suffer from almost no emotion...are severed from unnecessary kinship relations...work well" and pay no taxes. Daily necessities are free.

Tam Trustees Ask U.S. Funds For Language

Trustees of the Tamalpais High School District, in a special meeting Saturday, approved application to the federal government for $40,000 for an improved English teaching program.

A board spokesman said the special meeting was called when the board learned that the application would have to be submitted by Wednesday. The $40,000 is for the first year of a projected three-year program. Details of the program were still being worked out.

In another meeting Saturday which preceded the special board meeting, the high school trustees and trustees of the elementary schools which send students to Tamalpais High School met to hear reports on studies to improve the transition in curriculum from elementary school to high school.

The group heard reports on social studies, science and English. The discussion that followed these reports drew comments from the various trustees that further meetings of the elementary and high school trustees would be valuable, so another such meeting is being planned for the fall.

Some Emmy Awards Good, Some Bad

By RICK DUBROW

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) —The annual mixed bag of Emmy awards—Some worthy, many trivial—offered solace to the television industry last night on CBS-TV, and the result was just about the same as usual:

The prizes given to comparatively lightweight achievements had such a diluting overall effect that, unless one took notes, it was nearly impossible, even just at the end of the show, to remember most of the awards, or who won them, and for what.

The Emmy program isn't even presented live in part of the nation—with some of the country receiving it on a delayed tape basis. Except for some of the respectable receiving it on a delayed tape basis. Except for some of the respectable awards of the night, I think this shows excellent judgment and keeps the general importance of the event in proper perspective.

Anyway, to the awards. There's not much sense in rehashing most of the trivial prizes, but some noteworthy moments are worth recalling:

Writer Millard Lampell, who received commendation for his contribution to the "Hall Mark Hall of Fame" drama, "Eagle in a Cage"—a story of Napoleon in exile—dropped a minor bombshell by announcing on camera, and to the nation: "I was blacklisted for 10 years." I say minor bombshell only because it is common knowledge now that a number of show business persons were blacklisted at one time for political reasons.

"Frank Sinatra: A Man and His Music" was named the top musical program, and there can be no doubt of the wortiness of this one-man show. But it is too bad there was no way to also pronounce the Barbra Streisand special, "Color Me Barbra," a winner.

A special achievement award went to a sponsor, the Xerox Corp.

"A Charlie Brown Christmas," based on the "Peanuts" comic strip, was named the outstanding children's program.

Bill Cosby, the first Negro to costar in a weekly network video series — NBC-TV's "I Spy"—won the prize for best actor in a continuing dramatic show. His costar, Robert Culp, also was nominated —and Cosby, who was host of the Emmy show with Danny Kaye, paid an admirable tribute to Culp. Referring to his newly-won statuette, he said of his costar: "He lost this because he helped me."

The award for the top variety special was given to Bob Hope for his Viet Nam Christmas show.

Television critic Harriet Van Horne gave the Emmy program a moment of rare graciousness, dignity and gentility in her acceptance of an award for her late husband, David Lowe, who roduced the CBS-TV broadcast, "KKK—The Invisible Empire."

"Ages of Man," Sir John Gielgud's two-part, one-man Shakespearian recitation, was named the top single dramatic program. And its coproducer, David Susskind, was most excellent in his dry wonderment that the show could win, yet that its sole performer didn't.

CBS-TV, which aired the Emmy program, was subjected to embrarrassment on at least one occasion. This was when an award was given to rival NBC-TV for its lone coverage of the Senate hearings on Viet Nam This was the issue over which CBS news President Fred Friendly resigned—which his network ran situation comedy reruns instead. Later, in the program, by the way, there was a heartfelt award given in memoriam to Edward R. Murrow, who, as it happens, was a close associate of Friendly.

The award period was from May 1, 1965, to April 10, 1966—which meant CBS-TV's "Death of a Salesman" didn't qualify for this season's prizes, but will for next year's.

Bay Crusade Goal Set At $15.2 Million

United Bay Area Crusade has set $15,286,254 as its goal for the 1966 crusade drive Sept. 26 through Oct. 14.

Meeting in San Francisco Friday, the 400 members of the board approved admission of seven new agencies to share the crusade proceeds. One of these was the Volunteer Bureau of Marin County, with offices at 725 A Street, San Rafael.

The bureau was established two years ago by the Junior League of San Francisco and refers qualified volunteers to some 100 civic, cultural and social welfare organizations. This year's goal represents an increase of 14 per cent over the money raised last year.

Members of the budget committee have, however, announced there still remains a gap of $1,825,000 between the money available and the projected needs of organizations.

Two Marin residents serve on this committee. They are Mrs. Robert Kettenbach of Belvedere and Lawrence A. Mayer of Mill Valley.

Peace Corps Member Marries Nepal Sherpa

KATMANDU, Nepal (AP)—Barbara Wylie, a Peace Corps volunteer from Michigan, is believed to be the first American woman to marry one of the Nepalese Sherpas whose tribe has produced some of the world's most famous mountain climbers and guides.

Word reached Katmandu Sunday that the 35-year-old corps member from Ypsilanti, Mich., was married May 16 to Gyala Lama, 30, in a mountain village in this Himalayan kingdom wedged between India and Communist-ruled Tibet.

HOW TO PLAY

WINNING BRIDGE

By ALFRED SHEINWOLD

Trump Partner's Ace—Heinous Crime Sometimes Wins At Bridge

If you want to be taken seriously as a golfer you must avoid taking practice swings in a sand trap.

A ballet dancer is considered gauche if she trips and falls on her tutu. And a bridge player likewise must watch out for one highly publicized crime.

Opening lead — ♣ A

When today's hand was played in the 1941 Australian Pair Championship, the opening lead at virtually all tables was the ace of clubs. West continued with the queen of clubs, and South ruffed.

FOUR ROUNDS

Declarer then drew four rounds of trumps and ran the diamonds to discard three spades, thus winning 12 tricks.

"No, partner we did not miss a slam," most declarers had to point out. "They might have taken their two aces if we had bid six hearts."

And most of the players then went on to the next hand without even suspecting that for a moment they had brushed shoulders with the bridge crime of crimes.

WICKED PLAY

Only at a few of the tables in the Pair Championship did East rise — or fall — to the occasion.

At these tables East wickedly played a trump at the first trick. What crime is worse than to trump your partner's ace!

East then led the queen of spades, and the defenders easily rattled off three spade tricks, defeating the game contract. These declarers did not have to apologize for missing a slam.

NO CRIME

The few experts who found the winning play with the East cards had the gall to say that trumping partner's ace was no crime if it was the only way to defeat the cntract.

They said East could tell from looking at the dummy that the bulk of the defensive tricks had to come from spades, and that the suit might have to be led as quickly as possible and only from the East hand.

We've always known those Australians are upside down.

♠ Q J 5 4

What do you say?

ANSWER: Pass.

You might find a better spot if you responded with this ghastly hand, but there's an even better chance that you'll wind up doubled at some unsafe contract.

In the long run you keep the losses down by passing in this horrible situation.

ALMANAC

Today is Monday, May 23, the 413rd day of 1966 with 222 to follow.

The moon is between its new phase and first quarter; the morning stars are Venus and Saturn; the evening star is Jupiter.

Ambrose Burnside, a Union general during the Civil War was born on this day in 1824.

On this day in history:

In 1945, Heinrich Himmler, chief of the Nazi Gestapo committed suicide three days after his capture by British troops.

In 1946, a decree in Bonn, Germany, designated the western government of that country as the Federal Republic of Germany.

In 1960, Israeli agents captured Adolf Eichmann in Argentina.

In 1965, the Organization of American States set up a peace keeping force in the violence ridden Dominican Republic.

A thought for the day — President Theodore Roosevelt said: "No man, not even the soldier who does his duty stands quite on the level with the wife and mother who has done her duty."

Presbyterians Debate Support For Alinsky

Views for and against the Presbyterian church bringing community organizer Saul Alinsky to the Bay area were presented Friday night in a meeting at Christ Presbyterian Church in Terra Linda, attended by about 50 persons.

Rev. John Hadsell of the United Campus Christian Fellowship at the University of California, Berkeley, who favors bringing Alinsky to the Bay area, argued that Alinsky has the experience to aid areas of need in Oakland and San Francisco, and cited Alinsky's success in organizing other slum areas such as Woodlawn, Ill., and Rochester, N.Y. He said Alinsky's career has demonstrated a sincere interest and ability in helping people in depressed areas.

L. M. Summey, deputy district attorney of San Mateo County and a member of the Portola Valley Presbyterian Church, argued against the church's hiring Alinsky, saying Alinsky uses anger and hostility to accomplish his purposes, and that he creates an emotional response in people which can do more harm than good. Summey also questioned whether the church could properly hire an agnostic.

A question and answer period followed the talks, and Marshall Potter, chairman of the Terra Linda church's Church in Society Committee, said the questioners seemed mainly to be "a group of people who wanted information," rather than being largely for or against the idea.

The Presbytery of San Francisco has voted $200,000 to aid in training slum dwellers to lead in their communities and made the original proposal to bring Alinsky to aid in the project. Redwoods Presbytery, which includes churches in Marin, is scheduled to vote on the proposal June 4.

The Bonsai Club of Marin has Robert Edward as president and Mrs. Ruth Drummond as vice president.

Woodacre Architect's Design Wins

Woodacre architect Richard L. Heglund has won an architectural competition for design of Santa Rosa's new $1,390,000 city hall.

Heglund, who will receive eight per cent of the building construction cost, won in competition with 73 design entries from the 18-county area of Northern California specified in contest rules.

A five-man jury of architects and city councilmen named Heglund winner, and the Santa Rosa City Council will award him a contract.

Site of the proposed new city hall is near the center of Santa Rosa, in an area recently cleared of old structures by the city's urban renewal agency, adjacent to the Luther Burbank Gardens.

Heglund's design provided for a gross area of 38,523 square feet and a net area of 32,917 square feet. The jury report cited the architect's "ingenious handling of parking" and "the direct and functional relationship between spaces."

"The majority of people are going to consider it a credit to Santa Rosa," said the report. "The building gives the appearance of substantiality, is very functional in design, and makes excellent use of the site. Aesthetically it will set the tone for the balance of development in the Civic Center area."

Construction bids for the new city hall will be invited early next year. It is estimated the project will take 18 months to complete.

Marinite Wins Award For Book

Mill Valley author Richard Dillon has won the Commonwealth Club's gold medal for the best non-fiction book published by a California author in 1965.

Dillon receives the award—given every year since 1931—for his book, "Meriwether Lewis," a full-treatment biography of the man who was selected by President Thomas Jefferson to head the Lewis and Clark Expedition.

The gold medal for fiction goes to Michal Blankfort of Los Angeles for his novel, "Behold the Fire."

Dillon will receive the medal at a banquet in the St. Francis Hotel June 8.

Head librarian of the Sutro Library, Dillon lives in Mill Valley with his wife and three sons. He has written 10 books, including "Embarcadero," which won the James D. Phelan award in 1960. Recently he received the award of merit of the California Historical Society for outstanding contributions to California history.

Born in Sausalito, Dillon was graduated from Tamalpais High School, and received his A.B. and M.A. degrees from University of California.

Protective Custody For San Anselmo Man

Kenneth L. Edler of 126 Redwood Road, San Anselmo, was taken into protective custody by San Anselmo police Friday night and transported to Napa State Hospital after he allegedly threatened to kill himself.

Police went to his home after the Suicide Prevention Bureau of San Francisco reported he called it and threatened to shoot himself. Officers said they found him in his living room was a loaded .38 caliber revolver on a nearby table.

Rep. Clausen Viewpoints Criticized

Rep. Donald H. Clausen was criticized in absentia last night in Marin City by candidates Philip Drath and Thomas T. Storer, who said they disapprove of Clausen's stand on a redwoods national park and Medicare and lack of a stand on the Viet Nam war.

Drath and Storer are contending for the Democratic nomination to oppose incumbent Clausen, a Republican, in November.

Robert D. Huber, Marin County campaign manager for Clausen, spoke on behalf of the congressman before 45 persons at St. Andrew United Presbyterian Church.

Huber said Clausen is interested in President Lyndon B. Johnson's redwood park proposal—that is, a small one. Huber said that Clausen supports the basic idea of Medicare but does not like the financing of it.

Storer, Marin County supervisor, criticized Clausen's stand on the redwoods park and Medicare and said he believes Clausen has taken no stand on Viet Nam.

Drath said Storer had already spoken of his criticisms of Clausen and, therefore, he would spend his time speaking about Viet Nam and its history. He concluded by supporting the proposal of George Kennan, internationally known political scientist, that the United States should "pull back to defensible enclaves" and in that kind of stabilizing situation, negotiations could take place.

Drath and Storer both recommended recognition of the Viet Cong in any negotiation.

Several persons in the audience spoke on a need for jobs for persons of minority groups and suggested that their congressman should do something about this. Drath said he has been a union member 15 years and has had difficulties because he tried to support minority persons in getting jobs.

Wife Linked To Escape Try

One of the two San Quentin Prison inmates whose attempt at escape by hiding in a garbage truck was foiled by guards Friday, may have had his wife on the outside ready to help, Associate Warden James W. L. Park said today.

Joan Haston, 21, of Albany has been arrested in Richmond after reportedly being seen in the area of the prison garbage dump at the time of the escape attempt.

She is the wife of Odell Clarence Haston who, with Donald Wayne McDowell, concealed themselves in the refuse in the truck but were caught before the vehicle reached the gate.

Both men were serving a series of sentences for crimes ranging from armed robbery and assault with a deadly weapon to prison escape.

Cheryl Maria Blaney Is Chosen Miss Marin

Cheryl Maria Blaney, 18, of Novato, was chosen Miss Marin 1966 in the Miss Marin-Miss California beauty pageant yesterday at the College of Marin.

Miss Blaney, daughter of William J. Blaney of 42 Washington Street, Novato, is a first-year student at College of Marin, majoring in French. She was graduated from Novato High School last June.

She came to Novato in 1961 from Virginia. Her father is a claims manager for Wilshire Insurance Co. of San Francisco.

She was sponsored in the beauty pageant by Sam's Anchor Cafe, Tiburon.

Melinda M. Megarity, 19, of Kentfield, was first runner-up. Janice Hantzsche, 19, of Tiburon was second runner-up.

Other finalists were Judi Combs, Eileen Jennings, Maria Labagh, Kathleen Makel, Jacqueline Patrick, Carol Joan Schmale, and Helen Olive Wagner.

The contest was sponsored by the Marin Visitors Bureau. Karl Barron was master of ceremonies, and the contest was judged by Jim Kean of the Independent-Journal, Frances Estinger of the House of Kwan Yin, and Price Hall, San Rafael public relations counselor.

Mission Inn Death Trial Opening Arguments Slated

Murder trial of Jack R. Gorman and Marc Charles Osuna was expected to start with opening statements by the prosecution this afternoon following completion of a week's effort to select the jury.

The seven woman-five man jury was named late Friday. A special panel of 65 persons was called this morning for selection of two alternate jurors.

Quizzing of the latter began before Judge Thomas F. Keating at 10:30 a.m.

The regular jury contains six women who gave their occupations as housewives, the seventh who termed herself as retired, a chemist, a machinist, a business agent, an engineer, and an insurance administrator.

Jury selection, which began last Monday, went through four 60-person panels, with about 120 people actually questioned. The prosecution used 20 or its 30 allowed peremptory challenges to dismiss potential jurors; the defense used 20 joint challenges and one individual challenge each.

Gorman and Osuna, both serving time in San Quentin Prison as parole violators, are accused of the Labor Day killing at Mission Inn in San Rafael of Bartender Mario Ferrari.

$342 In Cash Stolen From Pet Hospital

A cash box was stolen from the Tamalpais Pet Hospital in Mill Valley Friday night, burglars removing $342 in cash and throwing the box containing $1,539 in checks plus assorted drugs into the incinerator behind the hospital.

Contents of the box were burned beyond recognition, police were told by Dr. H. P. Boyd, veterinarian.

It was one of two burglaries that night. Sylvester Judd Gee of 63 Shelley Drive said Saturday morning that someone forced open a window and stole $40 in cash from a jewelry box on top of his bureau.

Dr. Boyd told police that the back door of his hospital at 691 East Blithedale Avenue apparently was pried open, as was the cash box in his office. Employees, arriving at 7:30 a.m. Saturday, found the open door and the box in the incinerator.

Automobile Stolen

A 1962 Austin-Healy automobile belonging to Ronald L. Patnaude, 109 Greenfield Avenue, San Rafael, was stolen Saturday night from a parking lot next to 85 Red Hill Avenue and was found last night in San Geronimo Valley, San Anselmo police reported.

Cash Taken

Some $60 in cash was taken during the weekend from the office of landscape architects Cagwin and Dorward at 1637 Francisco Boulevard, San Rafael. A window was forced and the premises ransacked.

Marin Guide Burglarized; Two Arrested

Two youths were arrested by sheriff's officers yesterday evening after allegedly burgling Marin Guide offices at 200 Shoreline Highway, Tamalpais Valley.

Harry Johnson, Marin Guide published, told deputies he arrived at the building about 6 p.m. and found the pair, Greg Walter O'Brien, 18, of 255 Flamingo Road, Tamalpais Valley, and a 17-year-old companion, also of Tamalpais Valley, inside the building.

He said they fled out a rear door. He gave chase but lost them. Arriving officers discovered the two boys standing by a car nearby. Deputies said entry was by removing a board from over a broken window. Nothing was found to be missing.

O'Brien was booked in county jail for investigation of burglary, then released on his own recognizance. His companion was taken to the county juvenile hall.

Boy, Girl Babies Take Beauty Prize

A two-year-old Corte Madera boy and a seven-month-old Larkspur girl were judged Marin County's most beautiful children in yesterday's finals of the Sertoma Club's beauty contest at Dominic's Restaurant in San Rafael.

Chosen "Master Beauty" was Chad Toscanini, son of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Toscanini of 3 Echo Street; "Miss Beauty" was Karen Pearson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Pearson of 16 Walnut Avenue.

Some 750 adults and children attended the club's fund-raising event, at which 135 children won more than $1,000 in trophies donated by Marin merchants.

Other children won titles on the basis of combined points for health, beauty and popularity determined by the number of tickets sold by parents and friends. They were:

Baby king and queen of the county, Eddie Schaeffer, 6 weeks, of San Rafael, and Lisa Brown, 4, of Ross; prince and princess, Bruce Guerra and Sheri Thompson of San Rafael; duke and duchess, David McClelland, 14 months, of San Anselmo, and Kathy Henderson, 3, of San Rafael; count and countess, Christopher Bryan, 2, and Lauren Beigel, 5, of Mill Valley.

Cordill Grants Nursery Permit

Marin County Zoning Administrator Thomas E. Cordill today granted a use permit to Mill Valley Cooperative Nursery at the northeast corner of Tower Drive and East Blithedale Avenue, east of Mill Valley.

The nursery, to be run in conjunction with a College of Marin adult education course, will be each weekday, from 9 to 11:30 a.m. Mrs. Barry Decker, speaking for the school, said afternoon classes might be held later.

Cordill also approved a five-week resident recreation program planned by Marin Aid to Retarded Children at Rancho Olompali, north of Novato.

Meeting Cancelled

Due to many other meetings scheduled at this time and lack of any urgent business, there will be no Mill Valley Parks and Recreation Commission meeting at 8 p.m., today, Julie Butler, secretary to the commission, reported.

NATIONAL REALTOR WEEK

MAY 22-28

If You Are Buying or Selling DEAL WITH A REALTOR

Your Marin County Real Estate Board is one of the most civic minded, progressive boards in the state. We have led the other boards in many ways.

The requirements for joining our Marin County Real Estate Board are one of the highest of any board in the bay area. The applicant must prove his qualifications. Better than 95% of all active Real Estate offices in Marin County are members of the Marin County Real Estate Board. There is great pride in being a member because of these high standards. This results in incentive for greater service and loyal adherence to the Code of Ethics subscribed to by all REALTORS.

Our Multiple Listing Service is used by 100% of our members. We have the latest modern equipment for servicing and processing all listings.

What Is a Realtor?

Not every "real estate broker" is a REALTOR. The term "REALTOR" came into being because of the compelling need to identify to the public those real estate men who are pledged to abide by a NATIONAL CODE OF ETHICS — the first code of ethics to be adopted in America by any national business group.

In Marin REALTORS are active members of the Marin County REAL ESTATE BOARD. They are pledged to conduct their business according to the Code of Ethics of the National Association of Real Estate Boards. This Code of Ethics assures you protection in all your real estate transactions. It pays to deal with a Marin REALTOR.

All Marin County Realtors FEATURE Multiple Listing Service

The modern method of buying and selling real estate that COSTS NO MORE and GETS FASTER RESULTS!

Thousands of homes have been sold by Marin REALTORS through the efficiency of the Marin County Multiple Listing Service. This modern, cooperative system has conclusively proved to property owners its value as a sales asset.

Unlike "the old days" you do not have to shop around from office to office to list your house. Today you sign one contract, with one Marin REALTOR, and your listing — with photograph and giving complete details— is broadcast from the Real Estate Board office to its entire membership. Automatically the property you wish to sell is called to the attention of a sales force of realty experts. Any Marin REALTOR will MULTIPLE LIST your home. Whether he or a fellow REALTOR sells it only one commission is paid.

Remember . . . IT PAYS TO DEAL WITH A REALTOR

Wanted: Large fam. home. 5-8 BR. for min. 16-mo. lse. or purchase in exch. for PRIME ROSS ACREAGE. 453-5426.

HAVE $500 for equity in 3 or 4 BR. house. Marin County. Call 453-8486.

DO you have an older home with potential in a "prime" area that you'd like to sell if only you could get what it's worth?
Have you refrained from putting it on the market because the only people who would recognize the potential are the professionals who want to "buy it for a song", fix it "for a smile" and resell it as an "extravaganza"?
Honest capable imaginative individual believes he has solution. Call GL 6-9384.

VDC Birthday; Savio Returns

BERKELEY (UPI)—The Viet Nam Day Committee celebrated its first birthday and former Free Speech Movement leader Mario Savio returned to the University of California campus during the weekend.

The committee had advertised the anniversary as "a huge protest meeting" but about 500 persons showed up to hear 16 scheduled speakers. One year ago, thousands rallied to the anti-war group's "teach-in."

Savio, 23, has applied for readmission to the university. He and his wife, Suzanne Goldberg, another former FSM leader, spent the past year in England.

Friends of Savio said he intends to stay out of student political activity.

Death Charged To Guantanamo

HAVANA (AP)—The U.S. Defense Department is investigating a Cuban charge that gunfire from the U.S. naval base at Guantanamo Bay killed a Cuban sentry. The Castro government claimed that American guards shouted "Hey, Cubans! Hey, Cubans! We knocked off another one."

A note from the Armed Forces Ministry read over Cuban radio stations said the sentry, identified as Luis Ramirez Lopez, was killed Saturday night by fire from a truck passing his post at the perimeter of the U.S. base.

The note said there was sporadic firing from the base into Cuban territory for about two hours, but no other casualties were mentioned.

Monkey To Orbit In Long Test

PASADENA (AP) — A Monkey will be orbited for 30 days next year with probes in his brain, blood vessels and bladder to test the dangers of long space flights for future astronauts.

The U.S. space agency's jet propulsion laboratory says scientists have spent $1.5 million developing a miniature chemical analyzer to measure the effects of weightlessness on bone and muscle.

The equipment will be carried aloft with a 15-pound monkey in a 1,200-pound biostatllite in mid-1967. The launch from Cape Kennedy, Fla., will follow shorter orbital flights carrying insects, rats and plants.

Traffic Patrol Fete

The 31 boys and girls of the John MacPhail School traffic Patrol will be honored Thursday by the Parent-Teachers' Assn. at a swim-and picnic party at the Santa Venetia Swim Club.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By DR. THEODORE R. VAN DELLEN

Ancient Greek Doctors Named Diabetes As 'Siphon Disease'

VAN DELLEN

More than 2,000 years ago a Greek physician describing diabetes wrote "the flesh wants away and is siphoned off" through the kidneys. The Greek word for siphon was diabetes. In addition the victims had an unquenchable thirst and the body wasted away despite a ravenous appetite. This chronic, incurable disease killed diabetics for centuries.

THE DISCOVERY of insulin changed the picture overnight. Since then many other discoveries including synthetic insulin and anti-diabetic pills were made and today the American Diabetic Assn. is concentrating on the 1.6 million who have diabetes but are unaware of their condition. They hope to reduce the death rate which now ranks seventh among chronic diseases.

Those with a family history of diabetes should be examined periodically. The chance increases among relatives of diabetics who are obese and past 40 years of age. A survey demonstrated that six out of seven middle-aged victims were overweight just before the malady was discovered. We might also add that exercise is all important in preventing the disease.

THE ILLNESS leads to increased thirst, constant hunger, loss of weight, frequent urination, intense itching, and visual disorders. Anyone with one or more of these symptoms is well on the way because diabetes may be present for some time before these signs appear.

The alternate plan is to ferret out hidden diabetics via a mass screening program. Blood tests are done on so many inhabitants in a town or city as wish to cooperate. In some areas, the yield of new cases averages 8.6 per 1,000 people tested.

The case-finding program recently conducted in East Orange, N.J., was slightly different. Cooperating groups included members of the diabetic association, medical society, health department, and the Upjohn Co. They concentrated on high-risk population groups and found 34 new cases of diabetes for every 1,000 tested.

NERVOUS BREAKDOWN

J.B.K. writes: Do people who suffer a nervous breakdown have any pain?

REPLY

Nervous breakdown is a lay term for a variety of nervous disturbances. Some have pain and others do not; mental distress may be more uncomfortable than physical pain. Furthermore, so-called nervous breakdown may follow a painful disorder.

SPARE THE HEART

Mrs. A. writes: Does valvular heart disease worsen as a person grows older?

REPLY

Yes, but the chances are lessened if the afflicted person takes care of himself and spares the heart as much as possible. Today many of these lesions can be corrected with surgery.

PUFFY ANKLES

F. D. N. writes: What is a physician looking for when he squeezes the ankle?

REPLY

Tenderness and puffiness of the tissues.

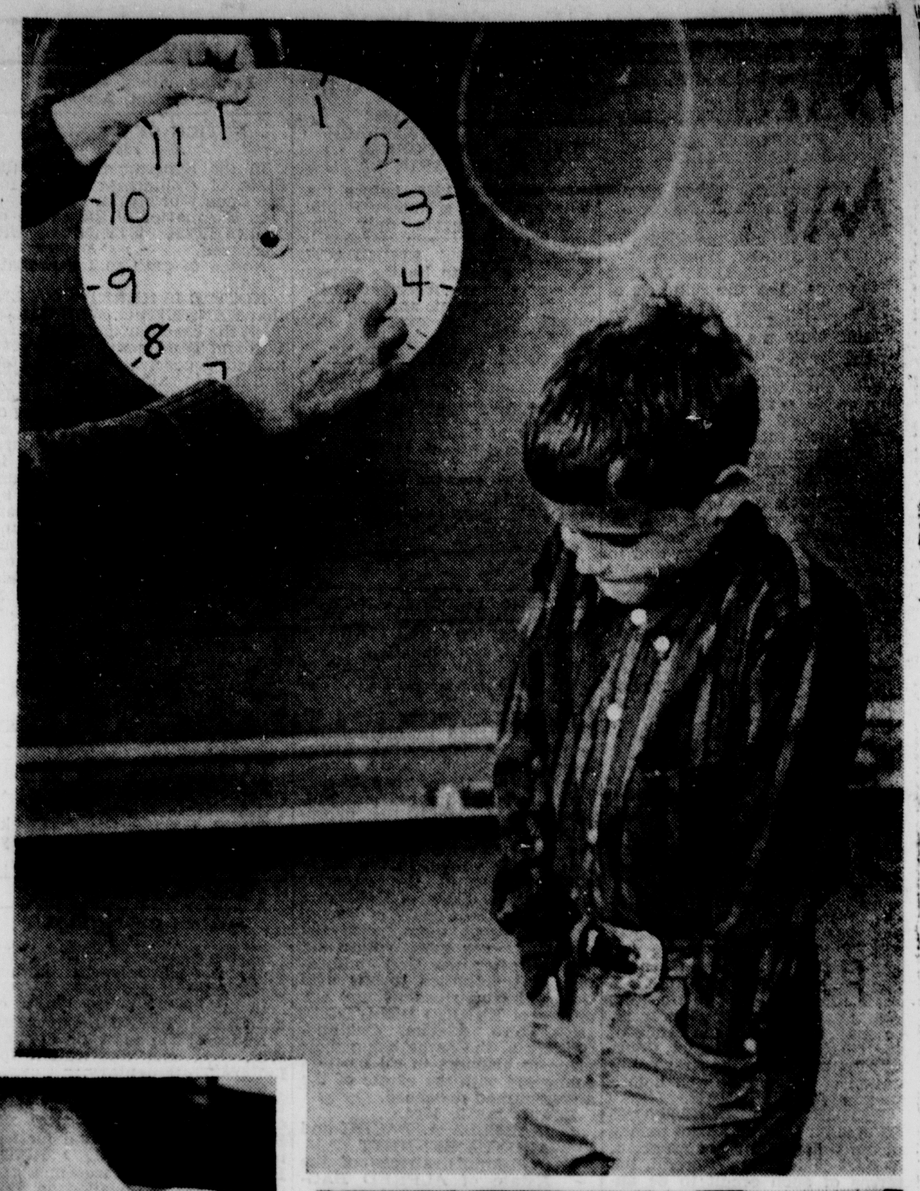
A Day In School

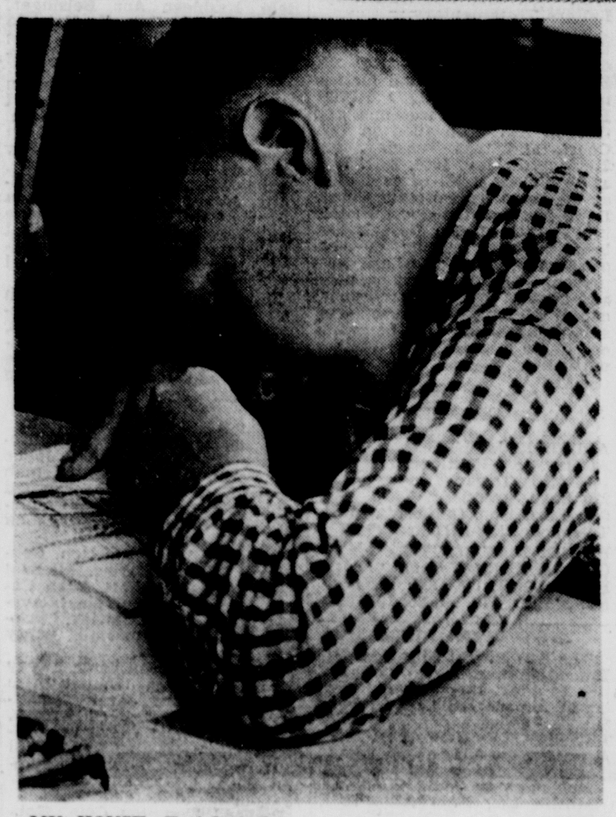
I KNOW—Pupils in a second grade class at Corte Madera-Larkspur School strain for the attention of teacher Mrs. Betty Jordan who wants them to give examples, in vivid words, of how to describe something flat. Pupils are (from left) Mitchell Amundsen, Larry Mattos (back to camera), Richard Clark, Brian Durnell and Michael Glander. Behind Michael is Maureen McCarty, answering the teacher's question.

I DID IT—Maureen McCarty (hidden in photo at left) shows the strain of having given an answer to the teacher's question. Cory Otteson (right) curls up in proud embarrassment at having posed a "time" problem for the class. The clock is used to painlessly teach the meaning of "half" and "quarter" while youngsters add and subtract hours.



THE CONDUCTOR—Michael Glander leads the class during music period, in which youngsters learn how notes indicate rhythm, time. They learn to read music, enjoy it.

CONFERENCE—While some pupils have a reading period in one corner of the classroom, Stacy Pesce (left) and Lori McDermott quietly help each other learn while doing the exercises on telling time.



MY HOUSE—Emiel Anderson finished his regular school work, so he works on another classroom project, a drawing of his house. It was part of a class study of building materials.

LUNCH—Brenda Belden thinks deep thoughts as the aroma of peanut butter and jelly sandwiches fills the classroom. Youngsters eat inside if the weather is poor.

'MAGIC SQUARE'—Danny Lytle finished an assigned task before others and used the time to make a "magic square" in which the numbers should add up to the same total from any direction.

FROGS — One pupil caught some frogs, brought them to the class, which discussed how a frog can climb on such a smooth surface as glass. Michael Glander (left) and Stephen White peer at them.

WIDE CURRICULUM—Youngsters' curiosity brings them clustering around school maintenance man Donald Rose as he makes cement during a physical education period. Richard Clark, first grader Kenny Young, and Cory Ottesen check the process.

PHYSICAL EDUCATION—The wiggling hours in the classroom are broken by violent recesses and physical education periods outside where youngsters can let off steam. Teachers get recess coffee breaks, then return to classes for more instruction in everything from new math to manners.

Marin-Built Cars Miss Indy Lineup

For the first time in three years, Kjell Qvale, owner of British Motor Cars, and designer-builder Joe Huffaker of Novato, will be watching the Indianapolis 500 from the grandstands.

Neither of the two BMC cars made it to the 33-car field for the Memorial Day classic. One, powered by a Chevrolet engine, was driver by Bob Veith of Fort Bragg, and the other, an Offenhauser Genie, was driven by Bob Christie of Speedway, Ind. But neither could make the low qualifying speed of 158.367 miles per hour. The cars were built in San Rafael at BMC's competition division.

There is some solace for Huffaker, who will have three of his "originals" in the field. None are under his command, however, since they have been sold. But they carry the name "Huffaker-Offenhauser," and Marin County and Bay Area racing fans will be watching the results of that trio.

Closest to the starting line out of the three is one driven by rookie Gary Congden of Garden Grove, who earned the pole position sixth row with a qualifying speed of 158.688. The other two will be starting right next to each other in the 10th row, Bobby Unser of Albuquerque, N.M. in the pole position and Eddie Johnson of Richmond Heights, Ohio, in the middle.

In 1964, Qvale and Huffaker had two cars in the field and last year qualified three.

The final lineup was completed yesterday after two weekends of 10-mile qualifying runs. The field includes 26 veterans and 7 rookies with an average speed of 160.251 miles per hour.

Turn to page 31 for the starting lineup.

MARIN BROAD JUMPER WINS NORCAL TITLE

Ellis Williams, College of Marin's record breaking broad jumper, won the Northern California Junior College track and field event Saturday with a leap of 24 feet even. The meet was held at Foothill College in Los Altos.

Williams leaped 24 feet, 4½ inches the previous Saturday at the Norcal trials at Modesto, good for a meet record and snapping one of the oldest records at College of Marin.

His 24-4½ broke the 23-3 mark established by Arnold Nutting in 1934. Nutting, now a San Rafael doctor, also holds two other Marin records set in 1934. The 100-yard dash (9.9) and 220 (21.8).

Williams will be competing in the State Junior College championships next Saturday at Modesto, and according to Marin coach Pete Limm, has a good chance to win first place.

Two, Maybe Three Marin Champions

There will be at least two and possibly three champion teams when the 1966 Marin Athletic League varsity baseball season comes to an action-packed close tomorrow.

Marin Catholic can rest easily after already clinching a tie for the title, but the heat is on for Novato, San Rafael and Tamalpais, all with chances for part of the championship crown.

Novato hosts San Rafael tomorrow, with the winner getting part of the title and Tamalpais, needing a win to get its share, hosts Drake. Redwood and Terra Linda, each with a 5-6 record, will have a battle of their own on the Redwood diamond, the winner ending with a winning MAL season. All three games start at 4 p.m.

Marin Catholic clinched its tie by beating Novato 3-1 last Friday, winding up regular season play with an 8-4 mark. The loss dropped the Hornets to 7-4. Tam nipping San Rafael 2-1 last Friday, gave bath teams 7-4 marks, while hapless Drake lost its 11th leageu game without a triumph when Terra Linda edged the Pirates 5-4.

A flip of a coin will probably

HANLEY

Less than one-quarter of the 1966 National League baseball race already has been run. In the early going it was difficult to differentiate between second and first division clubs, excluding the Cubs. The race still hasn't begun to shape up and won't until the All-Star break.

Cincinnati's Reds, the pre-season pennant pick of many, got pocketed in the barrier break but now are making their move after dropping 14 of their first 20. That eight under .500 was a tough handicap to overcome in the time the Reds erased it. They moved to the plus side of .500 during the weekend.

HOUSTON'S ASTROS are the surprise team this year, a jump-up outfit that has every Astrodome customer excited. Joe Morgan, the Astros' big hitting little second baseman, is for real. He gave Jim Lefebvre of the Dodgers a tough run for Rookie of the Year honors last season. But there are many skeptical baseball veterans who believe the Astros are just in temporary orbit.

WHEN THE Giants were in their 12-game win streak and recognized strong contenders dropped 7 to 10 games off the pace, the inevitable talk of a runaway began earlier than usual. It was silly talk. The Mets stopped it by stopping the Giant streak a couple of weekends ago in New York.

At the height of the Giant streak, the Reds were 10 lengths to the rear of the front-running Giants. In one week while the Giants were losing five out of six, the Reds halved their deficit to five games. That's just one bit of evidence that makes talk of a runaway by any club ridiculous.

DURING THE 12-game Giant streak the team batting average was only .250 but with runners in scoring position the team hit .294. That kind of clutch hitting, coupled with strong pitching, fashioned the streak. It wasn't accomplished by customary heroics of Willie Mays.

In fact, Mays went into a slump during the streak and was .221 (17-for-77) over a 14-game stretch from May 5-21. That's a negative statistic with definitely positive aspects. The Giants can win ball games without Mays' bat but, of course, they can't win any pennant without it.

WHEN WILLIE breaks out of his momentary slump—and there isn't a doubt he will—winning games should be easier for the Giants. At least, it will be easier for Jim Ray Hart, Willie McCovey, Jim Davenport and Tom Haller whose bats delivered a lot of key hits recently.

Marichal Ahead Of Dean's Pace

By JACK STEVENSON

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Juan Marichal bids to become the first major league pitcher since Dizzy Dean to win 30 games in a season and right now the San Francisco right-handed ace hurls at a pace two weeks ahead of that set by the St. Louis great in 1934.

The 27-year-old from the Dominican Republic tossed a three-hitter at the New York Mets yesterday for a 5-0 victory, his eighth triumph without defeat and third shutout of 1966.

Thirty-two years ago, Dean didn't win his eighth game until June 10 en route to a 30-7 season and a place in the Hall of Fame.

In 78 innings work, Marichal posts a 0.69 earned-run-average, disproving the theory of some that the fight with John Roseboro of the Los Angeles Dodgers last year might permanently damage his pitching career.

After the battle in which he hit Roseboro with a bat, Marichal was only 3-4 finishing the 1965 season. Still he won a total of 22 games and became the only major league hurler notching 20 or more victories the past three campaigns.

"He isn't using the fast ball as much, but I think he is pitching better than ever," commented the Giants hurling coach, Larry Jansen. "His control seems better because he stays ahead of the hitters more. He never was wild, but he certainly is using many different pitches this year."

It took only 93 pitches for Juan to beat the Mets, who came back for a split by winning 7-2 behind Jack Hamilton in the nightcap at Candlestick Park before 40,496.

FAST START

"I've never had a start like this," Marichal admitted. "I didn't use the fast ball much against the Mets and was throwing screwballs, curves and charge-ups to get them out."

It marked the 15th consecutive victory over the New Yorkers who have never beaten Marichal.

"You're talking about the best," answered Mets Manager Wes Westrum when asked about his club's chief tormentor.

Juan joined the list of minor San Francisco casualties when he twisted an ankle retiring Ron Hunt at first base in the ninth inning, but he's expected to take his usual turn on the mound in search of victory No. 9.

If he keeps setting down the Mets, he may someday crack the all-time Major League record of Christy Mathewson who beat St. Louis 24 straight times from June 1904 to September of 1908.

Westrum was pleased with Hamilton and the Mets, declaring, "I think they did well bouncing back; they never gave up."

The Giants enjoyed an open date today to rest a series of injuries which trainer Leo Hughes termed, "pesky and miserable, but not serious."

Willie Mays wasn't feeling well, so manager Herman Franks did not use him in the doubleheader. Willie McCovey

Lip Chased . . . Cubs, Braves Split; Dodgers, Reds Lose

By MURRAY CHASS
Associated Press Sports Writer

Leo Durocher said what Harry Wendelstedt did to him was illegal. He could have said the same about Hank Aaron.

Wendelstedt, a rookie umpire in the National League, ejected Durocher from the opener of the Chicago-Atlanta doubleheader yesterday, marking the first time the Cubs' manager has been tossed out of a game this season.

Aaron was even rougher on Durocher, rapping four hits and driving in two runs as the Braves won the game 5-2. The Atlanta veteran came back with two more hits in the nightcap, but the Cubs pulled it out 4-3.

Durocher, managing again after a nine-year absence from the top job, was thrown out at the start of the fourth inning.

"He had no right to throw me out," the fiery Cub complained afterward. "I didn't say anything to him. That's illegal."

Durocher explained that some of the Cubs were riding Wendelstedt, and the plate umpire came over to the dugout and threatened to eject Durocher if they didn't stop.

"I wasn't the one saying anything," Durocher said. "Why did he pick on me?"

Aaron picked on Durocher, too. He went into the doubleheader with three straight hits and extended his streak to eight, two away from the National League record, before Ernie Broglio struck him out in the fourth inning of the nightcap.

HIKES AVERAGE

Aaron, batting .250 when the day started, raised his average to .279 by collecting six hits in seven at-bats. He lashed three singles and a double in the opener and two singles in the second game.

Durocher probably would prefer Wendelstedt's treatment any time.

Elsewhere in the National League San Francisco blanked New York 5-0 before bowing 7-2, Pittsburgh stopped Los Angeles 4-0, Philadelphia whipped Houston 6-1 and St. Louis edged Cincinnati 4-3.

Aaron had help in the opener from Gene Oliver, who hit a two-run double. The Cubs won the nightcap in the ninth inning when Byron Browne raced home on Clay Carroll's wild pitch. George Altman drove in the Cubs' first three runs with a pair of homers.

DODGERS STYMIED

Pittsburgh's Bob Veale stymied the Dodgers on five hits and received support from Donn Clendenon's run-scoring single in the first inning and a two-run double by Manny Mota in the fourth. Maury Wills stole the 400th base of his career for Los Angeles in the ninth.

Philadelphia received eight-hit pitching from Jim Bunning and eight walks from three Houston pitchers. Clay Dalrymple drove in two runs with a single and a bases-loaded walk.

Orlando Cepeda let in the tie-breaking run with a throwing error in the seventh inning but came back with a run-scoring single in the ninth that pulled St. Louis into a 3-3 deadlock. Cincinnati's Leo Cardenas threw wildly on the single, and Curt Flood raced home with the winning run.

Mets Come Back To Split With Giants

was hit on the left hand by a pitch in the first game and sat out the second. Both are expected back for the National League leaders' Tuesday night game against Pittsburgh.

Jimmy Hart provided the Giants' power in the twin bill. He drove in three runs in the opener, which included his 10th homer of the year. He hit No. 11 in the seventh inning of the nightcap, spoiling Hamilton's bid for a shutout.

Ron Swoboda homered and tripled for the Mets in the second game. He also was involved in a beanball incident with the Giants' Bob Bolin, the reliever for losing starter Ray Sadecki, who didn't last an inning.

In the fourth inning, Bolin drew a $50 fine from plate umpire Al Barlick for a pitch which sent the Mets' outfielder into the dirt.

"My had didn't stay up there very long," Swoboda commented. "I took a fast elevator down and left the helmet in the air."

Bolin demurred, saying, "That pitch was so high he didn't have any cause for complaint."

On the next throw the batter's shirt was nicked, so he was awarded first base. But this time no one claimed Bolin was trying to hit him.

Ross Valley Kiwanis Club has received approval from the National Collegiate Athletic Assn. to stage its second Marin County All-Star football game, it was announced today.

The game is scheduled Thursday, Aug. 25, at 8 p.m. at College of Marin Stadium in Kentfield and will match outstanding graduating high school players from Novato, Terra Linda, San Rafael, Tomales and San Rafael Military Academy of North Marin against stars from Tamalpais, Drake, Redwood and Marin Catholic representing South Marin.

Tickets, priced at $2 for adults, $1.50 for students and 50 cents for children will go on sale early next month, locations to be announced later.

decide which of the Marin champs will play in the Redwood Tournament of Champions which gets underway Thursday at Albert Park. Since there's only one day between the MAL finals and the start of the tourney, there will be no time for a possible three-team playoff, and the teams' pitching staffs would be all worn out by then.

There is another scramble in the league which is going right down to the wire: The batting championship. Seven percentage points separate the top four hitters in the league.

Terra Linda shortstop Fred Daniele is leading with a .378 mark, followed by Marin Catholic catcher John Komo, .375; Novato pitcher-first baseman John Dolinsek, .375, and Tamalpais first baseman Mike Einstein, .371. Daniele is way in front of the field in runs batted in, 13. His nearest competitors have 8.

Novato pitcher Wayne Jones is the only hurler without a defeat, carrying a 3-0 record, but Tam's Ron Gilliam has won the most games, 6, with only 1 loss.

NCS DIVISION II MEET

Terra Linda, San Rafael, Drake Swimmers Sparkle

Terra Linda and Sir Francis Drake high schools' varsity swimming teams turned in the top performances for Marin Athletic League squads competing in the North Coast Section, Division II meet at Martinez last Saturday, while San Rafael's Jim Allen headed the list of individual performers.

Allen placed first in the 200-yard freestyle event with a 1:55.5, and earned a fourth in the 100 free, 52.6.

Other commendable individual performances were registered by three Drake High School mermen, and Terra Linda's Bob Keller who racked up 291 points in diving competition.

Bob Girvin, second in the 100 back, 1:00.1; John Skaer, third in the 100 breast, 1:06.4 and, Ben Edmands, third in the 100-yard butterfly, 59.4, were the big stars for Drake.

Drake's 200 medley relay team (Girvin, Skaer, Paul Sagues, Edmands) placed first with a 1:46.9. That same relay combo holds the MAL record in that event, 1:46.1, but the Martinez pool, which had no gutter along the side, accounted for the meet's slow times.

CLASS B

Team honors were shared by San Rafael's Bullpups and Tam's Indians in Class B action but the Bullpups strictly headlined individual performances.

San Rafael's 200 medley relay team finished second with a 1:56.3, and Tam's 200 free relay quartet also chalked up a second, 1:41.8.

Bullpups Jim Morris, Dave Topance and Dave Stein all notched firsts for the San Rafael splashers, Morris winning the 100-yard breast in 1:08.2 seconds; Topance racing to a 24.6 clocking in the 50 free, and Stein posting a 26.7 in the 50-yard fly.

Tam's Bruce Averill won two places for the Indians, fourth in the 100 individual medley, 1:04.5, and second in the 100 backstroke, 1:07.0.

DIVER STARS

Another of the better marks posted by a "Bee" aquamen was registered by Terra Linda diver Bob Brandt, 220.15 points. That's just 1.25 points shy of the MAL record held by Redwood's Ed Lederman.

Although team scores were not recorded Saturday, they will be kept next weekened when the first nine mermen in each varisty and Class B event trek to Santa Rosa to compete in the North Coast Section finals.

The first preliminary trials are slated Friday for the varsity 400 freestyle event; the Class B 200 free, and both varsity and "Bee" diving. Trials for all other events resume Saturday morning, 9:30 a.m., with finals to follow 90 minutes after the heats are completed, approximately 1:30 p.m.

Here's how Marin mermen placed Saturday:

Litchfield '9' Sweeps Three Weekend Tilts

Winning three weekend games, the Litchfield's semi-pro baseball team served notice it's going to be a strong contender in the state tournament next month.

The San Rafael team came from behind three times to win the games. Saturday night it was 9-3 over Husteads, and yesterday it was both ends of a doubleheader against the Gino Benedetti nine from San Francisco, 9-4 in the seven-inning opener and 5-1 in the second game.

Dave Aldrich, hurler for the University of California, was the winning pitcher in the Saturday game, relieving starter Harvey Kaufman. Winning hurlers yesterday were Rich Nye, another Cal pitcher, and Bob DeRosa, veteran of the Litchfield's staff. Nye struck out 14 men, an average of two per inning.

Barry Krohn continued his heavy hitting in all three games, hitting a homer and double for four runs batted in in Saturday's win, a bases-loaded triple and two-run single for five RBI in yesterday's opener, and a double and single for three RBI in the second game. The first baseman's total RBI production for the weekend was an even dozen.

Other big hitters for Litchfield's were Doug Wilson, who got two singles and a double in one game and two doubles in another; Alex Barrett with a total of three doubles and two singles, and Gary Bosch, a base-loaded double in the second game.

Terra Linda Soph Hurls No-Hitter

Sophomore lefthander Ted Linzy pitched a no-hitter to lead the Terra Linda junior varsity baseball team to a 4-0 triumph over Drake last Friday on the Terra Linda field.

Linzy faced just 22 batters in the seven-inning game. The one man to reach base got there on a walk, and he got as far as second before the side was retired in the seventh inning.

Clay Vs. Jones, Uncle Sam Next

By EDDY GILMORE

LONDON (AP) — Cassius Clay returns home tomorrow with two potential opponents in mind and an unbeatable foe in his future.

Clay mentioned both Doug Jones and West Germany's Karl Mildenberger as possible opponents for his next fight — which he said will be in about two months — after disposing of London's Henry Cooper in six rounds Saturday night.

Of perhaps more immediate concern to the unbeaten heavyweight champion, however, is the one guy even Cassius admits he can't take out.

"There's one who's too tough for me," Clay said. "Old Uncle Sam. I can't take him on."

And Uncle has some designs on Clay. First, the Internal Revenue Service wants about $115,000 of the reported $350,000 Clay received for the scheduled 15 rounder in an outdoor soccer stadium.

Then there's the matter of Clay's draft status, currently 1-A, which Cassius, alias Muhammed Ali, is appealing on the basis of religion and financial hardship. He's a Black Muslim and has appealed that he's a conscientious objector.

NASTY CUT

He echoed those sentiments after opening a 12-stitch cut over Cooper's left eye, a cut that pumped blood all over both fighters, spotted the ring, sprayed over ringside reporters and forced referee George Smith to stop it at 1:38 of the sixth round.

"I was sorry to see it end like that," Clay said. "I don't mind admitting I was a bit disturbed by all that blood. I didn't really want the violence to continue. I don't really like hurting anyone. It's against my religion.

"It was terrible to see him cut so much. I didn't really relish hitting him when I saw the blood spurt."

Up until that point the 32-year-old Cooper had been doing very well, pressing the fight all the way, while Clay danced away in a clockwise motion, always moving away from Cooper's only real weapon — a left hand that knocked Cassius down in a nontitle fight three years ago. Cassius came back to win that one on a fifth-round cut of Henry's tender eyes.

BOUT EVEN

The Associated Press gave Henry the first two rounds, called the third even and gave the fourth and fifth to Clay. Under British rules, the referee is the only official and his card is never announced.

There were no knockdowns and no one was really hurt until Clay opened the cut.

Cooper, who came in at 188, said Clay butted it open when they banged heads.

"It was a left and a right and a right that did the damage. I don't think there was any chance of a butt," said Clay, who was the lightest of his career at 201½.

In any event Clay immediately began casting about for another opponent, and he wants one in a hurry — before his draft appeal is decided.

"I think Jones could be the next one because of that controversial fight we had," Clay said. "Or maybe the European challenger, Mildenberger. Anyway I want to fight again in two months."

Clay defeated Jones on points over 10 rounds in New York in 1963 — a decision that many disagreed with.

SWIFT, ELUSIVE

He was his usual fighting self — swift, elusive, pecking away with a deceptively hard left, almost contemptious of his opponent — but was strangely reserved and polite in his associations with the press and public.

There were some reports of racial unrest after remarks by the crowd following the fight, but Clay dismissed them as the reactions of fans pulling for a hometown boy.

The fight drew about 42,000 to the outdoor stadium, and was shown in some 40 theaters in England and Scotland on closed circuit television. It was also shown on home television, via Early Bird Satellite, in the United States and North America.

Torres May Bid For Clay Fight; Thornton Routed

By MURRAY ROSE

NEW YORK (AP) — If heavyweight king Cassius Clay runs out of opponents in his own division and is still available for boxing, he may find light heavyweight champion Jose Torres knocking on his door.

Torres, easy conqueror of Wayne Thornton in a title defense at Shea Stadium Saturday night, hinted he would like to take on Clay, who stopped Britain's Henry Cooper on cuts in the sixth round in London.

The 30-year-old ruler of the 175-pound class said he watched the telecast of Clay stopping Cooper and declared: "I had more trouble with Thornton than I would have with Clay."

Torres scored two first round knockdowns and soundly drubbed Thornton, the No. 1 contender from Fresno, Calif., in a brawl marred by the challenger's constant fouling.

The handsome, 26-year-old Californian broke every rule in the book, butted a small cut over Torres' right eye in the first round, and kept grabbing the champion's powerful left arm as if it was a loose $100 bill.

Cus D'Amato, former manager of ex-heavyweight champion Floyd Patterson, and now one of Torres' advisors, said he was confident his 5-10, 175-pound protege could beat the 6-3, 201-pound Clay.

"Clay's main assets are his speed, boxing ability and size," said D'Amato. "Jose is faster, a better boxer, hits harder and can overcome the difference in size and weight. I think he would be the toughest opponent for Clay."

Torres won the decision over the 174-pound Thornton by a lopsided margin. The officials had him ahead by the following round scores: Judges Al Berl and Artie Aidala, 10-4-1 each, and referee Johnny LoBianco, 12-2-1. The A.P. card had it 13-2 for Torres.

Thornton, winner of six straight previously, moaned he was hit by a shot in the kidney in the first round "and I never got over it. I thought a kidney punch was illegal here. After that I didn't have any snap. I had no power to stay on him."

Asked if he knew that he was violating the rules with his tactics, Thornton replied: "Yes, I knew it. I would have hit him with the stool if I could."

"This was for the title," added his manager, Pat DiFuria.

A threat of rain and possibly earlier telecast of the Cooper-Clay fight, hurt the gate. The promoters, Combat, Inc., said a crowd of about 12,000 paid an estimated $100,000. The crowd appeared closer to 7,000. Combat said television and Latin American radio broadcasts added about $50,000 to the pot.

Kauai King Shoots For 'Triple Crown'

By GEORGE BOWEN

BALTIMORE (AP) — Now comes Kauai King, bidding for the big one that has gotten away so many times.

Tim Tam tried it — and failed.

Carry Back tried it — and failed.

Northern Dancer tried it — and failed.

Now it's Kauai King, with victories in the Kentucky Derby and Preakness, going for the Belmont Stakes — bidding for a sweep of the Triple Crown that has been accomplished only eight times since 1877 and not at all since Citation turned the trick in 1948.

"I was confident before the Preakness," jockey Don Brumfield said, and predicted that the lung-straining 1½ miles of the Belmont will be no trouble for Kauai King, who will be a $5,000 supplemental nominee for the June 4 test at Aqueduct.

Since Citation, Tim Tam, Carry Back and Northern Dancer all swept the first two legs of the gruelling test for 3-year-olds, only to be beaten in the Belmont, the longest of the Triple Crown series. The Derby is 1¼ miles, the Preakness 1 3-16.

But the picture is more promising than usual for Kauai King, whose father, Native Dancer, took the Preakness and Belmont after being nipped in the Derby for his only defeat.

The list of prospective opponents he has not already beaten is almost non-existent. Normally, there are at least a couple of trainers who have been biding their time for the Belmont. None is known at this time.

FRESH FACE

The only possible fresh face to tackle Kauai King that comes to mind is Creme Dela Creme. He won his first six races this year, then lost in the Withers mile to Indulto, who finished a fading fifth in the Preakness.

The big question in the Belmont is whether the colts can last its distance. "Definitely," replies Brumfield of Kauai King.

His performances, particularly in the Preakness, substantiate Brumfield. Only one other horse, Nashua in 1955, ever ran the last three-sixteenths of a mile as fast at Pimlico.

"He had more left in him than at the end of the Derby," Brumfield said.

Although Brumfield whipped Kauai King with his left hand only a couple of times to keep him straight in the stretch, they were nearly two lengths ahead of Stupendous at the finish.

It was another five lengths back to Amberoid and straggling in order were Rehabilitate, Indulto, Advocator, Exceedingly, Understanding and Blue Skyer.

EIGHTH VICTORY

It was the eighth victory in 10 starts this year for Kauai King and hiked his earnings for owner Mike Ford to $369,027.

Brumfield let Stupendous and jockey Braulio Baeza take the lead on the first turn and then ters of a mile.

Turning for home, Brumfield chirped to his mount "and I gradually let him run to Stupendous. After drawing clear, he was really picking them up and laying them down and he drew on out." The time was 1:55 2-5.

Huskies Crew Cops Sprint At Vallejo

VALLEJO (AP)—Washington poses a threat in the Intercollegiate Rowing Assn. regatta after winning the Western Sprint Championships.

The Huskies were stroking about 36 beats a minute Saturday at the finish after averaging 33. The time was six minutes, 51 seconds for 2,000 meters.

Stanford was second at 6:54.3, California third in 6:55.6. Other places went to UCLA, 7:06. Santa Clara 7:07.5, and Long Beach State, 7:11.0.

California led by four feet at the 1,800 meter mark but the Bears' Mike Page caught a crab which slowed the boat drastically as Washington raced past for the lead.

Washington won the junior varsity event in 5:59.6. The Orange Coast freshmen won in 5:26.1, the day's fastest time. But the frosh were aided by a strong tide and tail winds.

The varsity races were against the tide on the Mare Island Straits near Vallejo.

Other junior varsity finishers were Orange Coast, 6:03.9; University of British Columbia, 6:06.4; Stanford 6:10.8; San Diego State, 6:13.7, and California, 6:15.2.

For freshmen, California was second in 5:26.7; Stanford, 5:27.3; UC Irvine, 5:30.6; Oregon State, 5:34.0; Santa Clara, 5:45.5, and St. Mary's, 5:50.9.

In the lightweight varsity event, Oregon State won in 5:38.0, followed by Santa Clara, 5:48.8, and St. Mary's, 5:49.2.

San Anselmans Divide Coast Softball Bill

Sohner Tree Service divided a coast traveling league softball doubleheader with Half Moon Bay Saturday at San Mateo's Fitzgerald Park.

The Treemen of San Anselmo nabbed the opener, 5-3, but dropped a 1-0 verdict in the nightcap.

Sohner has now split all three of its league doubleheaders and is tied with Hayward for third place in the six-team Class AAA league with a 3-3 mark.

All three Sohner losses have been by one run: 2-1, 3-2 and 1-0.

Sohner jumped off to a five-run lead in the first three innings of Saturday's opener, then held on to notch the victory behind the six-hit hurling of Morey Swarm.

The Treemen left nine runners stranded in being blanked in the second game by Half Moon Bay's heralded Ed Pickett. Sohner had the bases loaded with one out in the fifth and a runner on third with no outs in the sixth, yet could not score.

U.S. Supreme Court Refuses Obscene Recording Hearing

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court refused today to hear a case that challenges the constitutionality of federal law prohibiting the mailing of obscene material.

Joe Davis, a New York City phonograph dealer, asked the court to review his conviction on charges of mailing obscene records and mailing them in obscene wrappers. The U.S. Circuit Court in New York upheld the conviction in a 2-1 ruling last December.

At the same sitting the high court threw out the mail obscenity conviction of William Hoyet Redmond and his wife, Dorothy Lucille, of Nashville, Tenn., who took nude pictures of each other and received prints of their film through the mails.

In that case the court in an unsigned opinion took the view of the Justice Department that this was private correspondence and did not call for action except in exceptional circumstances such as repeated offenses.

In the phonographic obscenity case three justices noted that they would reverse Davis' conviction. They were Hugo L. Black, William O. Douglas and Potter Stewart.

Davis's attorney claimed, among other things, that he was convicted without proof that he "knew the character of the matter and without proof that he knew or had reason to believe it obscene."

He was tried by a jury in a federal court in the Southern District of New York, fined $1,000 on one count of the indictment and received six-month suspended sentences on 22 other counts.

Davis's lawyer told the supreme court the mailing wrapper employed "double entendre" humor of a kind "commonly used in present-day culture."

Two records were involved. One, "Erotica," did not contain words, the lawyer said, "only percussion instruments and various human sounds." The second, "Nights of Love in Lesbos," was described as an oral rendition of extracts from the poem "Songs of Bilitis," by the French poet Pierre Louys.

"Louys's work is recognized by scholars as possessing artistic merit," the appeal said. "We do not believe standards should differ in determining the obscenity of books and records."

Chief Judge J. Edward Lumbard said for the Circuit Court: "The sole issue before us is . .. whether Davis is entitled to first amendment protection because the labels and records are not obscene. We find that they are obscene under the tests established by the Supreme Court. . . ."

The Supreme Court's standard for obscenity, established in its 1957 Roth decision, is "whether to the average person, applying contemporary community standards, the dominant theme of the material taken as a whole appeals to the prurient interest."

In the nude picture case the Justice Department said Redmond and his wife had no record of involvement in obscene materials or sex-related offenses.

Agreeing, the Supreme Court ordered the U.S. District Court in Nashville to dismiss the case against them. Redmond had been sentenced to nine months imprisonment and his wife got six months.

Election Day Editorial Given Court Approval

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court upheld today the right of an Alabama editor to publish a political editorial on election day.

Alabama had sought to prosecute James E. Mills, of the Birmingham Post-Herald, for an election day editorial published in 1962.

Justice Hugo L. Black said application of the state's anti-electioneering law to Mills would be a "flagrant abridgement of the constitutionally guaranteed freedom of the press."

The other eight high court justices agreed that Mills should not be prosecuted, but Justice John M. Harlan preferred that the case first move through state courts. Mills has been charged under the law, but has not been tried.

Davis Students Elect Marinite As President

Robert Black, 19, son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Black of 144 Tamal Vista Drive, San Rafael, is the new student body president at the University of California, Davis, for the school year that starts in September.

Black was president of the Marin Young Democrats in 1964-65, and was student body president at San Rafael High School in 1964. He is a political science major.

Elected vice president of the student body was another Marin youth, Jack Edwards of Terra Lnda, former president of the student body at Terra Linda High School. Retiring vice president is Carol Hahn of San Rafael, who was student body vice president at San Rafael High School.

Ron Clausen of San Rafael was elected representative at large to the legislative assembly of the associated students at Davis.

Court Allows Tax Charge New Trial

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court permitted today reinstatement of an indictment that charged Ben Blue, Hollywood entertainer, with attempts to evade federal income taxes.

Justice John M. Harland delivered the unanimous decision, which pointed out that Blue at a trial may now use his Fifth Amendment guarantee against self-incrimination.

Today's decision was given on Justice Department appeal from a dismissal of the indictment by U.S. Dist. Judge Peirson M. Hall in Los Angeles. The dismissal was on the ground Blue's right not to be a witness against himself had been violated.

The indictment said Blue reported income for 1958 through 1960 totaling $71,240 and paid $21,954 tax. It charged he should have reported $117,187 income and paid $44,934 tax.

Blue was indicted Aug. 6, 1964. Judge hall dismissed the indictment Feb. 8, 1965.

Father Defends Son's Refusal To Fire Gun

NEW ORLEANS (UPI) —The father of Pvt. Adam R. Weber Jr., facing court martial in South Viet Nam for refusing to bear arms against the Viet Cong said today his son had no choice, that the Ten Commandments say, "Thou shalt not kill."

"He's not afraid of being shot, that I'd like to stake my life on," said the elder Weber of his 24-year-old son.

The soldier's court martial was to have begun today in Saigon, but the Defense Department notified his New Orleans attorney, Benjamin E. Smith, yesterday that the trial had been postponed indefinitely.

The postponement was requested by New York attorney William Kunstler, who with Smith and attorney Arthur Kinoy, also of New York, represent the defense team. The three men are scheduled to meet in New York Thursday to plan their trial strategy.

The younger Weber attended Catholic schools all his life and spent five years in a seminary studying for the priesthood.

He was inducted into the army last November.

"He was called by his draft board and he answered the call. He stated he would serve his country in any capacity except killing," said the father.

The elder Weber said his son was sent home for 10 days pending an investigation, then he was drafted.

"He offered no resistance, but I'm quite sure he advised his commanding officers at each duty station of his stand againt firing a gun in Viet Nam," said the father.

Weber said the soldier requested service in the Medical Corps and made the highest score among men being tested for the Corps, but he was assigned instead to the infantry.

Farm Workers Show Increase

SACRAMENTO (AP) — California farm employment stood at 332,700 in mid-May, up 56,000 from April and 6,800 over the same month last year, State Employment Director Albert B. Tieburg said today.

In a report to the State Board of Agriculture, Tieburg said the bulk of the increase in the farm labor force centered in deciduous fruit and cotton pre-harvest work.

Compared to last year, there were 6,600 more domestic workers employed on farms and 750 fewer imported foreign workers.

Stock Market Selling Wave Cuts Good Close

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market closed higher today after weathering a sharp selloff late in the afternoon. Trading was fairly active.

Stocks were up from the start in a follow-through to Friday's late rally. Most major groups advanced.

A gust of selling upset the airlines late in the afternoon and trimmed many prices throughout the list. Some of the airlines showed net losses exceeding a point in late dealings.

Volume for the day was estimated a 6.8 million shares compared with 6.43 million Friday.

Multipoint gains were made by many of the glamor stocks in color television, other electronics, office equipments, airlines, aerospace and photography.

Key stocks pushed up the averages. Xerox rose 5, Schering, Eastman Kodak and Zenith 3 each, Polaroid about 3½, Merck 2.

Motorola ran up half a dozen points, Admiral about 4½, Fairchild Camera 4, Northwest Airlines 4, SCM, Collins Radio, Chemetron and Chicago Great Western preferred about 3 each.

Sperry Rand, up a fraction, looked like a repeater as most active stock.

Texas Instrument's new stock climbed nearly 3 while Johnson & Johnson sank about 2½.

Gains of a point or more were made by Texas Gulf Sulphur, Comsat, Associated Dry Goods, Standard Oil (New Jersey), Liggett & Myers, United air Lines, Du Pont, Union Carbide, Raytheon, United Aircraft, Goodrich, Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer and Westinghouse Electric.

Prices advanced in heavy trading on the American Stock Exchange.

Better Business Bureau Plans New Office

The Better Business Bureaus of America will open an "Office for Consumer Affairs" in Washington D.C. after Labor Day.

The announcement was made today by Charles H. Kellstadt, chairman of the assocation, at the opening session of the 52nd annual conference of Better Business Bureaus International in San Francisco.

The Washington office will maintain close liaison with federal government departments and agencies, Congress and national consumer and business organizations, said Kellstadt, who is also chairman of the Better Business Bureaus Foundation which is being activated to support and direct the operations of the Office for Consumer Affairs.

"The nation's network of 126 bureaus in the most valid, most experienced and by far the most effective agency that exists to serve the American consumer," he said. "Up to now these bureaus have been serving at the consumer's neighborhood level, but now their service must be expanded to the national level."

Last year, Better Business Bureaus reviewed and investigated 50,772 advertisements in all media and made nearly three and one-half million consumer contacts. Many of these had to do with complainis against business firms, others answered requests for information and more than two million were in response to questions about business reputation and practice. The bureaus also distributed 930,000 booklets on 50 consumer subjects, and more than one million leaflets, handbills and envelope stuffers.

Plans are now being made, Kellstadt said, for the Better Business Bureaus Foundation to sponsor an annual National Conference on Consumer Affairs. The first conference is tentatively set for Washington next year.

Manufacturing Gains In April

SAN FRANCISCO—California manufacturing chalked up its eighth consecutive monthly gain in April according to recent figures just released by the Bank of California.

The bank reported value added by manufactures totaled $20.5 billion last month riding on gains of 1.36 per cent during the month and 12.38 per cent since last April. Manufacturing is expected to reach a $20.28 billion seasonally adjusted annual rate by the end of May.

Gains for the month reflected a strong performance by durable manufactures, particularly metal connected industries. Accounting for two-thirds of all manufacturing, durables jumped 1.6 per cent in April to $13.3 billion. April's durable production levels were 14.75 per cent above those reported last year.

Pepsi Cola Going To Ignacio; Mortgage Firm In New Quarters

Within the next three months Pepsi Cola Bottling Co. is expected to move its Marin distribution plant from 25 Market Street, San Rafael, north to a new building in Ignacio.

Pepsi Cola and its subsidiary Belfast Beverages, Inc. have purchased a one-acre site at Hamilton Industrial Park, which already has Marin Products Co. and Crockett's Van and Storage as occupants, and Bekins Van and Storage signed up for future occupancy. The sale was handled by Ray Van Meter and Clay Carter of Coldwell, Banker and Co., exclusive agent for the park.

Note: Hamilton Industrial Park is often confused with Northgate Industrial Park. The two are almost four miles apart.

According to Robert Brossier, manager of the San Rafael Pepsi plant which operates in approximately 8,000 square feet and is buldging out at the sides, the Ignacio warehouse will be two to three times as large and afford them much more needed room for expansion. No production facilities are contemplated immediately, but there will be enough space if a bottling plant is desired later. Construction of the building should get under way soon.

MARIN MORTGAGE CO. has moved from 900 Mission Avenue, San Rafael, to new quarters at 1435 Fourth Street. William Wilson, previously with First Pioneer Mortgage Co. for five years, has been appointed a loan officer.

The company was recently acquired by Redwood National Bank and is operated as its wholly-owned subsidiary. New offices are adjacent to the bank's offices at Fourth and E Streets. Robert C. McGowan and John J. Hourihan continue as administrative officers.

SOUTHWEST YACHT SUPPLIES, INC., now at 36-A Front Street, San Rafael, has been appointed exclusive wholesale marin distributor in California for the Stowaway heater manufactured by Raymond J. Moonen Co., Sausalito. It will be sold through marine dealers and boatyards.

GEORGE CHENAULT of San Rafael, who has been manager of the Benecia Safeway Store, has been promoted to manager-in-training at Honolulu. He started his Safeway career in 1955 as a food clerk in Mill Valley, was promoted to assistant store manager in 1958 and became Benecia manager last December. The new appointment was effective yesterday.

JUDGE CARLOS R. FREITAS of Freitas, Allen, McCarthy and Bettini, San Rafael, has been elected vice president of the board of regents, of Saint Mary's College.

SERVING ALL OF MARIN COUNTY

34 EDITORIAL PAGE Mon., May 23, 1966 San Rafael, Calif.

TODAY'S EDITORIAL:

GOP Attorney General Nod Goes To Spencer Williams

Of three Republicans seeking the GOP nomination for state attorney general, two appear to be in serious contention.

They are Julius A. (Jud) Leetham, 47, of Los Angeles, and Spencer Williams, 44, of Santa Clara County.

The third man is James J. Oppen, 46, a Van Nuys attorney, whose only claim to fame appears to be his opposition to all-digit telephone dialing two years ago.

The two front-runners, Leetham and Williams, are men of considerable experience, both in law and in public service.

Leetham was chairman of the Republican Central Committee of Los Angeles until last February when he resigned to toss his hat into the political ring. He was chairman and one of the organizers of the National Conference of Republican County Chairmen.

In the legal field, Leetham was attorney for the Reconstruction Finance Corp., served as law instructor at Southwestern University, and was Jury Commissioner for the U.S. District Court for six years.

Spencer Williams has been county counsel of Santa Clara County for 10 years. He supervises a staff of 28 employees, including 15 attorneys.

He was president of the District Attorneys Association of California and president of the National Association of County Civil Attorneys in 1963-64.

The platforms of both men are similar. They view with alarm the increase in crime in California and call for stiffer penalties against law breakers, especially those dealing in dangerous drugs.

Both men appear to be steering clear of extremism of both the right or left. We trust they will continue to do so.

From their wealth of experience and their demonstrated professional competence, either Jud Leetham or Spencer Williams would make a strong Republican candidate for attorney general.

Republican voters will have a tough choice to make on June 7.

On the basis of Williams' long experience in public office (county counsel), as opposed to Leetham's leadership in partisan work (head of the GOP Central Committee of Los Angeles), we give Williams the nod.

We believe Spencer Williams of Santa Clara County would be the best Republican nominee for attorney general.

As Others See Us

It is so easy to be critical of others. One of mankind's greatest failings is that generally his capacity for criticism does not extend to himself. We all would rather find the character defects of others than honestly search out our own.

It is a compassionate Mother Nature that blinds us to our own faults. If most of us could "see ourselves as others see us," we would probably be quite unhappy. But man is a subjective animal. He rationalizes that he is coldly logical and intellectual. However, when it comes to self, cool objectivity gives way to warm emotion. We love us.

SACRAMENTO SCENE

By EDWIN S. CAPPS

SACRAMENTO — In a rare and friendly joint press conference, the two top men in party politics in California recently enthused over a new plan for collecting campaign funds which they hope may provide half the money in future years.

The joint appearance was by Robert L. Coate, chairman of the Democratic State Central Committee, and Gaylord B. Parkinson, chairman of the Republican State Central Committee. They admitted it was not often they could make a face-to-face appearance on friendly terms.

The program they discussed is an extension and enlargement of activities already being carried on by five large firms in California. In these firms, employees are encouraged to take a part in politics by attending rallies at the plants for various candidates and by contributing financially to the party or candidates of their choice.

BOTH COATE and Parkinson emphasized that the effort must be totally bi-partisan to be effective. In some cases, payroll deductions are authorized for the financial contributions. The amount of money an employee contributes and the party or candidate to which it is assigned remains strictly confidential.

Five large firms in California have acted as pioneers in the program and it's hoped another 40 companies will get into it this year. The party chairmen said the optimum size of a firm for participation is one with about 1,000 employees. Larger companies are welcomed, of course, but sometimes will have difficulties in the sheer volume as far as meeting places, etc.

How effective has the program been with the five firms which have tried it? In 1964, three of the firms — Aerojet-General, Hughes Aircraft, and Ford Motor Company—collected in excess of $300,000 for campaign funds.

In addition, at four of the companies, some 7840 persons were registered to vote. Because of candidates at rallies, it's natural to believe most of the employees became better informed on issues and the personalities of the office-seekers.

THE COMPANIES say the program has been good for personnel relations among employees as it gives them another meeting ground — other than the usual labor-management arena.

Both Coate and Parkinson avoided setting any goal on how much money they hope to see collected when the expanded program gets underway in August—it doesn't function in the primary election or become involved in primary campaigns. But it's obvious they're thinking of more than $1 million this year.

If the new plan is to provide half the money needed for all campaigns in the future, they'd have to be talking about quite a few million dollars.

Short of financing election campaigns through taxes on the public—a plan often advanced but never accepted—the "Good Citizenship Program" proposed by the two party chiefs does seem a good method of spreading costs of political campaigning and eliminating the need for candidates to accept contributions from special interest groups. It should work toward better informing of voters as well.

JUST HOW much such a program — regardless of how successful—would cut down on the present rash of testimonial dinners and other fund raising events, however, is still a question.

Whether it's because the cost of campaigning skyrocketed with the use of television or whether the technique of fund-raising dinners developed into a fine point at the same time is not known. But this year such events have about reached the saturation point.

Many, no doubt, would welcome an end to these events but there's no assurance that collection of campaign funds through the good citizenship program would reduce the volume.

Judge Goldstein Pleasing To Parent

Editor, Independent-Journal:

I would like to express publicly my appreciation of the fine work being done with the young people of Marin by Judge Alvin H. Goldstein Jr. in the Juvenile Traffic Court in San Rafael. Many local parents, I know, have been favorably impressed, not only by this judge's specific decisions and recommendations, but by his dignified, gracious and intelligent attitude toward the "teen-agers" who come before him. All of us who want to live in a civilized community are deeply indebted when an individual appears in a position of authority who is, in his own person, so clearly deserving of our children's respect.

I recently observed a session of the Juvenile Traffic Court. Judge Goldstein's manner with the young people there was appropriately firm without a trace of condescension, scorn or pomposity. He made it clear that he expected first-rate behavior of this group in the future, and that his chief concern was to see that they improved to a point of excellence—not to relieve them of a sense of personal responsibility by doling out meaningless or arbitrary punishments. I was particularly glad to hear him tell his charges that they must do better than we grownups (with our awful record of accidents, injuries and deaths) have been doing on the streets and on the highways. This sort of approach to the "juvenile problem" is all too rare. It is worthy of note, I believe, not only because it is the decent way for an adult to behave, but because, being thoroughly honest and thoroughly realistic, it is the approach most likely to succeed.

By demonstrating his concern and respect for these young people as individuals, Judge Goldstein sets an impressive example for their own future conduct toward others. In the teaching of the young, as we all know, one good example is worth many thousands of words. Thank you, Judge Goldstein.

Is U.S. Harboring Red-Trained African?

Editor, Independent-Journal:

Whither the State Department's Road?

Last week, prominently displayed in the 'Chronicle' was a photograph of, and an interview with, a Mr. Mtambenenge, a black Rhodesian lawyer, and a member of the banned and exiled ZANU party, whose present home is in Zambia. This gentleman, along with another ZANU organiser, Mr. Herbert Chitepo, are principally responsible for the recruitment of terrorist African agents trained in the Nanking Military College in China, and brought to Zambia. . . to cause chaos to the Rhodesian government.

Friday April 30, seven of these terrorists were shot, and many captured in a fierce battle near Sinoia, some 80 miles from Rhodesia's capital, Salisbury. They had been surveyed by police intelligence ever since they were detected some two weeks earlier crossing the Zambezi valley from Zambia.

Amongst the captured documents were pamphlets on the theory of revolutionary tactics as expounded by the communist Chinese, as well as Chinese pistols and Russian automatic weapons and hand grenades of the most modern kind. Rhodesia has, in 1965, captured 80 of these saboteurs, but some of the estimated 500 recruited and trained in China, are still in either Tanzania or Zambia. Mr. Chitepo was one time director of public prosecutions in Tanzania.

Despite the fact that ZANU has been the direct cause of the gasoline-burning deaths, knife killings, and other murder and intimidation of many Africians who did not wish to join ZANU, and despite the fact that Mr. Mtambenenge is spokesman and an organisor of this China controlled organization, he is here in the United States as a guest of the State Department!

Might I ask just how far away from the true road to democratic government can our State Department wander, before the people ask "Whither thou goest, and in whose name!"

Will Of All Not Always Right

Editor, Independent-Journal:

The will of the people is not always the right way. There are times that the will can be for the benefit of a few that are immediately concerned but not for the majority, this will can also be detrimental to an individual property owner, causing him undue financial loss. In May 7th Independent Journal there was an article on the Marincello petition whereby Attorney Sheeks, said, quote, "anyone circulating petitions who intentionally mispresents or makes any false statements in content, purport or effect, is guilty of a crime."

In the case of the billiard parlor permit on Sir Francis Drake Boulevard, it resulted in the loss of several months rent to the property owner as well as loss of income from the business that could have been operating legally. The property is zoned for the use under a permit and should have been allowed its use upon granting of the original approval.

It should behoove anyone signing, initiating or circulating a petition to consider carefully what they are doing and not open themselves up to a possible suit. Mr. Kettenhoffen deserves a big bouquet for his stand on this approval of a legitimate business and the constitutional rights of free enterprise even though this was against the viewpoints of some of his constituents. Also, bouquets to Supervisors Behr, Storer and Leydecker for their vote backing free enterprise as granted by the Constitution of the United States. Let us hope that in the future ALL members of the board will consider the property owner directly involved and HIS right.

Criticism Aimed At New Bowl Leader

Editor, Independent-Journal:

In reference to my recent letter published May 12th concerning bad sportsmanship at the Masters Bowling Tournament in Novato, it is necessary to clarify one point. The President of Women's Bowling Association of Marin should have read "newly elected president" as she will serve for the 1966-67 season. My apologies to the outgoing president for the shower of criticism that has been rained upon her.

Fulbright Uses Chairmanship To Enhance Power Of Speeches

WASHINGTON—It was always idle to think that Sen. William Fulbright might resign as chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee because he is so critical of nearly everything the Democratic administration is doing in foreign policy. Or be goaded into it by Barry Goldwater.

Lately he has been muting his attacks. But Fulbright has certainly not enhanced his reputation for clarity by withdrawing his criticisms — such as "arrogant use of power" and Saigon being "an American brothel"—on the ground that they meant one thing to him and something different to nearly everybody else.

Now he argues that President Johnson has made no "credible offers" for Viet Nam peace talks because we are bombing North Viet Nam. All we have done is stopped twice, once for a week and again for five weeks, to see if there was any "credible" interest in Hanoi.

IF FULBRIGHT were critical of nearly everything merely as an independent senator, the damage would be minor.

The fact is that Fulbright's voice is raised many times by his official committee position. This makes his words sound far more authoritative abroad than at home and causes many to wonder if he is exercising a sense of responsibility equal to the influence his post gives him.

The real culprit in this situation is the congressional vice of permitting each chairmanship, however important, to be inherited by the accident of seniority.

Particularly in the area of foreign policy, this is one of the weaknesses of the American political system.

HOW CAN YOU expect foreign nations to grasp that the chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee—its senior legislative link with the Administration — was selected for the office by a process that bears no relationship to policy?

Is it any wonder that those who hope we are divided and uncertain will be persuaded that we are when Chairman Fulbright says that the President improperly committed us to defend South Viet Nam, when he suggests that we are headed toward becoming a Napoleonic empire?

I am not saying that anybody should want to silence Senator Fulbright. I am saying that the seniority system of allocating committee chairmanships is imposing a heavy burden on the U.S. at a time when the American word and steadfastness in carrying out its commitments ought not to be put in jeopardy in this manner.

It is inherent in the American system of divided powers that the Senate should exercise an independent voice in foreign policy since the Constitution gives it the duty to advise and consent—and to advise and dissent.

BUT IN THE kind of world we are living in today, the chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee ought to be painstakingly prudent and constructive, though he may well maintain independent views.

Sen. Arthur Vanderberg of Michigan was that kind of Republican chairman. Senator George of Georgia was that kind of Democratic chairman.

It can be done—as they have well proved. They maintained their independence and showed initiative.

They were not weak men. They were strong and influential spokesmen for their own views and for the Senate itself. But they were not hecklers and they did not place harrowing burdens on the President.

Johnson Hurrying To Spend $253 Million

By ROBERT S. ALLEN and PAUL SCOTT

WASHINGTON — President Lyndon B. Johnson's frequent admonitions to businessmen and consumers to hold down spending are directly counter to what he himself is doing.

The Economic Development Administration, on White House orders, is laboring strenuously to pump out more than one-quarter billion dollars before July 1—start of the new fiscal year when this money, if unspent, would revert to the Treasury.

Not only would that be a big saving to taxpayers, but a direct and helpful curb on the inflation the President professes to be so concerned about.

BUT THIS ISN'T the way EDA is functioning. Instead of striving to economize and cut spending, the agency, headed by Asst. Commerce Secretary Eugene Foley, is pouring hundreds of millions into the already supercharged national economy in a race against the July 1 deadline.

This means that if he succeeds, and there is no reason to believe he won't, in the next six weeks he will dispense $253,437,000 in grants and loans for a wide variety of state and local projects.

The Economic Development Administration, successor to the Area Redevelopment Agency, set up in the Kennedy administration, was approved by Congress in the closing weeks of the 1965 session.

Its avowed aim is to create jobs by making grants and loans to state and local agencies and non-profit private organizations for public works and new industries. Foley, former head of the Small Business Administration, was put in charge of this Great Society operation.

AT THE PRESIDENT'S urging, Congress voted EDA $332,425,000. In its first eight months it ladled out $78,988,000. That leaves $253,437,000 still to be disposed of by July 1.

It's a safe conjecture the White House and Foley will see to it that the one-quarter billion dollars is spent. None of it will be left to revert to the Treasury—despite the righteous lectures about the danger of inflation and the need for restraint and economy.

This is a crucial election year, and EDA's millions have an irresistible porkbarrel lure.

Strongly indicating that is the partisan manner in which EDA is operating.

REPUBLICANS ARE bluntly being excluded. Their attempts to find out what EDA is doing and how have run into an impenetrable wall of secrecy. Not even members of the congressional committees that handled the EDA legislation and are charged with overseeing it have been able to penetrate this bureaucratic barrier.

Graphically illustrative is the experience of Representative William Cramer, Fla., ranking Republican on the House Public Works Committee. He and GOP staff members have repeatedly been rebuffed.

Cramer sent a scorching letter to Commerce Secretary John Connor protesting this partisan blackout.

"Repeated requests for information have been summarily refused," Cramer wrote, "apparently as part of a calculated effort to deprive members of Congress and members of the staff of House committees of learning what is going on."

CONNOR HAS yet to answer, and there is no indication when and if he will.

"We haven't asked for confidential information," explains Cramer. "All we have sought is the usual data needed by a congressional committee, such as ours."

Pleasant Little Creek Angers Troll, Who Turns It Into Gutter

Once upon a time, long ago, in a country not so very far from here, there was a pleasant little valley with a pleasant little creek running through it.

Big, strong oaks grew along the banks of the creek and when people came to the land, they built their homes beneath the friendly shade.

On a warm summer night, the people could open their windows and hear the creek gurgling pleasantly.

IF IT WERE not for the winter, life along the creek would have been perfect. In the winter, storms came and the pleasant little creek turned into a big, big creek full of muddy water, spilling into low areas, causing floods and being very naughty.

Some of those who had built their houses on low land were driven away, but they always seemed to return when the storms were over.

In fact, over the years, most of the residents grew philosophical about the flooding.

"Into each life some rain must fall," they said. That probably explains how that saying originated.

But there were a few who could not tolerate the floods, and one of them was the troll.

AS ANY CHILD can tell you, every pleasant little creek has a troll.

This troll grew angrier and angrier with each passing winter. The flood waters repeatedly drove him from his home beneath the bridge.

I forgot to mention that the creek had a bridge. Sorry.

The troll, who by the way was very militant, decided one day that he was going to tame the creek. He put his helpers to work drawing plans.

"Ho, Ho, Ho," said the troll rubbing his hands together. "We are going to tame this little creek."

"Good," said the residents of the valley. You see, by now most of them were tired of hearing people say, "Into each life some rain must fall."

However, they did not look at the troll's plans at all. For most of them, it was the first time they had ever looked at the troll.

"GO AHEAD and tame the pleasant little creek," they said.

After the troll started to work, many of them wished they had not said that. Some had to move away and never come back just to make room for the project.

When the troll finished his work, everyone wished they had kept their mouths shut. A mistake had been made, but, of course, it was too late to do anything about it.

"Ho, Ho, Ho," said the troll.

He had made the creek disappear. In its place was a big concrete gutter. The water no longer gurgled pleasantly. Instead it slithered down the gutter like a snake on its belly with no sound at all.

"Ho, Ho, Ho," said the troll. But nobody else laughed.

Moral: As any child can tell you, every pleasant little creek has a troll.

Let's Try Testing Government Officials On Viet Nam Conflict

WASHINGTON — The recent test given to college students by Selective Service officials to help decide whether they would be deferred or not has been up for some criticism. As one college student put it, "What they're going to wind up with is a dumb army."

I'm not against giving college students tests to see if they go to Viet Nam or not, but I think it's only fair that we give tests to people who are responsible for our Viet Nam policy, including all State Department, Defense, and White House officials.

HERE ARE SOME of the questions that could be included in the tests:

1. Name one (just one) South Vietnamese official whom we could support to head up a South Viet Nam government.

2. Explain in a short essay what the Buddhists want in South Viet Nam.

3. Explain in a short essay what the Catholics want in South Viet Nam.

4. Describe in detail how there can be free elections in South Viet Nam under the present government.

5. If you can't get the South Vietnamese military to talk to the Buddhists and you can't get the Buddhists to talk to the Catholics and you can't get the Catholics to talk to Ambassador Lodge, how can you get the North Vietnamese to talk to the Americans?

6. If the South Vietnamese troops in the south are used to protect Gen. Ky in Saigon and the South Vietnamese troops in the north are used to protect Gen. Dihn in Da Nang, what troops will be left to fight the Viet Cong in the countryside?

ANSWER TRUE or false:

a. The State Department has no idea of what is going on in South Viet Nam.

b. Secretary of Defense Robert McNamara, by nature, is an optimist.

c. The CIA knows more about what is happening in Hanoi than what is happening in Saigon.

d. President Johnson would like to buy back his introduction to Gen. Ky.

e. Buddhists in South Viet Nam are anti-Communists.

f. Buddhists in South Viet Nam are anti-American.

g. It would be much better if South Viet Nam were made up of Moslems.

h. Dean Rusk is looking forward to his next appearance in front of Sen. Fullbright's Foreign Relations Committee.

THE FOLLOWING are choice questions. Select just one.

1. If it takes 500 B-52 bombers 3,000 tons of bombs to shut down one road from North Viet Nam, it will take the Viet Cong how long to open that road? (a) One week. (b) Five days. (c) 24 hours. (d) They bombed the wrong road.

Education, Communism Charges Fly In Primary Race Campaigns

By ASSOCIATD PRESS

Education and communism, two guaranteed attention-getters in California politics, made for harsh words over the weekend between Republicans and Democrats.

The recent State Senate Subcommittee on Un-American Activities report alleging fondness by homosexuals and Communists for the state university continued to stir hot debate.

So did a demand by a legislator that the State Board of Education be investigated for allegedly taking a soft line on teaching applicants who might have Red backgrounds.

The lawmaker is Sen. John G. Schmitz, R-Tustin, the only admitted member of the John Birch Society in the legislature. He quietly put in a resolution last week asking that the Un-American committee investigate the State Board of Education.

Schmitz contended the board has told the Education Department's Credentials Committee not to probe possible subversive backgrounds of teaching applicants.

The board president is Thomas W. Braden, who is running for the Democratic nomination for lieutenant governor. He retorted that a John Birch attack didn't surprise him, and called it "a last-minute campaign smear."

He said prospective teachers must take two loyalty oaths, and that the credentials group has full power to probe their background if it receives derogatory reports.

Braden said he is concerned "that this campaign for lieutenant governor should end in a smear against 200,000 California teachers . . ."

The same report sparked strong words Sunday as Gov. Brown attacked GOP gubernatorial hopeful Ronald Reagan's rejected demand that the Burns committee investigate the university in public hearings.

Reagan frowned on having a UC regents committee do the investigating.

Negro GOP Group Fails To Endorse

SANTA MONICA (AP)—The California unit of the National Negro Republican Assembly met this weekend but failed to endorse a gubernatorial candidate for the GOP nomination.

None of the four candidates attracted the necessary two-thirds majority vote required for an endorsement.

George Christopher received 37 votes; Ronald Reagan, 20; Warren M. Dorn, 15; and William Penn Patrick, 10. Only Patrick attended the meeting.

Reagan angrily walked out of an earlier meeting of the group contending Christopher and Patrick had implied he was a bigot.

But the group did endorse lawyer Robert Finch of Los Angeles for the lieutenant governor nomination; Assemblyman Houston I. Flournoy, R-Claremont, for state controller; and Spencer Williams, Santa Clara County counsel for attorney general.

Unruh Would Lower Voting Age To 18

SACRAMENTO (CNS) — Assembly Speaker Jesse M. Unruh, D-Inglewood, said he will push actively next year for a lowering of the voting age in California to 18 years.

Speaking at the University of Washington, in Seattle, Unruh said the average age of the population is growing younger each year and the younger people will change the complexion of government and politics profoundly. As the younger age groups increase, the time will come when presently eligible voters — those over 21 — will be but a minority of the people.

WE SEW SEATS

Car seats. With split seams.

For example . . . the little VW is a mighty fine car. It's put together by strong mechanics. They have contests to see who can tighten the bolts best. They never come apart.

Except at the seams. We sew them up. With dacron thread. And they never come apart!

(Sam, incidentally, pioneered the use of dacron thread in the automotive field in Marin. Just one of our many firsts.)

We sew seams for Fords, Chevs. and Plymouths, TRs, MGAs, and Alfas. And many more, too.

We also install seat covers, auto glass and convertible tops, carpets, headrests and armrests. And many more.

Stop in today and show us your seam problem. Or seat cover problem. Or glass breakage.

We'll be happy to see you!
